CONSTANT IRRITATION — Histoplasmosis, better known simply as Histo, is less known as a respiratory illness but is common to rural areas especially in the vicinity of poultry farms. It is a lung disease emanating from fungus-bearing dust which stems from spores living in such things as old chicken houses, barns, belfries, pigeon lofts and caves. Poultry manure accumulations from Ulster County's 1¼ million birds are source of constant irritation to persons living in the vicinity of poultry establishments.

POLLUTION: A Danger Here?

By LYNN MULVANEY
Fourth of 5 Articles

Is the health of Ulster County residents in danger because of air pollution?

Yes, if anyone living here already suffers from hay fever, chronic bronchitis, asthma, emphysema or the host of other dust related ailments.

Health agencies claim however that the evidence at this moment is inadequate to prove that contaminated air causes or helps cause human disease.

But, there is a prevailing opinion among students of the problem that a relationship does exist. For instance medical doctors in Vienna, West Virginia, whose city has pollution controls, testified that three times as much cancer exists in contaminated areas.

Mass Murder

Perhaps the most dramatic proof is in the documentation of London's 1952 air-caused annihilation in which between 4,000 and 5,000 persons succumbed to two weeks of dirty fog.

Again in Donora, Pa., a smaller but similar occurance took place in 1948, when 20 persons lost their lives. Ten years later, death and sickness rates in Donora were much higher for people who had gotten sick from the fog than for those who hadn't.

Dr. Vernon Link, Ulster County Health Commissioner, thinks however that citing Donora and London as examples is not a valid criteria because they are extreme exceptions rather than the rule.

That there is no doubt air pollution can cause immediate physical discomfort, the watery-eyed victims of Los Angeles smog will testify. Heavy air pollution has been shown to bring on severe illness and even death among people already weakened with lung ailments. Statistics show a clear link between the air we breathe and impaired breathing.

Death, Havoc, Floods Left by Waning Beulah

The monster storm's main track stretched 160 miles into Texas from Brownsville, the coastal point where she first raged ashore Wednesday.

Lessens Force

Curving on a more westerly course as she advanced, Beulah finally dropped below minimum hurricane force—75 miles per hour— early today.

Floods boiled up along rivers and creeks faster than harried disaster relief officials could keep track of them.

The little city of Alice, 40 miles west of Corpus Christi was deluged by almost 7 inches of rain as Beulah's eye passed through. Other towns and cities in the vicinity recorded rains in two-digit figures, topped by 13.80 inches at Tuleta, 70 miles northeast of here.

A 13-day-old storm that began in the Atlantic, Beulah claimed 30 lives—six in Texas. Eighteen died in the Caribbean and the rest perished in Mexico's southern regions.

Flooding plagued the southern half of Texas and threatened to be a major problem for days. The rains showed no signs of abating as Gulf of Mexico tides swept headlong up river beds and collided with flood waters from Beulah's rains.

In an unprecedented move the State Department announced through Texas officials at Austin that the United States and Mexico had declared a disaster area along the border of the Rio Grande.

To Open Border

"The U.S. Immigration service is to open the international border and it is to remain open until further notice," a Texas spokesman said.

Brownsville's sister city of Matamoros, Mexico, sustained heavy damage from Beulah, as did Reynosa, Mexico, just across the river from Edinburg Tex.

The Coast Guard was dispatching three amphibious airplanes from Corpus Christi today to survey damage in the storm's main track.

Film Producer Shot

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP) — A prominent Canadian film producer was shot to death Wednesday as he and a four-man production crew filmed scenes of poverty in this mountainous eastern Kentucky area.

Hugh O'Connor died soon after being hit with a .38-caliber slug in his chest. Hobart Ison, 69, of the Jeremiah community, was charged with murder. A hearing was set for this afternoon.

The 46-year-old Montreal native was on leave from the Canadian National Film Board to produce a film on "All Walks of Life in the United States" for Francis Thompson, Inc., a New York City firm that specializes in educational documentaries.

Ison owns a cluster of houses at a coal mine camp about five miles north of here on Ky Route 7. It was this cluster of shacks that the crew was filming when O'Connor was shot to death.

The four members of O'Connor's crew told this story to state and county authorities: They stopped to take pictures of some people beside the road.

After 40 minutes of picture-taking, when they were winding up their session, a car drove up and a man whom they had never seen jumped out yelling, "Get off my property!"

As the crew was putting the equipment into their car across the road, the man fired a third shot, this time at the group, which struck O'Connor in the chest, killing him.

"We had never seen him before," said Theodore Holcomb, one of the crew members. "He didn't know who we were, I'm sure."

Holcomb said he and the other three crew members hadn't decided whether they would continue filming for the documentary.

$56,510 Rural Aid For Area

Ulster County's share in a Federal assistance allocation to rural landowners for conservation practices is $56,510.

A total grant of $298,490 for the five-county area of Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Schoharie and Ulster was announced today by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's office.

The money is available on a 50 per cent or more Federal cost-share basis for a variety of purposes including soil and water conservation, wildlife preservation, pond construction, permanent vegetative covering beautification and reforestation.

Information may be obtained by contacting the Ulster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office at 54 John Street, this city. Donald Weaver, manager of the local office, said today an average of 400 Ulster farmers participate in the program which has been underway for the past 25 years.

As Ulster County has changed from a predominantly farm county to more populated industrialization, participation has fallen off somewhat. Congressman Resnick urged interested rural land owners to "carry out one or more of the permitted practices on their property this fall."

Allocations in other counties are Columbia, $65,470; Dutchess, $66,460; Greene, $44,060 and Schoharie, $65,990.

Goldberg Puts It Up to North Vietnam

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg today asked North Vietnam for a definite and specific statement as to whether a halt of U.S. bombing would lead to meaningful negotiations without advantage to either side.

In a major policy speech before the 122-nation U.N. General Assembly, the chief U.S. delegate reaffirmed that the United States favors peace talks and is willing to negotiate at Geneva or elsewhere.

Appeals to All

He appealed to all U.N. members collectively and individually to aid in the search for peace. He also reaffirmed the U.S. belief that the United Nations has responsibilities under its charter to take a hand in the Vietnam problem.

Goldberg noted that Hanoi has indicated a cessation of this bombing "could" lead to negotiations but he said that Hanoi has not made a definite commitment nor has any of its allies "conveyed to us any authoritative message from Hanoi that there would in fact be negotiations if the bombing were stopped."

U.S. Willing

"We have sought such a message directly from Hanoi without success," he said. "On its part, the United States would be glad to consider and discuss promptly productive discussions that might bring peace to the area.,'

He then asked:

"Does North Vietnam conceive that the cessation of bombing would or should lead to any other results than meaningful negotiations or discussions under circumstances which would not disadvantage either side?"

Goldberg dealt with a wide range of world problems, including the Middle East, but his main stress was on Vietnam.

He asked North Vietnam's allies, presumably including the Soviet Union, "what would they do or refrain from doing, and how would they then use their influence and power" to bring peace if the United States halted the bombing of North Vietnam.

"Constructive answers to these questions would aid in the search for peace," he said.

Goldberg repeated that the United States does not seek a military solution to the Vietnam problem, but he noted that neither North Vietnam nor its adherents have yet agreed to the objective of a political settlement through negotiations.

He expressed hope that Hanoi would agree, but he declared:

"In any event there will be no slackening of our resolve to help South Vietnam defend its right to determine its own future by peaceful means and free from external force."

Turning to the Middle East, Goldberg appealed for flexibility on the part of all on the method of bringing peace to the area. No appropriate method, including good offices or mediation, should be excluded, he declared.

Five Youths Face Car Theft Charges

Highlighting Wednesday's police work was the arrest of two teenagers, accused of joyriding in unauthorized autos, and the extradition from South Carolina of three youths who face grand larceny charges.

Two 16-year-old boys, charged with unauthorized use of a vehicle, appeared in City Court this morning and had their case adjourned until Friday.

The boys, David Coddington of 17 Abbey Street and Kenneth Everett of 78 South Field Street, Town of Ulster, were arrested by Kingston police Wednesday night. Police said Everett was operating the missing auto at the time of his apprehension.

Coddington was later taken into custody at his home, detectives told The Freeman. He ran from the scene when Everett was pulled to the side of Amsterdam Avenue by a patrol car, officers disclosed.

According to police, the duo is accused of taking a late model auto from the rear of Montgomery Ward and then abandoning it on Fair Street. Police said they later took another vehicle from Art's Esso, 324 Clinton Avenue.

In other action, three youths were returned to Kingston Wednesday to face charges of grand larceny. The trio is accused of stealing an auto Sept. 10, and driving it to South Carolina where the Federal Bureau of Investigation arrested them on federal charges.

Police said two of the three are escapees from the Auburn Start Center, a detention home near Auburn.

Brought here yesterday from South Carolina by Kingston detectives were John Miller, 16, of 66 West Union Street; Albert Barnhardt, 17, of 21 Ravine Street; and Gary Law, 17, of 265 Patrice Terrace, Williamsville. The latter two are the escapees, police revealed.

City detectives noted that Law and Barnhardt were arraigned before Town of Kingston Police Justice Robert Ferrigan. Miller appeared in City Court today and had his case adjourned until Friday. He said he needed a lawyer.

What in the World!

Seeks Pollution Prosecution

NEW YORK (AP)—City Council President Frank O'Connor called today for a special unit in the U.S. attorney general's office to prosecute pollution offenders.

"The fines we levy on industrial polluters in this country are nothing more than licenses to pollute," said O'Connor.

Sunken Treasure Recovered

LONDON (AP)—Divers have found a sunken blanket of gold and silver coins believed to be part of a $2.8-million treasure that disappeared into the Atlantic's grayness with three ships of Admiral Sir Clowdisley Shovell's Mediterranean fleet in 1707.

A private expedition, supported by a Royal Navy unit, hauled up 1,500 gold and silver guineas, crowns and pieces of eight Wednesday from about 100 feet of water off the Scilly Islands.

Israeli-Egyptian Fighting

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israeli and Egyptian tank and artillery units battled across the Suez Canal for the second straight day today and four Israelis were killed and six wounded in the fighting, an army spokesman said.

The skirmish at El Qantara in the canal's northern sector brought the heaviest Israeli casualties since a fierce cross-canal exchange July 14 that left seven Israelis dead and 22 wounded.

New York Teachers Strike Ends; Agree on $135.4 Million Package

NEW YORK (AP) — Tentative agreement on a reported $135.4-million wage package has apparently ended the teachers' strike that kept many of New York City's 1.1 million public school pupils out of class for eight days.

Both school officials and union leaders said after the agreement was reached Wednesday, they hoped normal operations in the nation's largest school system could begin on Monday.

A spokesman for the striking AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers local said picket lines would continue until the full membership ratified the contract. A mass meeting for the purpose is expected Sunday.

The Board of Education asked pupils to stay home today.

The walkout began Sept. 11, the start of the fall term, in defiance of a no-strike order from the State Supreme Court.

The three top union leaders were due in court today for an oft-delayed trial on criminal contempt charges.

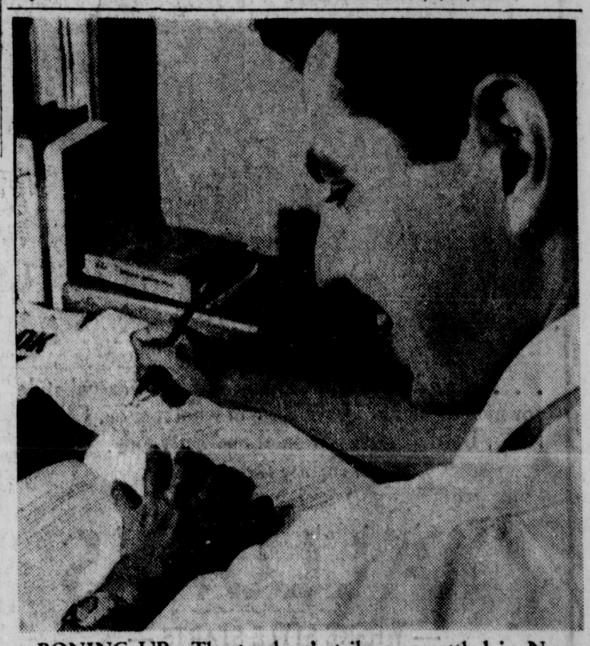
Details of the proposed contract were not made public. Albert Shanker, president of the 49,000-member UFT, said the specifics were being withheld because "it would not be conducive to ratification."

However, the package was reported to provide $135.4 million in salary increases and other benefits over a 26-month period from last July 1 to Sept. 10, 1969. The union had turned down a two-year $125-million offer.

At the outset of negotiations the UFT sought an annual wage scale for teachers of $7,500 to $18,000 to replace the old scale of $5,400 to $11,950. The $125-million package, recommended by a three-man mediation panel, was scaled from $6,600 to $13,600.

Other issues in the strike included union demands for a reduction in class size, more preparation time for teachers and greater freedom for teachers in dealing with disruptive pupils in classes.

The latter issue aroused considerable resentment among some Negro and Puerto Rican groups which felt it was aimed primarily at youngsters in slum schools. It was not immediately known how the issue was resolved.



BONING UP—The teachers' strike was settled in New York, and now it is the teachers' turn to get back to the books. Albert Auster, a history teacher at Christopher Columbus High School in the Bronx, works on his teaching schedule after reading the good news. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

By HUGH D. REYNOLDS

Despite the senseless destruction of four young trees on Main Street this weekend, members of the Mayor's Beautification Committee are forging ahead with a program which could see over 3,000 trees planted in Kingston in the next 20 years.

The committee, chaired by Fred J. Johnston of Main Street, plans to plant 60 trees next month. The committee works in conjunction with the Ulster County Garden Club and the Little Garden Club of Kingston, along with interested citizens.

Johnston said he is appalled but undaunted by the weekend vandalism. Nor is this the first time vandals have ruined trees in Kingston. Johnston said a tree in front of Davenport's at 48 Main Street was destroyed just a few weeks ago.

Appointed in May

The committee appointed by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan in May consists of Johnston, Mrs. Alexander Carle, head of the Ulster Garden Club Planning Committee; Herbert Cutler, a landscape architect; Miss Jane Austen, of the Little Gardens Club; Charles Cole, city superintendent of the board of public works; and Harry M. Thayer, president of Radio Station WGHQ.

Along with Mayor Garraghan's committee came a city appropriation of $2,000 for the planting of trees in Kingston. Johnston points out, however, that the beautification program is supported primarily through the work of such agencies as the Garden Clubs, along with contributions from private organizations. The Ulster County Garden Club, in particular, has raised almost $5,000 for beautification purposes in Kingston in the past two years.

Although the city gave $2,000 for the beautification program, it costs $800 of that amount to dig holes for the trees. The trees cost $42 each.

Not Ordinary Trees

However, these are not ordinary trees. They are chosen for their hardiness and ability to withstand the rigors of city life.

Living in a city can be pretty tough on a tree. The atmosphere is loaded from noxious gasses such as carbon monoxide from trucks, cars, and buses. Another deadly enemy of trees are the various salts and solutions used in the removal of snow. Maple, considered one of the most beautiful trees, is most susceptible to salt poisoning. Therefore, maple trees are seldom considered in a tree-planting program on city streets.

Trees From China

The four trees that were destroyed on Main Street this past weekend were of the Gingko variety. The Chinese tree has an outstanding record of survival in cities. Of course, few young trees can survive strong-armed youths bent on destruction.

Other species high on the "tough tree" list are the locust, the thornless locust and the plane tree. These are the type which will be planted next month.

Another tree will be making a large-scale return to Kingston: the pin oak. This particular tree was popular in Kingston in the 18th century. Many of them will be planted next month in the Crown Street Triangle, from Main Street to North Front Street.

List Planting Sites

Other areas where trees are to be planted next month include the Gov. Clinton block from Clinton Avenue to the First Baptist Church; on Main Street between Fair and Green Streets; on St. James Street to Maiden Lane on Broadway and the Broadway Underpass area from Cedar Street to Pine Grove Avenue.

No Favoritism

Johnston emphasized that next month's tree planting is just the beginning. "In time, he said, "every street in Kingston will have trees. We're not going to show any favoritism."

"In fact," Johnston continued, "anyone in Kingston can have a tree planted in front of his home for $42." When asked if the resident would have any choice of tree in front of his house, Johnston said, "Yes and no. We're not going to plant the type of tree that will die in two years from exposure to city life. But there are several very attractive types a home owner may choose from."

Planting Essential

Johnston said the tree planting program is most essential to maintaining Kingston as one of the most beautiful cities in the Hudson Valley. "Trees are not just going to spring up from the sidewalk. They've got to be planted and cared for," Johnston said.

He pointed out that some areas of the city are now barren because of neglect of the trees and natural disasters such as the Dutch Elm disease. An example was the Elm trees in front of the Gov. Clinton Hotel and City Hall, which are slowly dying.

As an example of how trees can enhance the appearance of a city, Johnston pointed out the area at the top of Broadway where Albany Avenue begins. "It's pretty barren and gaudy around that area but when one swings into Albany Avenue its like entering a totally new environment with those beautiful shade trees lining the avenue."

"Kingston is a beautiful city and it is our goal to keep it a beautiful city," Johnston con-

Protest Mini Ban

CHICAGO (AP) — Female public aid employes—armed with signs saying "worry about mini staffs, not miniskirts"—marched in front of the Cook County Department of Public Aid office Wednesday.

The 15 women, all in their 20s and conservatively dressed, were protesting against the miniskirt ban issued recently by William Robinson, public aid director. They charged that he should be concerned with the shortage of workers, not short dresses.

1,000 Homes Collapse

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — Forty-eight hours of heavy rains has collapsed 1,000 homes in the Hindu holy city of Bihar, killing 5 persons and injuring 60 others, official dispatches said Wednesday. They added the rains have caused flooding in Gaya and the state capital of Putna, washing 10,000 acres of crops.

Explains Opposing Views To Blaine Amendment

"When parochial school children are denied the use of a swimming pool on public school grounds during a summer program; when a church oriented youth group cannot hold a county-wide track meet on a public school field; when a church women's group cannot hire a public school auditorium to give a Christmas party which is admission-free and open to all the community; and when the Blaine Amendment is cited as the reason for the refusals, then the Blaine Amendment is unfair and discriminatory." So spoke Mrs. Charles Johnson to the first meeting of the season for St. Mary's Rosary Society.

Presiding over the meeting was Mrs. Edward Altenau, organization president, who introduced the Mrs. Thomas Tynan, vice president; Mrs. Albert Curl, secretary; and Mrs. Frank Caffrey, treasurer. The speaker, a member of the parish who is coordinating activities to inform the public on the constitutional amendment, was introduced by Mrs. John Smith, program chairman.

In other business, Mrs. William Casal was named to head the babysitting during ten o'clock Mass on Sunday, Mrs. John Laird to the Library committee, Mrs. Karl Pietkiewicz for the special gifts and Mrs. Arthur DeCelle to take charge of the bulletin. Also, Mrs. Frank Naccarato will be sunshine chairman, Mrs. John Keeley and Mrs. Fred Seither will head the refreshment committee, and Mrs. Tynan will keep the group's scrapbook, while Mrs. Harold Wilsey does publicity.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Richard Connor, Mrs. William Ashmore and Mrs. Arthur VanBenschoten for their work on the cake booth during this summer's bazaar. Mrs. Keeley, as general chairman for merchandise, was commended by the president. Mrs. Richard Buono and Mrs. John Corley were received as new members.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Rovert Bannen, Mrs. Lawrence Cahill, Mrs. DeCelle and Mrs. Pietkiewicz. Mrs. Altenau invites all parish women to the next meeting, October 5, at eight o'clock in the school cafeteria. The program that evening will discuss the promises made by Our Lady of Fatima.

Lutheran Women Slate Speaker, Father Fleming

Services and activities at Atonement Lutheran Church, Market Street, Saugerties, were announced this week by the Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor.

Worship services 8 and 11 a. m., with nursery care during the 11 a. m. service. Sunday school 9:30 a. m. and adult class.

Plans were presented to the council to designate October as Loyalty Month. This will begin with the observance of World Wide Communion Sunday, Oct. 1. Councilmen will present the needs and the program of the church for 1968 in five minute talks at the services on the four remaining Sundays. Presentations will be made on October 8 by Erwin Tate, Blue Hills Drive, president of the council; October 15 by Harry Anders, Barclay Street, vice president; Thomas Seaman, Simmons Drive, financial secretary. Registration will be held each Sunday of those attending the service and phone calls made to those not in attendance.

A cherub choir, for ages five to seven, will be organized and begin to rehearse on Friday under the direction of Mrs. Lloyd Mellander from 6:30 to 7:15 p. m. Also a junior choir for ages 8 to 13 will be organized and rehearse on Friday following the cherub choir from 7:15 to 8:15 p. m. Parents are asked to attend the first session with the children.

Sunday at 9 and 12 noon, following the service there will be registration of the pupils for confirmation instruction. One parent should attend one of the services with the pupil so as to be on hand for the registration immediately following. Registration cards with vital statistics should be returned at this time, together with registration fee to cover cost of materials used. The classes will meet on Wednesdays of each week under the released time program, which releases pupils on Wednesdays at 1:30 p. m. Miss Naomi Nicklaus, of High Woods, Mrs. Alex Ishkanian of Village Drive, and Mrs. Walter Cowen, wife of the pastor will teach the junior pupils. The pastor will teach the senior class.

The fall clothing appeal will be conducted from now through November 16th, when it will be sorted and packed by members of the Lutheran Church Women of Atonement with an assist from men of the church. This year the stress is on layettes and children's and men's clothing and on blankets, and light quilts, which are sorely needed in hot climates for a pallet to lie upon over earthen floors or a covering for chilly nights.

St. John's Altar-Rosary Society Meets

A film on Expo 67 was featured at the buffet dinner meeting of the Altar Rosary Society of St. John's parish, Veteran, at which Msgr. John Reardon, pastor and society moderator, urged continued support of the church building fund.

New members and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Marion Benz, president. Plans were outlined for the coming season and the cancer pad project was resumed.

Mrs. Elfreda Geskie was elected secretary and Mrs. Betty Rafferty won the dark horse prize.

A guest speaker will be on the program of the October meeting, it was announced by program chairman Mrs. Alice Rusconi.

A farewell reception was given the parish summer assistant, the Rev. Joseph Penna, last Wednesday. The Altar Rosary Society provided refreshments.

Singapore has started a $30-million urban renewal program, scheduled for completion by 1970. The project will include the razing and rebuilding of 1,700 acres in the heart of Singapore City.

1,200 Attended GOP Picnic At Cantine Field

More than 1,200 persons took advantage of ideal weather and attended Saugerties Republican Club picnic at Cantine Field on Sunday.

Among the dignitaries attending was Republican Assemblyman Joseph Fusco who was also the guest speaker.

Judge John Sterley, county GOP chairman, led the county contingent which included County Judge Ray Mino; Treasurer Fred DuBois and District Attorney Joseph Torraca.

The Saugerties Republican slate was present and each was introduced and spoke briefly. Republican candidates present included Peter Williams, supervisor; Marion Newkirk, town clerk; William Brown, superintendent of highways; all incumbent candidates seeking reelection. Seeking posts on the Town Board and also in attendance were Bernard Rinaldi and George Turner for councilman and Michael Catalinotto, justice of the peace candidate.

Clifford Snyder, C. Freeman Lasher, William Brinnier, and Williams, GOP candidates for the newly formed County Legislature, also addressed the gathering.

George Mahoney served as master of ceremonies. Games and music provided the entertainment. The Musical Monarchs provided the music and The Sweet Adelines and a barbershop quartet added vocal presentations.

'LIGHTNING' STRIKES TWICE!

Israel's lightning campaign in the Middle East knocked out the massed Arab armies in six days and resulted, among other things, in the amazingly fast production of several books on the war.

Among the first of these, and actually first among the hardbacks, was The Associated Press volume called "Lightning Out of Israel."

Hardly had it reached the reviewers when lightning struck again—this time the unpredictable lightning of critical acclaim. Here are a few of the things the critics have been saying about it:

- Saturday Review: "In many ways the best of the (first three books published)."
- Quill: "History come alive in a book to read slowly and savor, for it combines the beauty of the photographer's art, the solemnity of the Bible, the clank of military armor."
- Jewish Telegraph Agency: "Beautifully written, lavishly illustrated."
- Miami Herald: "A piece of work that deserves to live beyond the moment."
- Charleston Post: "The reader will wonder how so much detail, so many facts, so many individual stories could be brought together and presented in such a short period of time."

By HUGH D. REYNOLDS

Despite the senseless destruction of four young trees on Main Street this weekend, members of the Mayor's Beautification Committee are forging ahead with a program which could see over 3,000 trees planted in Kingston in the next 20 years.

The committee, chaired by Fred J. Johnston of Main Street, plans to plant 60 trees next month. The committee works in conjunction with the Ulster County Garden Club and the Little Garden Club of Kingston, along with interested citizens.

Johnston said he is appalled but undaunted by the weekend vandalism. Nor is this the first time vandals have ruined trees in Kingston. Johnston said a tree in front of Davenport's at 48 Main Street was destroyed just a few weeks ago.

Appointed in May

The committee appointed by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan in May consists of Johnston, Mrs. Alexander Carle, head of the Ulster Garden Club Planning Committee; Herbert Cutler, a landscape architect; Miss Jane Austen, of the Little Gardens Club; Charles Cole, city superintendent of the board of public works; and Harry M. Thayer, president of Radio Station WGHQ.

Along with Mayor Garraghan's committee came a city appropriation of $2,000 for the planting of trees in Kingston. Johnston points out, however, that the beautification program is supported primarily through the work of such agencies as the Garden Clubs, along with contributions from private organizations. The Ulster County Garden Club, in particular, has raised almost $5,000 for beautification purposes in Kingston in the past two years.

Although the city gave $2,000 for the beautification program, it costs $800 of that amount to dig holes for the trees. The trees cost $42 each.

Not Ordinary Trees

However, these are not ordinary trees. They are chosen for their hardiness and ability to withstand the rigors of city life.

Living in a city can be pretty tough on a tree. The atmosphere is loaded from noxious gasses such as carbon monoxide from trucks, cars, and buses. Another deadly enemy of trees are the various salts and solutions used in the removal of snow. Maple, considered one of the most beautiful trees, is most susceptible to salt poisoning. Therefore, maple trees are seldom considered in a tree-planting program on city streets.

Other species high on the "tough tree" list are the locust, the thornless locust and the plane tree. These are the type which will be planted next month.

Another tree will be making a large-scale return to Kingston: the pin oak. This particular tree was popular in Kingston in the 18th century. Many of them will be planted next month in the Crown Street Triangle, from Main Street to North Front Street.

List Planting Sites

Other areas where trees are to be planted next month include the Gov. Clinton block from Clinton Avenue to the First Baptist Church; on Main Street between Fair and Green Streets; on St. James Street to Maiden Lane on Broadway and the Broadway Underpass area from Cedar Street to Pine Grove Avenue.

No Favoritism

Johnston emphasized that next month's tree planting is just the beginning. "In time, he said, "every street in Kingston will have trees. We're not going to show any favoritism."

"In fact," Johnston continued, "anyone in Kingston can have a tree planted in front of his home for $42." When asked if the resident would have any choice of tree in front of his house, Johnston said, "Yes and no. We're not going to plant the type of tree that will die in two years from exposure to city life. But there are several very attractive types a home owner may choose from."

One parent should attend one of the services with the pupil so as to be on hand for the registration immediately following. Registration cards with vital statistics should be returned at this time, together with registration fee to cover cost of materials used. The classes will meet on Wednesdays of each week under the released time program, which releases pupils on Wednesdays at 1:30 p. m. Miss Naomi Nicklaus, of High Woods, Mrs. Alex Ishkanian of Village Drive, and Mrs. Walter Cowen, wife of the pastor will teach the junior pupils. The pastor will teach the senior class.

The fall clothing appeal will be conducted from now through November 16th, when it will be sorted and packed by members of the Lutheran Church Women of Atonement with an assist from men of the church. This year the stress is on layettes and children's and men's clothing and on blankets, and light quilts, which are sorely needed in hot climates for a pallet to lie upon over earthen floors or a covering for chilly nights.

St. John's Altar-Rosary Society Meets

A film on Expo 67 was featured at the buffet dinner meeting of the Altar Rosary Society of St. John's parish, Veteran, at which Msgr. John Reardon, pastor and society moderator, urged continued support of the church building fund.

New members and guests were welcomed by Mrs. Marion Benz, president. Plans were outlined for the coming season and the cancer pad project was resumed.

Mrs. Elfreda Geskie was elected secretary and Mrs. Betty Rafferty won the dark horse prize.

A guest speaker will be on the program of the October meeting, it was announced by program chairman Mrs. Alice Rusconi.

A farewell reception was given the parish summer assistant, the Rev. Joseph Penna, last Wednesday. The Altar Rosary Society provided refreshments.

Singapore has started a $30-million urban renewal program, scheduled for completion by 1970. The project will include the razing and rebuilding of 1,700 acres in the heart of Singapore City.

1,200 Attended GOP Picnic At Cantine Field

More than 1,200 persons took advantage of ideal weather and attended Saugerties Republican Club picnic at Cantine Field on Sunday.

Among the dignitaries attending was Republican Assemblyman Joseph Fusco who was also the guest speaker.

Judge John Sterley, county GOP chairman, led the county contingent which included County Judge Ray Mino; Treasurer Fred DuBois and District Attorney Joseph Torraca.

The Saugerties Republican slate was present and each was introduced and spoke briefly. Republican candidates present included Peter Williams, supervisor; Marion Newkirk, town clerk; William Brown, superintendent of highways; all incumbent candidates seeking reelection. Seeking posts on the Town Board and also in attendance were Bernard Rinaldi and George Turner for councilman and Michael Catalinotto, justice of the peace candidate.

Clifford Snyder, C. Freeman Lasher, William Brinnier, and Williams, GOP candidates for the newly formed County Legislature, also addressed the gathering.

George Mahoney served as master of ceremonies. Games and music provided the entertainment. The Musical Monarchs provided the music and The Sweet Adelines and a barbershop quartet added vocal presentations.

'LIGHTNING' STRIKES TWICE!

Israel's lightning campaign in the Middle East knocked out the massed Arab armies in six days and resulted, among other things, in the amazingly fast production of several books on the war.

Among the first of these, and actually first among the hardbacks, was The Associated Press volume called "Lightning Out of Israel."

Hardly had it reached the reviewers when lightning struck again—this time the unpredictable lightning of critical acclaim. Here are a few of the things the critics have been saying about it:

- Saturday Review: "In many ways the best of the (first three books published)."
- Quill: "History come alive in a book to read slowly and savor, for it combines the beauty of the photographer's art, the solemnity of the Bible, the clank of military armor."
- Jewish Telegraph Agency: "Beautifully written, lavishly illustrated."
- Miami Herald: "A piece of work that deserves to live beyond the moment."
- Charleston Post: "The reader will wonder how so much detail, so many facts, so many individual stories could be brought together and presented in such a short period of time."

DMZ Area Gun Battle Rages

U.S. Combat Deaths Down, Wounded Up

SAIGON (AP) — Continued North Vietnamese shellings across South Vietnam's northern border killed six more Marines and wounded 41, and U.S. forces went after the Red gunners with B52s, Marine fighters and big Navy guns today.

Thai Regiment Arrives

While the battle of artillery, mortars and bombs raged around the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien, just below the Demilitarized Zone, men of the Queen's Cobra Regiment of Thailand began arriving to fight around the Saigon area.

The U.S. Command also announced last week's casualties—236 Americans killed, mostly in the war of attrition along the DMZ. Communist losses were put at 1,774 killed. The South Vietnamese said they lost 215 dead.

The number of U.S. combat deaths last week dropped lightly, but the wounded toll rose sharply.

Last week's figures compared to 242 dead, 1,490 wounded and 7 missing for the previous week ending Sept. 9.

Eight-engine B52 bombers went back for two predawn raids near Con Thien today after they and jungle-skimming fighter-bombers tried to pinpoint the Communist firing positions and destroy them Wednesday.

Weather Hides Enemy

Foul weather hid the enemy, who opened up with another barrage, hitting the Marine positions with more than 300 rounds of artillery, mortar and rocket fire in the last 24 hours.

Some of it came from Soviet-built 152mm guns as far as 15 miles away.

The B52 attacks today were aimed at suspected Communist troop concentrations, rocket positions, bunkers and trench networks with 2.5 miles of Con Thien, both to the west and to the north in the DMZ. The B52s have hit the DMZ 67 times since mid-August.

They were joined today by Marine fighter-bombers, which flew 20 missions, and the U.S. destroyer Morton, firing from the coast.

In Saigon, the first 1,200 of 2,500 troops sent by Thailand arrived and moved to a base 20 miles east of Saigon to fight guerrillas while shielding South Vietnamese pacification teams.

South Vietnam now has six nations aiding it with ground troops—the United States, Thailand, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines.

Big Engagements Lacking

The casualty figures of 236 U.S. dead and 1,774 wounded were about average for the last six months. They indicated the two-month summer lull in ground fighting is over, although big engagements were lacking.

Aside from the artillery dueling across the border, ground action included scattered Communist mortar attacks—usually aimed at isolated outposts—and a mortar barrage of 60 rounds at an artillery and mortar base of the 9th U.S.Infantry Division in the Ho Bo Woods about 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

Three Americans were wounded, a number of South Vietnamese troops were hit and some short rounds fell into a nearby village, killing two civilians and wounding 10.

The foul weather which hampered the attack on Red guns near the border, a forerunner of the northeast monsoon season due in two or three weeks, limited the air war on North Vietnam to 91 missions Wednesday. All were in the southern panhandle between Hanoi and the border.

No Bunker Reply

In South Vietnamese politics, the U.S. Embassy in Saigon has received a letter from four defeated South Vietnamese presidential candidates demanding that "the U.S. government stop intervening in Vietnamese internal affairs."

Lawyer Truong Dinh Dzu, who ran second in the election, Assembly Chairman Phan Khac Suu, who ran third, and also-rans Nguyen, Hoa Hiep and Vu Hong Khanh signed the letter to Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. Bunker did not comment immediately.

The letter claimed that the United States had intervened "with the aim of legitimizing the rigged and undemocratic Sept. 3 election. It apparently referred to the 22 election observers sent by President Johnson and to statements by Bunker that the election was run "fairly and freely."

Two Dutchess Children Hurt

Two children were injured Wednesday afternoon in unrelated automobile accidents investigated by Rhinebeck State Police.

Sergeant William Anagnos reported Matthew Rifenburg, 5, of Thompson Street, Red Hook, was injured at 4:05 p. m. when he reportedly darted behind a parked car on Route 9 in Red Hook village and was hit by a northbound car.

The vehicle was operated by Ingeborg Pulver, 22, of Barrytown. The child was taken to Northern Dutchess Hospital and treated for lacerations of the lips and abrasions of the face and head.

At 4:55 p. m., Daryl McClusky, 10, of Rhinebeck, was injured when hit by a car as she was playing on Route 308, Town of Rhinebeck. She was taken to Northern Dutchess Hospital and treated for abrasions of the left knee.

Sgt. Anagnos said the car was operated by Margaret Chikotas, 25, of Rhinecliff, who was traveling east on the highway when the child reportedly ran into the path of her car and was hit by the vehicle.

Scott Speaker At Safety Meet

Joseph E. Scott of Kingston, president of the Ulster County Safety Council, will be one of the speakers tonight at a dinner of the Safety Council of Greater Poughkeepsie 6 o'clock at the Poughkepsie Inn.

He will speak on the lower automobile insurance rates.

William R. Eckhof, executive director of the New York State Interdepartmental Traffic Safety Committee, will be a guest at the dinner and will speak at the Central Hudson Auditorium, South Road, Poughkeepsie, at 8 p. m.

Active Hose to Meet

Active Hose Company No. 1 has scheduled a special meeting Friday 8 p. m. in the fire hall, Main Street, Rosendale. Arrangements for participation in Kingston's Loyalty Day Parade will be discussed.

Gifts, Loans Votes Vowed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The president of the Constitutional Convention vowed today to produce enough Democratic votes to pass a measure that has touched off a new church-state dispute in which a handful of Democrats are frustrating the leadership goals.

"I don't know where I'll get 'em but I'll get 'em," Democrat Anthony J. Travia told The Associated Press. He needs 94 votes to accomplish that objective.

Defections Slow Drive

A scattering of liberal Democrats were balking in the adjournment - minded convention and withholding their support of a provision that would relax restrictions on gifts and loans of state funds.

The defections slowed what otherwise had been a relatively smooth drive for adjournment by next Tuesday.

The holdouts were based on fears that state aid might be pumped into construction of church-related schools.

The disputed proposal was the last major item for the proposed constitution that had not won at least preliminary approval from the convention.

While Travia's allies were patrolling for votes on the gifts-and-loans proposal Wednesday, the convention plowed through a lengthy list of amendments offered for a revised Bill of Rights.

The section contains guarantees of fair trial, protection of private property and restrictions on police use of electronic listening devices.

Final action on the crucial measure was expected today.

During a debate of more than 10 hours, delegates approved amendments that would:

—Require a public hearing in cases involving condemnation of property for government purposes, permit compensation to retail businesses for loss of "good will" value and allow suits for damages to property affected by the government's condemnation of other property.

— Require all government agencies in New York, including public authorities, to open their financial records for public inspection.

Other Proposals

— Require that defendants in criminal cases be permitted to inspect grand jury minutes if the district attorney refuses to permit an examination of charges.

In a negative mood, the delegates turned down requests for amendments to the Bill of Rights that would have prohibited wiretaps on phones of lawyers, doctors or clergymen and that would have barred pre-trial press coverage of all basic information in crime cases.

The gifts-and-loans provision, around which the Democratic controversy was turning, is part of a program to encourage "community development."

The idea is to enable the state to work more closely with private enterprise in refurbishing run-down city areas.

It would authorize the state to make grants or loans for projects in such fields as housing, education, industrial development, culture, transportation, health and social services and community renewal.

Patterns Men Explore Housing

New approaches to nonprofit sponsoring of low income housing are being explored by C. David Loeks, president of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress and the Rev. Frank Jones, a Pattern designer, at a two-day special seminar in New York City.

Fifth Meeting

The seminar, which is being held today and Friday is the fifth in a series of six such regional meetings sponsored by Urban America in cooperation with the Federal Housing Administration.

More than 400 business, professional and government leaders attended previous seminars in Fort Worth, Chicago, San Francisco and Atlanta. They are designed to acquaint potential nonprofit sponsors with the programs available to produce housing for lower income families.

Paul N. Ylvisaker, commissioner of the Department of Community Affairs for New Jersey, will speak on, "The Housing Gap — an Opportunity for Nonprofit Groups" at tonight's dinner meeting at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

"Pattern, of course, is dedicated to improving the quality of life here in the region," Loeks explained, "and developing ways to better the housing conditions of the economically disadvantaged is certainly an important element of our concern . . . and something to which we are giving very serious study and consideration."

Includes Seven Counties

Pattern is a nonprofit, nonpartisan citizen's regional planning, research and development corporation, specifically concerned with helping guide the orderly future development of the region's seven counties — Greene, Columbia, Ulster, Dutchess, Orange, Putnam and Sullivan.

The Rev. Mr. Jones, who was elected to Pattern's board of directors last May, is pastor of Newburgh's AME Zion Church; he is also a member of the Newburgh Community Action Committee, the local antipoverty agency, the Newburgh Human Relations Committee, and the local branch of the NAACP.

Urban America, the sponsoring group, is a national nonprofit organization dedicated to improving the quality of life in the nation's cities. Its headquarters is in Washington, D. C.

Parents Should Pay

Kingston area parents should pay for the damages caused by their offspring when the law catches up with these juvenile delinquents. When mother and dad let their children run wild and commit wanton acts of vandalism, they should be ordered to make restitution.

If parents exercised better control of their children and better discipline, we wouldn't have these destructive sprees in the community. Juveniles just can't go around destroying trees, damaging automobiles, cutting filling station pump hoses and other senseless vandalism.

Police have a duty to try to apprehend these vandals and we hope they succeed. When brought into court and found guilty, they should receive punishment which can have a sobering effect upon those tempted to commit such acts.

It would seem that from the amount of vandalism these days that some parents don't care how much property children destroy just as long as they are not caught and it doesn't cost them anything.

We are certain that if these parents knew they would have to pay the full costs of the malicious destruction they would take a real interest in the behavior of their children.

Home is the best place to start to reduce crime. Here is where the control must begin if we are ever to accomplish anything. Society has not yet found a complete substitute for parental supervision and authority.

Gun Control Law

Many big guns oppose national legislation and as a result no federal gun controls have been enacted since the 1930s.

Elsewhere on this page is a dispatch from Washington, reporting President Johnson ready to take a personal hand in prodding Congress for action. The bill has languished in congressional committees for more than three years.

The bill, which the President wants passed, would prohibit interstate mail order sales of all firearms, halt over-the-counter sales of firearms, other than rifles and shotguns, to any non-resident of a state in which the seller operates, and stop sales of handguns to anyone under 21 and sales of rifles and shotguns to any under 18. It also would curb the import of firearms into the United States.

We have consistently supported efforts for a new gun control law with emphasis on the curbing of traffic in mail-order guns and we now urge passage of this bill.

We have no doubt that the public supports gun control because of the increase in the crime rate due to large measure to the indiscriminate firearm sales. The problem lies in getting citizens to support this legislation as actively and vocally as opponents decry it.

Let's not leave all the prodding to the President. Some Congressmen will need pressure from constituents. We should let them know now that we demand gun control.

Add to the weekly death toll on the road of 1,000 lives the cost in dollars of $1 billion a month. It was $1.1 billion in July to bring the first seven-month figure to $6.9 billion, close to the new billion a month average. The price of traffic costs more and more.

Civil Service

The Brookings Institute, a prestigious research organization specializing in government and economics, recently called attention to the fact that the men who run city and state governments of the country are the senior civil service people hired during the depression 30s who are now retiring on account of their age.

These people were unusually talented because in the depression there was no opportunity in industry and commerce. The bright people took civil service examinations to find a chance for security and advancement, and they rose to the top on their ability. Changing conditions have not brought comparable talents to understudy them and when they go, the civil service in the cities and states will be the poorer.

As Brookings observed, "Most officials state that the long-service employes kept their programs going. They expressed worry and helplessness about what will happen when such employes leave." Civil service was not as attractive during the expanding economic years after the second World War. Second echelon men and women are not, normally speaking, able to carry on, on the same level.

Local government is now reaching out for college graduates who might make a career of government, and in time replace the talented depression men and women. Even the federal government has joind the act, with its summer interneships for interested college students

Terrifying Facts On Nuclear Strength

WASHINGTON — What may prove to be the most significant event of the year 1967 in world history is the ensuing effect of an official revelation just made which measures American and Soviet nuclear strength today and in the future. The comparison is contained in a carefully prepared speech delivered by Secretary of Defense McNamara on Monday in San Francisco to the editors and publishers of the United Press International.

The leaders of the Soviet Union will examine the address minutely, and so will the rulers of Red China. When they have digested its contents, they will realize that the United States does not intend to fall behind in the nuclear-arms race and that, while it is willing to apply limitations on further development, these can never be agreed upon and applied unless there is mutual trust and a readiness to allow constant inspection.

Mr. McNamara's positive statements about the capability of the United States and the Soviet Union to destroy each other are terrifying, particularly the observation that "if man is to have a future at all, it will have to be a future overshadowed with the permanent possibilty of thermonuclear holocaust."

The defense secretary, in explaining our "assured destruction capability," made it clear that the United States "must be able to absorb the total weight of nuclear attack on our country" and retaliate so effectively as to destroy the aggressor. He said deterrence of nuclear aggression means "the certainty of suicide to the aggressor — not merely to his military forces, but to his society as a whole."

Mr. McNamara defined "first-strike capability" as the subtantial elimination of a retaliatory strike by the nation that is attacked. He declared:

"The United States cannot—and will not—ever permit itself to get into the position in which another nation, or combination of nations, would possess such a first-strike capability, which could be effectively used against it . . .

"Now, we are not in that position today—and there is no foreseeable danger of our ever getting into that position."

The secretary of defense emphasized that the Soviet Union does not possess a "first-strike capability" against the United States and is not likely to acquire it "in the foreseeable future." The reason he gave for this is that the United States intends to remain fully alert and "will never permit our own assured destruction capability to be at a point where a Soviet first-strike capability is even remotely feasible."

But, at the same time, Mr. McNamara conceded that the United States does not possess a "first-strike capability" against the Soviet Union either. He declared that, once war starts, it will mean a devastating retaliation which no nation would wish to risk.

Lately there has been much talk about the failure of the United States to build an anti-ballistic-missile system to counter Russia's advance in that field. Mr. McNamara is willing to accede partially to the demands of those members of Congress and military men who have been arguing all along for such a system. But the secretary prefers to speak of it as a defense against Red China. He insists that the United States "must maintain substantial conventional forces," too, to protect its interests in other parts of the world.

Unquestionably President Johnson read the McNamara speech beforehand, and so did his advisers. The decision to make it presumably was based on the theory that it is better to bring all the facts out into the open now so that, as Mr. McNamara phrased it, the United States could "come to a realistic and reasonably riskless agreement with the Soviet Union, which would effectively prevent such an arms race."

Mr. McNamara declared that he doesn't mind seeing the government spend whatever money is necessary for the anti-ballistic-missile system, if a "significant improvement in our security" could be assured. He believes, however, that the Soviets will react "to offset the advantage we would hope to gain."

In as much as a "limited" development of anti-ballistic missiles is being advocated by the secretary of defense, it seems certain that this move will have an important effect on negotiations in Geneva for a general limitation of nuclear armaments.

Erosion of American Spirit

Radicals Rely on 'Big Lie'

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

Men who would use undemocratic means to "save democracy" inevitably must pollute the great streams of a nation's thought. It is happening here.

For a long time in this postwar era, the radical right was damned as the chief perverter of thought upon the great issues. It saw a Communist in every dissenter from its rigid cathechism. It elevated statements and charges into "proofs" of subversion. And it made "foreign plots" of the legitimate aspirations of upward struggling Negroes and others.

The radicals of the left have come near to pushing their rightist brethren off center as polluters of thought. In their convention at Chicago, they never flicked an eyelash when some of their number summed up the summer's urban turmoil by decrying "the destruction of our cities by business, the police, and the army." The real throwers of fire-bombs in Detroit, Newark, Milwaukee and elsewhere must have smiled at their release from the burden of guilt.

By the leftists' measure, government is the oppressor of the poor and the racially disadvantaged. By the rightists' gauge, it is the oppressor of nearly everyone else. Both charge government with the grossest of lies in its enforcement of oppression.

To say their thought is careless is to understate the matter vastly. Too often they do not try at all to make a case. They move by placard, by slogan, by a kind of mental bulldozing intended to sweep all before it.

Even as they assault the "establishment" for cynicism, falsehood, insensitivity and inaction, they fill the air with pompous, self-congratulatory rationalizations of their high-pitched emotionalism. The detractors degrade themselves as they talk.

It has always been said of American political life that it has been marred by the exaggerations of an exuberant, free-swinging, frontier-bred people. Sober appraisers have long counted upon the scholar and the student, in their academic-enclaves, to provide the major corrective even before the researches of history begin But today, admirable though their spirit may be, too many of these once-detached viewers have plunged into the arena, forsaking the rules of careful thought and helping to cloud the atmosphere with frenzies of propaganda.

Hence the government and business, and the other organized elements of U. S. society, get very little of the earnest, calm, well-founded criticism they need to curb their excesses and correct their errors. Instead, they find their excesses outmatched by clamoring critics who either see no need to deal in evidence or are quite content to manufacture it to support their emotional responses.

The once-cool refuge of the academic citadel is today too often a frantic staging ground for the launching of the double-talk which helps to befoul this country's flow of thought on the great public issues of the age.

In the name of democracy and the causes they say serve it, the polluters of thought on the right and the left, in the practical and the academic realms, forgive themselves ignorance, carelessness, irreverence for truth. In so doing, they slash a great scar upon the whole American society.

Nixon's Campaign Brain Trust

WASHINGTON — Former Vice President Nixon is doing a lot more to get the GOP nomination than the public knows about. He's quiet, methodical, efficient. And he's gained a lot of ground.

Nixon's forces recently held a "team meeting." It was held behind closed doors in Washington. Very little leaked out, but this column can now report what happened.

About 20 were expected, but about 40 went to the meeting. It was the first meeting presided over by Henry Bellmon, former Republican governor of Oklahoma, replacing Gaylord Parkinson as chairman of the Nixon forces. Parkinson, whose wife is seriously ill, has returned to California.

Bellmon dropped word that on April 1 he would announce his candidacy against Sen. Mike Monroney, who has long dominated Democratic politics in Oklahoma. Monroney has been a popular and competent Senator, but Bellmon seemed to feel that sentiment was swinging toward the Republicans in Oklahoma and that he could win.

John Sears, age 32 and Bellmon's assistant, gave a briefing on political polls, a survey of the press, and listed the press stooges for each of Nixon's Republican rivals.

Young Men for Old

Two members of the executive staffs of Newsweek and Time, and a radio network official said they were attending the Nixon meeting at the risk of their jobs; nevertheless they were out to defeat Johnson and elect Nixon.

1. Gov. Romney of Michigan has "swallowed himself."

2. Gov. Rockefeller of New York has been using Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois as a front. Percy has no chance.

3. Rockefeller has no chance to be nominated, even if he wanted to run. The Republican party simply will not take Rockefeller.

It was agreed that Nixon is the best debater and best qualified to attack Johnson on the credibility gap.

Biggest danger to Nixon, it was decided, is that in the early primaries, especially New Hampshire, supporters of Donald Reagan would write his name in just as Henry Cabot Lodge was a write-in candidate four years ago. This could take conservative votes away from Nixon, help Romney.

It was also agreed that a major danger to Nixon is the "he can't win" psychology based on the fact that he has been defeated for President and governor of California.

One important decision made at the meeting was that "old men" should stand aside—except for raising funds—and let young men run the Nixon show. To that end, David Sterling, age 27, was appointed manager of Nixon's campaign in the New Hampshire primary. Sterling, absolutely unknown in national politics, is a Yale Law School student from Hillsboro, N. H.

To show what the "old men" could still do, however, several of them pledged to raise around $25,000 each for Nixon's preliminary primary campaign expenses. Most of these pledges came from Californians, among them Maurice Stans, director of the budget under Eisenhower.

It was decided that Nixon would enter all of the early primaries, beginning with New Hampshire and continuing through Wisconsin, Indiana, Oregon and Nebraska.

The most encouraging development was a poll conducted by James C. Cleveland in the second district of New Hampshire which showed Nixon running well ahead.

Among the 2,091 Democrats who replied to the poll, 1,426 were for President Johnson, 315 for Sen. Bobby Kennedy, 149 for ex-Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, 100 for Vice President Humphrey, 72 for Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas, and 25 for Sen. Teddy Kennedy of Massachusetts.

The meeting closed on a note of "let's win big with our boy Dick."

Morse vs. LBJ

Two strong men who disagree vigorously on Vietnam but agree on a lot of other things were at the White House last week as the Railroad Arbitration Board brought in its settlement of the railroad-labor dispute. Present were President Johnson, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, and members of the board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

The President first called on several of the board members to express their views. Fred Kappel, retired chairman of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph Company, had signed the report but wrote some objections. He repeated these objections.

The President then turned to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO. "George, what do you think?" he said.

"The unions would like to have had more," said Meany. "Sen. Morse has spoken for me. I thought it was a fine agreement."

"You provided us with a great chairman," said public representative Ted Khiel, referring to Morse. "He did a great job."

"I'm not surprised," said LBJ. "Will both sides accept it?"

Ex-Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts said that he had put this question to both sides, and the answer was no.

"They won't even accept the time of day," said Morse.

At this point the President made an unusual political statement.

"I want you to know that I don't engage in primaries," he said, "but I'm a Morse man."

Undoubtedly the President had in mind the fact that Sen. Morse is up for reelection and faces possible primary opposition inside the Democratic party by ex-Rep. Bob Duncan, who is strong for the war in Vietnam. Morse is not.

After Vietnam War What Will American Role Be?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — What after Vietnam?

The United States suffered anguish over the Korean war, with its cost in lives, money and even prestige badly dappled after the Chinese victory at the Yalu River.

After that it seemed unthinkable this country would get involved in another Asian war any time soon. But within less than 10 years it was starting down the same road in Vietnam.

Now there is so much anguish, handwringing and argument over this war that almost no public figure is talking about the part the United States will play, if any, when this conflict is over and new Vietnams occur.

There is one reasonable explanation for that. The men involved in the intense dispute over the rightness and wrongness of this war have little time for thinking about the next one.

But, since the future is coming and the Vietnamese war will be over some day, there will inevitably be a whole new argument, no doubt intense, about whether this country should ever get similarly embroiled.

And out of the distaste for foreign entanglements will surely come a new yearning for a return to American isolationism.

The Communist world, even though split, would take such action as an invitation to adventure if it believes the United States will not aid a nation, particularly a backward one, which is imperiled by Red aggression or subversion.

And that would mean all the effort which went into Vietnam to stop the spread of Communism will not have been wasted. Yet, the United States can't afford to be at war, big or little, endlessly.

Therefore, new plans and new policies about the American role in the world will have to emerge when the Vietnamese war is over to avoid American involvement in new wars and yet discourage and prevent new Red aggressions.

Nixon on Coming Problems

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, in the autumn edition of the magazine Foreign Affairs Quarterly, has tried his hand at thinking about the coming problems.

He foresees after Vietnam a great American reluctance to leap in to stop an attempted Communist takeover in Asia, Africa or Latin America, even if asked to by a besieged nation. He doesn't rule out the possibility this country would do what it has done in Vietnam but suggests that in the future the American role as world policeman will be limited.

Nixon suggests that in the future nations within a certain area must band together in a collective effort to stop Red aggression and then, only if their effort fails, will they be able to call on the United States for aid.

President Puts His Weight Behind Gun Control Law

By PETER LISAGOR
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — White House mail, recent polls, and the soundings taken by Congressmen during the Labor Day recess have combined to activate an administration push to get an effective gun control law.

Evidence that the bulk of the American people consider crime in the streets second only to the Vietnam War as a national issue has prompted President Johnson to take a personal hand in prodding Congress for action.

Heretofore, the President has been loathe to involve his office in law enforcement problems that he regards as properly the responsibility of local authority.

But the riots in Newark and Detroit, with the accompaniment of widespread sniping and looting, have generated mounting public resentment, according to public opinion samplings. One poll revealed that 69 per cent of white Americans and 30 per cent of the negroes favor shooting all looters, and a correspondingly tough response to other crimes.

The President revealed his own deepening concern in a letter to Congressional leaders yesterday in which he urged passage of a bill that would prohibit interstate mail order sales of all firearms, halt over-the-counter sales of firearms, other than rifles and shotguns, to any non-resident of a state in which the seller operates, and stop sales of handguns to anyone under 21, and sales of rifles and shotguns to any under 18.

The bill, which has languished in Congressional Committees for more than three years, also would curb the import of firearms into the United States.

The President said that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has reported that the use of firearms in dangerous crimes "is on the upswing." In the first six months of this year, he cited a 24 per cent increase in the use of guns in aggravated assaults and 37 per cent in robberies.

Mr. Johnson recalled that in August, 1966, Charles Whitman, whom he described as "a demented sniper," sat at the top of the tower at the University of Texas and killed or maimed 44 persons in cold blood.

In the intervening 13 months, the President said, guns were involved in 6,500 murders, 10,000 suicides, 2,600 accidental deaths, 43,500 aggravated assaults and 50,000 robberies.

Of the murders, White House sources elaborated, 71 per cent were committed with handguns, 17 per cent with shotguns and the remainder with rifles.

These sources said that the time now seemed ripe to push for the bill, which has been amended in a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee to exclude all but handguns from the prohibitions. The events of the summer and obvious sentiment of a majority of Americans dictate Presidential appeals to Congress, they said.

The President spoke to the International Assn. of Police Chiefs in Kansas City, Mo., Thursday and deplored inaction. He followed that speech up with his appeal for passage of the Gun Control Bill in its original form.

The bill "is aimed solely at keeping deadly weapons out of the wrong hands," the President said, "it interferes neither with sportsmen nor law-abiding citizens with a legitimate need." The National Rifle Assn. and sportsmen groups have opposed the bill.

The safety of the American people cannot be measured against the inconvenience of a few, the President suggested.

It elevated statements and charges into "proofs" of subversion. And it made "foreign plots" of the legitimate aspirations of upward struggling Negroes and others.

The radicals of the left have come near to pushing their rightist brethren off center as polluters of thought. In their convention at Chicago, they never flicked an eyelash when some of their number summed up the summer's urban turmoil by decrying "the destruction of our cities by business, the police, and the army." The real throwers of fire-bombs in Detroit, Newark, Milwaukee and elsewhere must have smiled at their release from the burden of guilt.

By the leftists' measure, government is the oppressor of the poor and the racially disadvantaged. By the rightists' gauge, it is the oppressor of nearly everyone else. Both charge government with the grossest of lies in its enforcement of oppression.

But the detached onlooker, who has listened carefully to the assaults of the right and the left, discovers inescapably that their regard for truth, for the provable fact, is perhaps even less notable than with those they attack.

To say their thought is careless is to understate the matter vastly. Too often they do not try at all to make a case. They move by placard, by slogan, by a kind of mental bulldozing intended to sweep all before it.

Even as they assault the "establishment" for cynicism, falsehood, insensitivity and inaction, they fill the air with pompous, self-congratulatory rationalizations of their high-pitched emotionalism. The detractors degrade themselves as they talk.

It has always been said of American political life that it has been marred by the exaggerations of an exuberant, free-swinging, frontier-bred people. Sober appraisers have long counted upon the scholar and the student, in their academic-enclaves, to provide the major corrective even before the researches of history begin But today, admirable though their spirit may be, too many of these once-detached viewers have plunged into the arena, forsaking the rules of careful thought and helping to cloud the atmosphere with frenzies of propaganda.

Hence the government and business, and the other organized elements of U. S. society, get very little of the earnest, calm, well-founded criticism they need to curb their excesses and correct their errors. Instead, they find their excesses outmatched by clamoring critics who either see no need to deal in evidence or are quite content to manufacture it to support their emotional responses.

The once-cool refuge of the academic citadel is today too often a frantic staging ground for the launching of the double-talk which helps to befoul this country's flow of thought on the great public issues of the age.

In the name of democracy and the causes they say serve it, the polluters of thought on the right and the left, in the practical and the academic realms, forgive themselves ignorance, carelessness, irreverence for truth. In so doing, they slash a great scar upon the whole American society.

Drew Pearson Says

Nixon's Campaign Brain Trust

WASHINGTON — Former Vice President Nixon is doing a lot more to get the GOP nomination than the public knows about. He's quiet, methodical, efficient. And he's gained a lot of ground.

Nixon's forces recently held a "team meeting." It was held behind closed doors in Washington. Very little leaked out, but this column can now report what happened.

About 20 were expected, but about 40 went to the meeting. It was the first meeting presided over by Henry Bellmon, former Republican governor of Oklahoma, replacing Gaylord Parkinson as chairman of the Nixon forces. Parkinson, whose wife is seriously ill, has returned to California.

Bellmon dropped word that on April 1 he would announce his candidacy against Sen. Mike Monroney, who has long dominated Democratic politics in Oklahoma. Monroney has been a popular and competent Senator, but Bellmon seemed to feel that sentiment was swinging toward the Republicans in Oklahoma and that he could win.

John Sears, age 32 and Bellmon's assistant, gave a briefing on political polls, a survey of the press, and listed the press stooges for each of Nixon's Republican rivals.

Young Men for Old

Two members of the executive staffs of Newsweek and Time, and a radio network official said they were attending the Nixon meeting at the risk of their jobs; nevertheless they were out to defeat Johnson and elect Nixon.

The secret diagnosis of Nixon's GOP rivals was given as follows:

1. Gov. Romney of Michigan has "swallowed himself."

2. Gov. Rockefeller of New York has been using Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois as a front. Percy has no chance.

3. Rockefeller has no chance to be nominated, even if he wanted to run. The Republican party simply will not take Rockefeller.

It was agreed that Nixon is the best debater and best qualified to attack Johnson on the credibility gap.

Biggest danger to Nixon, it was decided, is that in the early primaries, especially New Hampshire, supporters of Donald Reagan would write his name in just as Henry Cabot Lodge was a write-in candidate four years ago. This could take conservative votes away from Nixon, help Romney.

It was also agreed that a major danger to Nixon is the "he can't win" psychology based on the fact that he has been defeated for President and governor of California.

One important decision made at the meeting was that "old men" should stand aside—except for raising funds—and let young men run the Nixon show. To that end, David Sterling, age 27, was appointed manager of Nixon's campaign in the New Hampshire primary. Sterling, absolutely unknown in national politics, is a Yale Law School student from Hillsboro, N. H.

To show what the "old men" could still do, however, several of them pledged to raise around $25,000 each for Nixon's preliminary primary campaign expenses. Most of these pledges came from Californians, among them Maurice Stans, director of the budget under Eisenhower.

It was decided that Nixon would enter all of the early primaries, beginning with New Hampshire and continuing through Wisconsin, Indiana, Oregon and Nebraska.

The most encouraging development was a poll conducted by James C. Cleveland in the second district of New Hampshire which showed Nixon running well ahead.

Among the 2,091 Democrats who replied to the poll, 1,426 were for President Johnson, 315 for Sen. Bobby Kennedy, 149 for ex-Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, 100 for Vice President Humphrey, 72 for Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas, and 25 for Sen. Teddy Kennedy of Massachusetts.

The meeting closed on a note of "let's win big with our boy Dick."

Morse vs. LBJ

Two strong men who disagree vigorously on Vietnam but agree on a lot of other things were at the White House last week as the Railroad Arbitration Board brought in its settlement of the railroad-labor dispute. Present were President Johnson, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, and members of the board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

The President first called on several of the board members to express their views. Fred Kappel, retired chairman of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph Company, had signed the report but wrote some objections. He repeated these objections.

The President then turned to George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO. "George, what do you think?" he said.

"The unions would like to have had more," said Meany. "Sen. Morse has spoken for me. I thought it was a fine agreement."

"You provided us with a great chairman," said public representative Ted Khiel, referring to Morse. "He did a great job."

"I'm not surprised," said LBJ. "Will both sides accept it?"

Ex-Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts said that he had put this question to both sides, and the answer was no.

"They won't even accept the time of day," said Morse.

At this point the President made an unusual political statement.

"I want you to know that I don't engage in primaries," he said, "but I'm a Morse man."

Undoubtedly the President had in mind the fact that Sen. Morse is up for reelection and faces possible primary opposition inside the Democratic party by ex-Rep. Bob Duncan, who is strong for the war in Vietnam. Morse is not.

The World Today

After Vietnam War What Will American Role Be?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — What after Vietnam?

The United States suffered anguish over the Korean war, with its cost in lives, money and even prestige badly dappled after the Chinese victory at the Yalu River.

After that it seemed unthinkable this country would get involved in another Asian war any time soon. But within less than 10 years it was starting down the same road in Vietnam.

Now there is so much anguish, handwringing and argument over this war that almost no public figure is talking about the part the United States will play, if any, when this conflict is over and new Vietnams occur.

There is one reasonable explanation for that. The men involved in the intense dispute over the rightness and wrongness of this war have little time for thinking about the next one.

But, since the future is coming and the Vietnamese war will be over some day, there will inevitably be a whole new argument, no doubt intense, about whether this country should ever get similarly embroiled.

And out of the distaste for foreign entanglements will surely come a new yearning for a return to American isolationism.

The Communist world, even though split, would take such action as an invitation to adventure if it believes the United States will not aid a nation, particularly a backward one, which is imperiled by Red aggression or subversion.

And that would mean all the effort which went into Vietnam to stop the spread of Communism will not have been wasted. Yet, the United States can't afford to be at war, big or little, endlessly.

Therefore, new plans and new policies about the American role in the world will have to emerge when the Vietnamese war is over to avoid American involvement in new wars and yet discourage and prevent new Red aggressions.

Nixon on Coming Problems

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, in the autumn edition of the magazine Foreign Affairs Quarterly, has tried his hand at thinking about the coming problems.

He foresees after Vietnam a great American reluctance to leap in to stop an attempted Communist takeover in Asia, Africa or Latin America, even if asked to by a besieged nation. He doesn't rule out the possibility this country would do what it has done in Vietnam but suggests that in the future the American role as world policeman will be limited.

Nixon suggests that in the future nations within a certain area must band together in a collective effort to stop Red aggression and then, only if their effort fails, will they be able to call on the United States for aid.

President Puts His Weight Behind Gun Control Law

By PETER LISAGOR
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — White House mail, recent polls, and the soundings taken by Congressmen during the Labor Day recess have combined to activate an administration push to get an effective gun control law.

Evidence that the bulk of the American people consider crime in the streets second only to the Vietnam War as a national issue has prompted President Johnson to take a personal hand in prodding Congress for action.

Heretofore, the President has been loathe to involve his office in law enforcement problems that he regards as properly the responsibility of local authority.

But the riots in Newark and Detroit, with the accompaniment of widespread sniping and looting, have generated mounting public resentment, according to public opinion samplings. One poll revealed that 69 per cent of white Americans and 30 per cent of the negroes favor shooting all looters, and a correspondingly tough response to other crimes.

The President revealed his own deepening concern in a letter to Congressional leaders yesterday in which he urged passage of a bill that would prohibit interstate mail order sales of all firearms, halt over-the-counter sales of firearms, other than rifles and shotguns, to any non-resident of a state in which the seller operates, and stop sales of handguns to anyone under 21, and sales of rifles and shotguns to any under 18.

The bill, which has languished in Congressional Committees for more than three years, also would curb the import of firearms into the United States.

The President said that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has reported that the use of firearms in dangerous crimes "is on the upswing." In the first six months of this year, he cited a 24 per cent increase in the use of guns in aggravated assaults and 37 per cent in robberies.

Mr. Johnson recalled that in August, 1966, Charles Whitman, whom he described as "a demented sniper," sat at the top of the tower at the University of Texas and killed or maimed 44 persons in cold blood.

In the intervening 13 months, the President said, guns were involved in 6,500 murders, 10,000 suicides, 2,600 accidental deaths, 43,500 aggravated assaults and 50,000 robberies.

Of the murders, White House sources elaborated, 71 per cent were committed with handguns, 17 per cent with shotguns and the remainder with rifles.

These sources said that the time now seemed ripe to push for the bill, which has been amended in a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee to exclude all but handguns from the prohibitions. The events of the summer and obvious sentiment of a majority of Americans dictate Presidential appeals to Congress, they said.

The President spoke to the International Assn. of Police Chiefs in Kansas City, Mo., Thursday and deplored inaction. He followed that speech up with his appeal for passage of the Gun Control Bill in its original form.

The bill "is aimed solely at keeping deadly weapons out of the wrong hands," the President said, "it interferes neither with sportsmen nor law-abiding citizens with a legitimate need." The National Rifle Assn. and sportsmen groups have opposed the bill.

The safety of the American people cannot be measured against the inconvenience of a few, the President suggested.

Role of the Southern Negro

Same Problems; Different Answers

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Writer

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — (NEA)—The other day a minor politician was campaigning out in the magnolaed boondocks of this state when, as it invariably does, the subject of "the colored question" came up.

The politico wagged his head and shouted:

"We got no trouble with Negras down heah. All the Negra troublemakers are up Nawth shooting po-lice. Southern Negras ain't like that."

Exaggerated though the comment was, it appears basically true. Negroes in the South are not rioting, looting or burning. There are race demonstrations but seldom Negro violence.

In this lower Mississippi community, for example, Negroes have been boycotting the downtown business section in protest against three policemen who have been accused of brutality.

The situation has been tense for over a month. Some storekeepers are near bankruptcy. Dozens of demonstrators have been arrested and jailed.

Still, no one is really worried about black violence. One of the boycott leaders, Rev. Milton Barnes, explains it this way: "We are different from northern Negroes. We have different problems and different dreams. Generally speaking, we are not so militant as they.

"In the North they feel trapped. But here we feel that we are moving ahead. Schools are desegregating, and there aren't many black and white toilets around any more. It's a little. It's progress.

"This isn't to say we're satisfied. We're not, that's why we demonstrate. But without the intense feelings of anxiety that the northern Negro has, we are able to be more patient with and tolerant of white men."

Rev. Barnes believes that this southern serenity has evolved in part from the "unique relationship" between different races here. He says in many cases the relationship is binding, even affectionate and mutual.

The affection is especially strong among older Negroes.

In upstate Yazoo County, for example, Forrest Hicks, 65, says frankly that "I love some white folk like I love some colored. It don't make no nevermind. White people done fed me when I was hungry, they done give me shoes and a job. Nobody ever hurt this ol' man."

The affection is strong among some poor.

In nearby Columbia, Nathanal Conerly, a mechanic, works on both white - and black-owned automobiles. "I don't charge much to either one," he maintains. "We's all in the same boat. We's all jes' pinchin'."

James Tab, 50, a resident of Jackson, can't read and thus when he gets mail or documents he has a white neighbor do the deciphering.

"The neighbor lives across the road," Tab says. "I go over even when I ain't got no mail to read. We jes' sit and gab sometimes."

The fact that Tab's neighbor lives so close is one hint to explaining the southern black-white relationship. Except for upper-class areas, neighborhoods in much of the South have alway been totally integrated.

"We's all jangled together," Tab asserts, "we's all brothers."

Tab's opinion, though sincere, is overstated. No experienced observer of this region would agree that all blacks and whites are brothers.

There is still too much beligerence and reluctance on the white side. The word "nigger" is still common. Newspapers will print "colored" news. Ku Klux Klanners still ride. Restaurants still refuse to serve Negro customers.

And many Negroes here are still in daily fear of white power. Centuries of subservience are not wiped away in a few years of civil rights.

But in the main, there is growing co-operation.

Most southern Negroes, especially Negro leaders, realize this and believe that this realization is what has kept them from preaching violence.

Says Hattiesburg's Rev. Barnes: "We have to do this peacefully, if we are to do it at all. If we use guns, we'll end up with nothing. If we use reason and legislation, we'll convince both the South and the North that we're right."

Hike Retirement Pay

By ROBERT M. LEWIS
Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO—Trustees of the Teamster Central States, Southeast and Southwest Areas Pension Fund have voted to increase the maximum pension to $300 a month for the first five years of retirement.

Francis J. Murtha, executive secretary of the fund, said today (Monday) that the increase would be $50 a month over the current maximum.

The Chicago office of the Internal Revenue Service was asked today to approve the increase, which would be retroactive to April 1, this year.

Under the plan, members are eligible for full retirement at age 57 after 20 years of service.

If the Internal Revenue Service approves, the maximum pension will go from $250 to $300 a month for the first five years, regardless of whether the member retires at 57 or the compulsory retirement age of 65.

The trustees voted to increase the amount of the pension for the first five years of retirement because of an increase of $1 a week in the employer contributions in the second and third year each of the National Master Freight Contract, negotiated last May.

Senators Look Out For the Big Cities

By SAUL FRIEDMAN
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — A bipartisan group of Senators has begun to form, within the Senate, an "urban coalition" to promote and protect the interests of the nation's big cities.

Although the civil rights bloc that has long operated in the Senate will not be abolished, the formation of the urban group reflects the fading impetus for civil rights legislation.

Leaders in the creation of the new group are Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), and Sen. Jacob Javits (R-N. Y.)

While they have been longtime advocates of civil rights, they reluctantly faced the reality that with riots, a more conservative Congress, and a splintered negro movement, civil rights legislation, as such, has little chance of passage.

They also concluded that urban problems, which include civil rights issues, will become the chief domestic concern of both parties in Congresses for years to come. And thus they see a chance to build a broader base of Senatorial support around urban legislation than around civil rights bills.

Form Coalition

This week members of their staffs, as well as the staffs of other liberal Senators, began to put together a coalition of perhaps 45 Democrats and Republicans.

"The urban coalition would do the same kind of work that helped pass significant civil rights legislation," said one staff member. "If the Senators got together on urban problems, they could co-ordinate pending legislation and keep it moving, watch for amendments which could help or hurt the cities, and generally keep each other and the rest of the Senate informed about legislation affecting the cities."

The civil rights coalition, which included only a small band of Senators, was instrumental in setting strategy, debating, floor managing and passing the civil rights bills of 1964 and 1965.

This year the same group, led by Hart, will once again try to pass the package of civil rights bills — including an open housing proposal — which failed in the Senate last year. But they have little hope.

There are, however, a number of bills dealing with urban problems floating in the legislative miasma. More are expected. And some will aim indirectly at civil rights issues.

More Urban Legislation

Although they vary in approach, many deal with the same problems—such as the abolition of slum housing and reinsurance for ghetto property. They may not pass this year, or next. But Hart and Javits believe they signal an increasing flow of urban legislation.

Besides Hart and Javits, the hard-core civil rights group included Sen. Joseph Clark (D-Pa.), Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), Sen. Clifford Case (R-N. J.), Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), Sen. Joseph Tydings (D-Md.), Sen. Harrison Williams (D-N. J.), Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), and Sen. Hiram Fong (R-Hawaii).

As the steam behind the civil rights movement and the legislation it sought began to subside last year, long identification of these men with civil rights eroded their influence.

Now they seek new faces, and sources of influence. For example, they hope to enlist in their urban cause Sen. Howard Baker (R-Tenn.), Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.), and Sen. George Murphy (R-Calif.), men who have good conservative credentials but who are concerned with the problems of the big cities in their states.

More Urban Legislation

Although they vary in approach, many deal with the same problems—such as the abolition of slum housing and reinsurance for ghetto property. They may not pass this year, or next. But Hart and Javits believe they signal an increasing flow of urban legislation.

Besides Hart and Javits, the hard-core civil rights group included Sen. Joseph Clark (D-Pa.), Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), Sen. Clifford Case (R-N. J.), Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), Sen. Joseph Tydings (D-Md.), Sen. Harrison Williams (D-N. J.), Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.), and Sen. Hiram Fong (R-Hawaii).

As the steam behind the civil rights movement and the legislation it sought began to subside last year, long identification of these men with civil rights eroded their influence.

Now they seek new faces, and sources of influence. For example, they hope to enlist in their urban cause Sen. Howard Baker (R-Tenn.), Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.), and Sen. George Murphy (R-Calif.), men who have good conservative credentials but who are concerned with the problems of the big cities in their states.

Loyalty Parade Saturday

Wounded GI Honorary Head

A twice-wounded veteran of the Vietnam conflict will be honorary grand marshal for the Loyalty Day Parade to be held Saturday, Sept. 23, under sponsorship of the Kingston Uniformed Fire Fighters Association, Local 461.

Home on Leave

Gerard Kelder Jr. parade chairman, announced today that U.S. Army Specialist 4th Class Robert Smith of Rosendale, will be grand marshal. Smith was wounded at Bau Bang on Feb. 9 and on June 6 he was wounded a second time. He presently is at home on leave.

Dennis Lenahan, parade coordinator, said yesterday that 32 units had signed to participate in the parade, which promises to be one of longest and most colorful ever held in Ulster County. Brief ceremonies are scheduled for 10 a. m. on the grounds between the Kate Walton Field House and Kingston High School.

Lenahan reported that among those expected to attend Saturday's event are State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr., Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, Supersivor Peter Savago of New Paltz, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, Deputy Fire Chief Glyn Southard, Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Kingston Fire Department chaplains, the Rev. Robert Shellenberger, of St. John's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly of St. Mary's Church.

The parade coordinator noted that the guests are expected to briefly address the audience before the start of the parade.

Robert Golnick, president of Local 461, urges all residents of Kingston and other Ulster County communities to display the American flag at their homes and business places on Saturday "to show their loyalty to our country and our men and women in the armed forces."

Chairman Kelder said the city fire horn will sound two series of blasts 1-7-7-6 to signal the start of the ceremonies at 10 a. m.

Members of Excelsior Hose Co., Hurley Avenue, will meet at the firehouse at 9 a. m. to take part in the parade. Open house will be observed after the parade and refreshments will be served.

Delegates Reject Ruling To Curb Pre-Trial Data

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention has rejected a proposal that would have restricted sharply the publication of pretrial information in criminal cases.

At the same time Wednesday, the convention approved a provision to guarantee the public's right to inspect the records f all governmental agencies in New York State.

Both matters are a part of the proposed Constitution's Bill of Rights section.

The proposal to curtail publication of pretrial information was introduced by Democrat S. Samuel DiFalco, a surrogate judge from Manhattan.

DiFalco contended that the rights of individual defendants had been seriously harmed in recent years by pretrial information dealing with their cases.

The judge proposed to restrict news media to reporting only the name of the defendant, his address and the charge placed against him.

The majority of those delegates who supported DiFalco were Democrats.

Opponents of the proposal, including former Court of Appeals Judge Charles S. Desmond, argued that the measure would violate the First Amendment of the Federal Constitution by abridging freedom of the press.

The so-called right-to-know clause was inserted in the revised Bill of Rights as the Convention prepared to take final action on the measure.

Abraham D. Beame, a former Democratic comptroller of New York City, introduced the clause was inserted in the reinspection of all records "in the manner and extent provided by statute."

Beame said this meant that the Legislature would be charged with defining exactly what records would be opened to public inspection. All local and state agencies, including public authorities, would be included in the provision.

The right - to - know question has received considerable attention, particularly in the area of public authorities, who often refuse to open their books.

Delegate Willard A. Genrich, R - Snyder, tried to amend Beame's proposal to permit inspection of all records not specifically excluded from scrutiny by the Legislation.

Genrich's amendment was defeated, however. Opponent argued that certain records, such as those pertaining to welfare cases, should not be opened to the public.

Beame's amendment was approved by a voice vote, after a show of hands indicated a majority of the delegates in favor of it.

New Lebanon Fire Loss, $200,000

NEW LEBANON, N.Y. (AP) —Fire destroyed three building in a lumber yard late Wednesday, causing an estimated $200,000 damage.

Harold Hicks, owner of the Hicks Lumber Yard off Route 20 in this community near the New York-Massachusetts line, said the amount of lumber consumed had not been determined. He estimated the damage at $200,000, however.

6 Die in Fire At Las Vegas Mental Hospital

LAS VEGAS, N.M. (AP) — Six male patients at the New Mexico State Hospital for the mentally ill died early today when they were overcome by smoke during a fire. Another 152 men and women patients were evacuated to safety

The hospital director, James W. Wagner, said the dead were overcome by heavy smoke as they slept in their beds on the second floor of the two-story brick structure in this north-central New Mexico community.

Wagner said the dead ranged in age from 26 to 79 and all came from the Albuquerque area.

Asst. Director Thomas Barnett said the fire apparently broke out in the first-floor day room of the hospital's north unit. He said it took about an hour to control the blaze but heavy smoke apparently filtered through stairwells into the second floor unit where the men lay.

Barnett said, "The building filled with smoke so fast that they apparently became confused and couldn't get out with the rest of them."

Barnett said the other patients were led to safety by four attendants and there was no panic.

He said in all there were 650 patients at the facility.

Scoffs at Idea Secrets Found In Israel Loot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israel captured a wealth of Soviet-made weapons during the Middle East war but American officials scoff at suggestions the United States received any military secrets in the process.

Defense and State Department spokesmen told The Associated Press there has been no exchange of information between Israel and the United States on the captured weapons.

Among war materiel captured by Israel in the Sinai Desert and other areas were Soviet anti-tank missiles, surface-to-air missiles—SAMS—like those used in North Vietnam, at least one MIG 21 jet fighter and assorted other arms worth millions of dollars.

The Pentagon flatly denies reports that a MIG 21 was flown to the United States from Israel for detailed inspection by intelligence experts.

Defense spokesmen say no weapons were loaned to or otherwise acquired by the United States for examination.

State Department sources say this does not mean there might not be a tacit understanding between lower echelon U.S. and Israel officials that if arms inspections were sought they could be arranged.

"But frankly we know virtually everything about the MIG 21," a source reported. "The same goes for the SAM missile, which is really a rather unsophisticated type weapon."

An equal frankness came from other spokesmen. "Even if we did arrange with Israel to inspect some hot item, we couldn't discuss it," one says. "That might make it appear we were in collusion with Israel in the Middle East war."

Memoriam

In memory of our dear daughter and sister Diana Sutlovich who passed away one year ago today September 21, 1966.
Please God keep her close beside you
Keep her in your tender care.
Make up all she had to suffer
In everything that was unfair
We think of her in silence,
No one can see us weep
But many a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep.
Sadly Missed by
MOMMY and DADDY
SISTERS and BROTHERS

Memoriam

In loving memory of my granddaughter, Carol A. Weider, who passed away one year ago today, Sept. 21.
The midnight stars are shining,
Upon your silent grave.
Beneath it sleeps the one we love.
The one we could not save.
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills too hard to climb,
Hen gently closed his weary eyes,
And whispered, "Rest be thine."

State Department sources say this does not mean there might not be a tacit understanding between lower echelon U.S. and Israel officials that if arms inspections were sought they could be arranged.

"But frankly we know virtually everything about the MIG 21," a source reported. "The same goes for the SAM missile, which is really a rather unsophisticated type weapon."

An equal frankness came from other spokesmen. "Even if we did arrange with Israel to inspect some hot item, we couldn't discuss it," one says. "That might make it appear we were in collusion with Israel in the Middle East war."

Memoriam

In memory of our dear daughter and sister Diana Sutlovich who passed away one year ago today September 21, 1966.
Please God keep her close beside you
Keep her in your tender care.
Make up all she had to suffer
In everything that was unfair
We think of her in silence,
No one can see us weep
But many a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep.
Sadly Missed by
MOMMY and DADDY
SISTERS and BROTHERS

Memoriam

In loving memory of my granddaughter, Carol A. Weider, who passed away one year ago today, Sept. 21.
The midnight stars are shining,
Upon your silent grave.
Beneath it sleeps the one we love.
The one we could not save.
God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills too hard to climb,
Hen gently closed his weary eyes,
And whispered, "Rest be thine."

Dirksen-Percy Arrangement

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the 58-vote Illinois delegation ratifies the deal, Sen. Charles H. Percy will get the state's favorite-son designation and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen will claim a limelight at the 1968 Republican convention.

Percy, a relative liberal and a dove on the Vietnam war, got clearance Tuesday from Dirksen, the conservative GOP leader of the Senate and a hard-liner on Vietnam, for home base support to prospect the Republican presidential nomination field.

The price tag on this agreement is the expected designation of Dirksen as chairman of the state delegation, his appointment to the national platform drafting committee and his selection as chairman of that group.

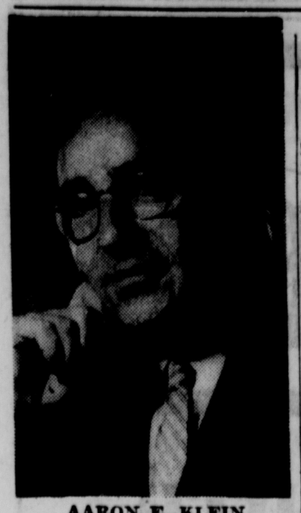
Dirksen looks to this forum, with its attendant glare of public exposure, to further his campaign for re-election to a fourth Senate term. Dirksen, who will be 72 in 1968, may find the going tough, particularly if Democrat Adlai Stevon III is his opponent.

The Dirksen-Percy accommodation, worked out in the interest of Illinois GOP unity, will require the cooperation of convention delegates elected in next June's primary.

Dirksen said in a statement drafted after consulting with Percy that there are some "mechanical problems" about designating his colleague as a favorite son but "I don't believe they are unsurmountable."

While he put Percy "high on any list" of possibilities for the nomination, he said when asked whether the junior senator is a "serious candidate:" "I refuse to be entrapped" by an answer.

For Percy, the Dirksen clearance enhanced the possibility he will go into the convention as a possible compromise choice of the moderates if Gov. George Romney of Michigan suffers a setback in the preliminary campaigning. It would be difficult for Percy to maintain this position without Illinois backing.



AARON E. KLEIN

Ahavath's Speaker for Installation

Aaron E. Klein, Corporation Counsel of the City of Kingston and previously City Judge, will be the principal speaker at the officer installation ceremonies of Congregation Ahavath Israel to be held at the Synagogue, 100 Lucas Avenue, Saturday, Sept. 30, at 9 p.m.

Klein has been a practicing attorney for 31 years and maintains an office at 65 John Street. His son Louis has joined him and is now awaiting admission to the Bar. For many years Klein has been a leading Democrat in the city and county, having served as Democratic chairman for Kingston and for Ulster County.

Active in Drives

He has been active in organization life in the community, including hold the presidency of both the Jewish Community Council and Center. He has been active in the fund-raising drives of the Cancer Crusade, U. J. A., Welfare Fund, and others. He has also been quite active in Synagogue life.

DHUD Director, Garraghan Confer

Charles Pillman, director of Workable Program for Community Improvement, from the Regional Office of the Department of housing and Urban Development, New York City, today conferred with Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan and the city housing inspector at City Hall.

Pillman said basically his visit to this locality and his talks with Mayor Garraghan, were to firm up the local workable program objectives specifically relating to housing codes, staffing and enforcement.

He further stated that the workable program for Kingston is now under review by the regional office in Washington. Certification is required in order to make Kingston eligible to participate in the many federal programs.

These programs, Pillman man said, include urban renewal, public housing FHA 221(d) (3), concentrated code enforcement program, rent supplementations, demolition and rehabilitation grants in urban renewal areas and concentrated code enforcement areas in amounts up to $1,500 for home owners with income limited to $3,000 and less.

The Panama Canal Zone covers a strip 10 miles wide and about 50 miles long.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved up slightly in fairly active trading early Thursday.

Advances among individual stocks topped declines by about 5 to 3. The averages showed little change.

The market's ability to wipe out an early loss Wednesday brought expessions of hope from brokers that the current reaction of prices after a prolonged advance could be contained within fairly narrow limits.

Opening of trading in Cerro, which plans to merge with Bethlehem Steel, was delayed on the New York Stock Exchange because of an influx of orders.

Gains of about 2 points were made by Control Data, Polaroid, Xerox and Occidental Petroleum.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 62 Wall Street, New York City; branch office, 52 Main Street, Lowell S. Brooks, manager.

Pollution: A Danger . . .

"Even when cigarette smoking is balanced out", he told the House Commerce Committee, "there is still a 25 per cent urban-rural differential in lung cancer rates", a factor presumtively related to air pollution.

Chronic bronchitis, although almost always associated with cigarette smoking, usually claims its victims in cities where air pollution is a problem. In Britain it is one of the nation's costliest diseases in terms of manpower, money and misery.

Emphysema, a respiratory illness which interferes with breathing and puts an extra load on the heart generally attacks 50 to 70-year-olds, mainly men, who have been heavy smokers all their lives. But, they too frequently live in areas where pollution is a constant problem.

Histo (histoplasmosis) is less known as a respiratory illness but is common to rural areas, especially in the vicinity of poultry farms. It is a lung disease emanating from fungus-bearing dust which stems from spores living in such things as old chicken houses, barns, belfries, pigeon lofts and caves.

The dust comes from accumulated droppings from chickens, starlings and other birds. Among several means of control is the wetting down of chicken excrement before cleaning out chicken houses.

Hay fever attacks people who react to plant pollen and airborne seeds. But, the allergenic substance may be mold spores or animal dander or even the more common material, dust!

Everyone, city or country dweller breathes in a certain amount of polluted air. Bits of matter which are taken in during the breathing process, are generally too small to actually block an airway, but they can still cause trouble.

Bad air should be avoided although it is not always easy when a person's home and job are located in highly polluted areas.

Citizens' action to clear the air by attacking contamination at its sources may be the only real answer to the problem.

The concluding article on air pollution will deal with what citizen groups are doing to promote clean air and what can and cannot be done in the way of legal controls.

Three Buildings Razed by Fire At Cooperstown

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Fire raged through three buildings near this resort community's downtown section late Wednesday and early today, destroying three stores and several apartments.

More than 70 firemen struggled for three hours to confine the flames. Two were injured, apparently not seriously.

Occupants of the building, and the two adjoining two-story frame structures, fled to safety. A small restaurant, a shoe repair shop and a grocery store on the ground floors also were extensively damaged or destroyed.

Firemen said they believed the fire erupted in the basement of the Pic and Pay grocery store and spread to the other buildings. There were reports of several explosions but these were attributed to bursting canned goods in the store.

The buildings are opposite the entrance to Doubleday Field, named for Abner Doubleday, who founded baseball. The Baseball Hall of Fame and Baseball and spread to the other buildaway.

Ferroxcube Workers Union Vote Sept. 29

Thomas J. Sheridan, field examiner of the National Labor Relations Board in Albany, today confirmed a report that the NLRB had ordered an election at Ferroxcube Corp. of America, Saugerties, for Sept. 29.

Sheridan said the election will be held among employes to decide whether they want the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, AFL-CIO, to represent them in collective bargaining.

The election will take place at the plant on Mt. Marion Road and it will be directed and supervised by the regional director. The election will be subject to NLRB rules and regulations.

The results of a previous election held on Nov. 23, 1965, was set aside after hearings before a trial examiner and following an appeal by the union. The second election was ordered.

Successful Investing....

by ROGER E. SPEAR

Investment Advisor & Analyst

Avoid Slow Stocks For Grandson's Future

Q) "I have very little knowledge about investments but I would appreciate some information. I have a ten-month-old grandson and I would like to invest for his future. What is your opinion of these four stocks: Central Illinois Public Service; National Dairy; Sterling Drug; Campbell Soup?" C.E.

A) Your knowledge may be limited but you have excellent judgment or a competent adviser. All your stocks mentioned are of high quality and all can be characterized as growth issues. They differ mainly in their past records and in the rate of expansion that can be reasonably projected into the future. Judged on this basis, my preference would be for Central Illinois P.S. and Sterling Drug — both of which have an excellent record of rising earning and dividends. Campbell Soup and National Dairy are conservative blue chips which in my opinion are rather slow stocks for your objective. In place of these issues, I suggest Avon Products which I believe will build your grandson's capital at a considerably higher rate over the next 15 years.

Q) "I am 70 years old and still working. I have been advised to buy Standard Prudential United and Flying Tiger. I can only afford two or three thousand dollars for investment. Do you think I should take the risk or keep the money in the bank?" M.L.

A) You seem to me to fall into the category of persons who should under no circumstances invest in common stocks. All such investment involves risk to a greater or lesser degree. There is a great temptation for someone like yourself to buy stocks in the expectation of seeing your capital increase. There is that possibility, of course, but there is always a definite potential for loss, particularly when you have insufficient funds to diversify. Your money belongs in a savings account where it will be available in full when you need it.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Pollution: A Danger . . .

"Even when cigarette smoking is balanced out", he told the House Commerce Committee, "there is still a 25 per cent urban-rural differential in lung cancer rates", a factor presumtively related to air pollution.

Chronic bronchitis, although almost always associated with cigarette smoking, usually claims its victims in cities where air pollution is a problem. In Britain it is one of the nation's costliest diseases in terms of manpower, money and misery.

Emphysema, a respiratory illness which interferes with breathing and puts an extra load on the heart generally attacks 50 to 70-year-olds, mainly men, who have been heavy smokers all their lives. But, they too frequently live in areas where pollution is a constant problem.

Histo (histoplasmosis) is less known as a respiratory illness but is common to rural areas, especially in the vicinity of poultry farms. It is a lung disease emanating from fungus-bearing dust which stems from spores living in such things as old chicken houses, barns, belfries, pigeon lofts and caves.

The dust comes from accumulated droppings from chickens, starlings and other birds. Among several means of control is the wetting down of chicken excrement before cleaning out chicken houses.

Hay fever attacks people who react to plant pollen and airborne seeds. But, the allergenic substance may be mold spores or animal dander or even the more common material, dust!

Everyone, city or country dweller breathes in a certain amount of polluted air. Bits of matter which are taken in during the breathing process, are generally too small to actually block an airway, but they can still cause trouble.

Bad air should be avoided although it is not always easy when a person's home and job are located in highly polluted areas.

Citizens' action to clear the air by attacking contamination at its sources may be the only real answer to the problem.

The concluding article on air pollution will deal with what citizen groups are doing to promote clean air and what can and cannot be done in the way of legal controls.

Three Buildings Razed by Fire At Cooperstown

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Fire raged through three buildings near this resort community's downtown section late Wednesday and early today, destroying three stores and several apartments.

More than 70 firemen struggled for three hours to confine the flames. Two were injured, apparently not seriously.

Occupants of the building, and the two adjoining two-story frame structures, fled to safety. A small restaurant, a shoe repair shop and a grocery store on the ground floors also were extensively damaged or destroyed.

Firemen said they believed the fire erupted in the basement of the Pic and Pay grocery store and spread to the other buildings. There were reports of several explosions but these were attributed to bursting canned goods in the store.

The buildings are opposite the entrance to Doubleday Field, named for Abner Doubleday, who founded baseball. The Baseball Hall of Fame and Baseball and spread to the other buildaway.

Ferroxcube Workers Union Vote Sept. 29

Thomas J. Sheridan, field examiner of the National Labor Relations Board in Albany, today confirmed a report that the NLRB had ordered an election at Ferroxcube Corp. of America, Saugerties, for Sept. 29.

Sheridan said the election will be held among employes to decide whether they want the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, AFL-CIO, to represent them in collective bargaining.

The election will take place at the plant on Mt. Marion Road and it will be directed and supervised by the regional director. The election will be subject to NLRB rules and regulations.

The results of a previous election held on Nov. 23, 1965, was set aside after hearings before a trial examiner and following an appeal by the union. The second election was ordered.

Successful Investing....

by ROGER E. SPEAR

Investment Advisor & Analyst

Avoid Slow Stocks For Grandson's Future

Q) "I have very little knowledge about investments but I would appreciate some information. I have a ten-month-old grandson and I would like to invest for his future. What is your opinion of these four stocks: Central Illinois Public Service; National Dairy; Sterling Drug; Campbell Soup?" C.E.

A) Your knowledge may be limited but you have excellent judgment or a competent adviser. All your stocks mentioned are of high quality and all can be characterized as growth issues. They differ mainly in their past records and in the rate of expansion that can be reasonably projected into the future. Judged on this basis, my preference would be for Central Illinois P.S. and Sterling Drug — both of which have an excellent record of rising earning and dividends. Campbell Soup and National Dairy are conservative blue chips which in my opinion are rather slow stocks for your objective. In place of these issues, I suggest Avon Products which I believe will build your grandson's capital at a considerably higher rate over the next 15 years.

Q) "I am 70 years old and still working. I have been advised to buy Standard Prudential United and Flying Tiger. I can only afford two or three thousand dollars for investment. Do you think I should take the risk or keep the money in the bank?" M.L.

A) You seem to me to fall into the category of persons who should under no circumstances invest in common stocks. All such investment involves risk to a greater or lesser degree. There is a great temptation for someone like yourself to buy stocks in the expectation of seeing your capital increase. There is that possibility, of course, but there is always a definite potential for loss, particularly when you have insufficient funds to diversify. Your money belongs in a savings account where it will be available in full when you need it.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

New Eye Test May Slow MV License Lines

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A motorist who waits until the last minute to renew his driver's license could find himself at the end of a long waiting line because of a new state law requiring an eye test.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Vincent L. Tofany reported Wednesday that more than half of the 650,000 drivers whose licenses expire on Sept. 30 had not applied yet for renewals.

"As a result, they may face considerable delays when they finally do come into a motor vehicle issuing office to complete the process," Tofany said.

The commissioner said that mail applications for renewal will not be accepted unless they are accompanied by a physician's or optometrist's certificate stating that the motorist meets minimum vision standards, either with or without corrective lenses.

Motorists have the option of obtaining such a certificate on their own or taking an eye examination without charge at license-issuing offices of the department.

Tents Take Over

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The tent dress was responsible for the worst maternity fashion season in 30 years, a Philadelphia maker of dresses for mothers-to-be says.

"Our volume dropped 25 to 30 per cent last season," says dress firm executive Albert Nipon.

Napanoch Reformatory Work Bids Due

Bids will be received on October 11 for construction of a major addition to the administration building at Catskill Reformatory, Napanoch, to provide sorely needed space and to improve administrative and security functions of the institution, Governor Rockefeller announced today.

67-Year-Old Site

"The new building," Governor Rockefeller said, "will mark the first phase of a long-range plan for rehabilitation of this 67-year-old institution and providing new inmate messhalls, kitchen, maintenance shops, auditorium and school."

The new administration building is expected to cost over $650,000; the ultimate cost of all the construction, reconstruction and improvements at the reformatory is estimated to exceed $2.1 million.

The administrative offices and several inmate functions are currently located in the partially open central area of the vast stone building that constituted the original plant when it opened in October, 1900, Governor Rockefeller said. This central area is flanked on either side by a cell block.

The institution, originally designed for less than 500 inmates, has been expanded to accommodate twice that many. Administrative functions, Governor Rockefeller said, are now severely handicapped by a shortage of office space, locations poorly designed for security, and the need for accommodating rehabilitative services that were not even available in the early years of the reformatory.

Governor Rockefeller said that the new building, which will be in front of and connected with the present offices, will embody the latest advances in design and will be so planned that the inmate-visitors room, interview rooms for guidance, parole and psychological examination, and other security rooms are behind a control gate while the remainder of the offices are unbarred and open to the public.

Dec. 31, 1968 Target

Commissioner of Correction Paul D. McGinnis has reported to Governor Rockefeller that as soon as the old offices have been located in the new building, the old office area will be rehabilitated, made more secure and fireproof, and altered for other uses such as offices for the deputy and assistant deputy superintendents, correction officers' locker rooms and assembly room, offices for the three chaplains, the Jewish chapel, rooms for processing newly arrived inmates, and recreation rooms for the inmates of the adjoining cell blocks.

Catskill Reformatory is now a reformatory for slightly over 900 young male offenders. Until July 28, 1966, it had been known as Eastern Correctional Institution and included in its population over 400 mentally retarded offenders. This group has been transferred to a special program at the new Beacon State Institution established in 1966 by legislation recommended by Governor Rockefeller's Special Committee on Criminal Offenders.

Paltz School Construction Reported Ahead of Schedule

Work is progressing on the new senior high school under construction in the New Paltz Central School District and it is expected completion will be well in advance of the target date. Classes are scheduled to start next September in the new building on North Putt Corners Road.

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held last September. Now, one year later almost all of the outside walls have been completed and the steel is in place. Almost all of the floor slabs have been poured including the gymnasium and the auditorium. The boilers are in place, the rough plumbing and electrical work is completed, and the grading of the site in preparation for the roadways and parking areas is in progress. It is anticipated that the roof will be installed within the next couple of weeks so that there should be no delay in construction during the winter months.

With construction scheduled to be completed in the late winter there should be no problem in having the building equipped and in good shape for the opening of classes in September, 1968.

The new building will bring relief to the crowded classrooms in all grades K. through 12. By moving the 9, 10, 11, and 12th grades out of the present central school building along with the kindergarten classes, it will provide plenty of room in that building for grades 4 and 5 now housed in the Duzine School. This, in turn, will open up space in the Duzine School for the kindergartens which will return to full sessions as well as any additional sections of grades 1, 2, and 3 found to be necessary.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — An autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of death of Charles Croisdale, 23, an Argy Sheet Metal Co. employe from Niagara Falls who was found unconscious at a job at the Carborundum Co. Tuesday, authorities said.

Land for Cemetery Purposes Won't Keep Pace With Urbanization

SYRACUSE—Land available for cemetery purposes will not keep pace as urbanization increases in the State, Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo said Tuesday, at the annual banquet of the New York State Association of Cemeteries at the Hotel Syracuse Country House.

Lomenzo, chairman of the Division of Cemeteries, a unit of the Department of State, told the association:

"As urbanization of the state increases, total deaths in areas around cities will also increase. There will not be a corresponding increase in the amount of land available for cemetery purposes, since other forms of land use have higher economic priorities."

Moving to Ulster Area

The Secretary of State noted that "from the New York City area, even now, burials are being made in Ulster and Rockland Counties in the southern section of the State."

Lomenzo quoted a State Office of Planning Coordination forecast that the Nassau-Suffolk County area population will double between now and 1995, and the Mid-Hndson Valley area will increase from one million, to 700 thousand to two million, 800 thousand in 1985.

"Cemeteries in these areas will have to receive not only New York City burials, but also the increased load due to their own population increase and a similar situation should occur in the western part of the state," he stated.

Lomenzo also declared that increasing population, mobility and the lessening of close family ties has led to the loss of interest in the graves of ancestors after a relatvely short period of time.

"Studies by the Division of Cemeteries indicate that unless the cemetery is successful in arranging with the family for perpetual care at the time of burial, with each ensuing year the opportunity to obtain funds for this purpose diminishes," he said.

The Secretary of State also told the members of the Association that he recognizes the fact they are faced with the problems of increased labor and material costs.

Lomenzo cited New York and its metropolitan area where, he said, there is imminent need for a study of funding patterns because many cemeteries are faced with seriously declining current income since less space is available for sale.

Not Imminent Upstate

"Although the funding problem is not as imminent in upstate areas, there is need for development of an adequate pricing and investment program to assure that cemeteries are able to carry on through the years."

Through its Division of Cemeteries, the Department of State carries out the policies of the State Cemetery Board, which regulates half the cemeteries in the state. Besides Lomenzo, the board is composed of the attorney general and commissioner of health.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, West Germany came into formal existence when the Allied high commission transferred to it the administration of American, British and French zones of occupation.

On this date:

In 1792, the French assembly voted to abolish the monarchy.

In 1938, Czechoslovakia announced it had agreed to cede the Sudeten German area of that country to Nazi Germany.

In 1939, Russia and Germany agreed on the demarcation of Poland.

In 1945, President Harry Truman officially approved "World War Two" as the title of the war which had just ended.

Ten years ago A West German sailing vessel sank off the Azores with a loss of 80 lives.

Five years ago — Algerians went to the polls to vote for their first national assembly.

One year ago — U.S. jet pilots downed two Communist MIGs over North Vietnam and damaged three others in the biggest day of air combat of the war so far.

Off Base

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—The delegation of students marched out onto the field to face the pair of military helicopters that had settled there.

"Can we help you?" they asked.

"Yes," one of the pilots said. "Where are we?"

He explained that the two U.S. Army troop-carrying craft had taken off from nearby Norton Air Force Base Monday en route to Stockton, Calif., but turned back because of clouds over the mountains.

Then, he said, they couldn't find the base again.

The Catholic high school's principal, the Rev. Robert J. Magler, telephoned the airbase, and the pilots were instructed to follow a road to the base, which was nearby.

Land for Cemetery Purposes Won't Keep Pace With Urbanization

SYRACUSE—Land available for cemetery purposes will not keep pace as urbanization increases in the State, Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo said Tuesday, at the annual banquet of the New York State Association of Cemeteries at the Hotel Syracuse Country House.

Lomenzo, chairman of the Division of Cemeteries, a unit of the Department of State, told the association:

"As urbanization of the state increases, total deaths in areas around cities will also increase. There will not be a corresponding increase in the amount of land available for cemetery purposes, since other forms of land use have higher economic priorities."

Moving to Ulster Area

The Secretary of State noted that "from the New York City area, even now, burials are being made in Ulster and Rockland Counties in the southern section of the State."

Lomenzo quoted a State Office of Planning Coordination forecast that the Nassau-Suffolk County area population will double between now and 1995, and the Mid-Hndson Valley area will increase from one million, to 700 thousand to two million, 800 thousand in 1985.

"Cemeteries in these areas will have to receive not only New York City burials, but also the increased load due to their own population increase and a similar situation should occur in the western part of the state," he stated.

Lomenzo also declared that increasing population, mobility and the lessening of close family ties has led to the loss of interest in the graves of ancestors after a relatvely short period of time.

"Studies by the Division of Cemeteries indicate that unless the cemetery is successful in arranging with the family for perpetual care at the time of burial, with each ensuing year the opportunity to obtain funds for this purpose diminishes," he said.

The Secretary of State also told the members of the Association that he recognizes the fact they are faced with the problems of increased labor and material costs.

Lomenzo cited New York and its metropolitan area where, he said, there is imminent need for a study of funding patterns because many cemeteries are faced with seriously declining current income since less space is available for sale.

Not Imminent Upstate

"Although the funding problem is not as imminent in upstate areas, there is need for development of an adequate pricing and investment program to assure that cemeteries are able to carry on through the years."

Through its Division of Cemeteries, the Department of State carries out the policies of the State Cemetery Board, which regulates half the cemeteries in the state. Besides Lomenzo, the board is composed of the attorney general and commissioner of health.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, West Germany came into formal existence when the Allied high commission transferred to it the administration of American, British and French zones of occupation.

On this date:

In 1792, the French assembly voted to abolish the monarchy.

In 1938, Czechoslovakia announced it had agreed to cede the Sudeten German area of that country to Nazi Germany.

In 1939, Russia and Germany agreed on the demarcation of Poland.

In 1945, President Harry Truman officially approved "World War Two" as the title of the war which had just ended.

Ten years ago A West German sailing vessel sank off the Azores with a loss of 80 lives.

Five years ago — Algerians went to the polls to vote for their first national assembly.

One year ago — U.S. jet pilots downed two Communist MIGs over North Vietnam and damaged three others in the biggest day of air combat of the war so far.

Off Base

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—The delegation of students marched out onto the field to face the pair of military helicopters that had settled there.

"Can we help you?" they asked.

"Yes," one of the pilots said. "Where are we?"

He explained that the two U.S. Army troop-carrying craft had taken off from nearby Norton Air Force Base Monday en route to Stockton, Calif., but turned back because of clouds over the mountains.

Then, he said, they couldn't find the base again.

The Catholic high school's principal, the Rev. Robert J. Magler, telephoned the airbase, and the pilots were instructed to follow a road to the base, which was nearby.

Our Boys Write From Vietnam

Editor's Note: The Kingston Daily Freeman is privileged to publish letters written to the Ulster County Vietnam's Servicemen's Committee of Ulster Hose Co. No. 5 by Kingston area men serving with the armed forces in Vietnam. We hope in this way we can better let our readers know how our boys in service feel.

L/Cpl. Richard Hobart, USMC writes from Da Nang:

"I finally got around to writing and thanking all of the people of Ulster County for sending me and other servicemen over here these wonderful gifts and packages that help make our tour of duty easier.

"My job over here is guarding the Da Nang Air strip, missle sites and ammo dumps.

"I also run patrols for a tank outfit eight miles south of Da Nang. I have a 90-pound German Shepard whose name is 'Bullet' and to him our patrol owes our lives because more than once he had detected V. C. hidden along the trail ahead of us and also detected numerous 'booby traps' ready to be sprung.

"The dogs are used a lot over here on operations and sweeps and they prove to be very valuable and have saved many lives. After training, these dogs are worth $3,000 and a lot of time and patience have been put into their training. Most of them come from people who have donated them to the Canine Corps.

"I've become quite attached to 'Bullet' and he's the only thing I'm going to miss over here when I leave in December, but I know he's needed more over here than back in the states.

"I'm sure another handler will treat him well and take care of him for me. He will stay over here until the war ends or until he's too old to work, and then his work will be done.

"The old saying 'a dog is man's best friend' couldn't be truer. Any soldier over here who has worked with these wonderful dogs will back it up with all his heart just as I would.

"Again I want to say thanks from me and all the servicemen who haven't had the chance to write. It's great to know that someone besides your family and loved ones care about us over here."

Merritt E. Olsen writes:

"I would like to thank you and all the wonderful people in Kingston and Ulster County for the packages I have received. I know they must have given a lot of their time to this project and it really makes a guy feel good to know that so many people are thinking of the GI's over here.

"Most of the men in the DSP here think it is just great that the people care back home to give so much of their time. As for me, there are no words I could say to express my appreciation for what you have done for all the GI's over here.

"May God bless you all now and in the future. Again I say thanks."

Edward R. Petruski writes:

"I would like to thank each and every one who made it possible for me to receive the packages and newspapers, and a one-year subscription to the Conservationist. I also received five cartons of cigarettes which came in handy.

"I want to thank everyone that contributed to this event. It shows me that the people in Kingson are thinking of the boys in Vietnam.

"I sure hope the rest of the Ulster County servicemen were as proud to receive the items as I was.

"I will leave Vietnam the end of September and arrive in Boston, Mass., late in October. I will then be transferred to Camp Lejeune, N. C. I have plans to take my family with me if possible.

"I sure hope to make it home safe and sound and thank you all personally. Best of luck to your fire company."

• • •

Sp/4 Joseph Sangaline writes:

"I will be leaving Vietnam late this month and I wish to take this opportunity to thank you and the commitee for your thoughfulness and kind consideration in sending packages to the servicemen in Vietnam.

"I can assure you for myself and for many others who, perhaps cannot take the time to write, that they were, indeed welcome packages and they brought cheer and enjoyment with them.

"Allow me to thank you personally for your kindness. I will be leaving on Sep. 24." (Sangaline's home address is RFD 1, Box 289, Kingston.)

• • •

Sp/4 Bruce William Rehmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bagley, 109 Yarmouth Street, writes:

"This is just a line to thank you for your package and the Kingston Daily Freeman. Not every soldier is lucky enough to have people in his home town care while he is away.

"The edible food served as a fine reminder of what I am fighting for as an American. The radio you sent brings many moments of happiness and joy.

"As for the war in Vietnam I won't comment at any length. I'll just say I came over here after a short leave on completion of jump school. This war has helped me to grow up and appreciate my American heritage.

"These people who continually protest should thank God for the fine job our boys are doing."

Adult Courses Are Offered at Rondout Valley

Registration for the fall semester of the 1967-68 adult education program at Rondout Valley Central School will take place next Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 25 and 26, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. in the cafeteria of the Junior-Senior High School.

It is planned to offer 13 courses, with the following to be given on Monday evenings, beginning Oct. 2: Elementary Sewing, Advanced Sewing, Woodworking for Men/Women, Welding I, Conversational French, Conversational Spanish, Basic Reading Course.

On Tuesday evenings, starting Oct. 3, these courses may be taken: High School Equivalency Refresher Course, Americanization for the Foreign Born, Driver Training — Classroom (Road—Saturdays), Seminar in New Math Program, Refinishing New and Old Furniture. Physical Fitness for Men will be offered on Wednesday evenings.

Any person in the district, 18 years of age or older, who is not attending regular high school classes, may enroll for Adult Education courses. Charles Ayasse is director of the program and any one having any questions may call the high school.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Noel Conway was such a good cook, the St. Louis workhouse didn't want to let him go.

The 22-year-old Conway, a former baker, served as workhouse cook while serving a brief term. When he was paroled Wednesday the city hired him as a cook—at the workhouse for $310 a month.

CHARM AND PERSONALITY — That combination as well as proficiency in selling methods and motivation in the presentation of accessories to fit a shoe purchaser are high on the list of credits, says Mac Shapiro of National Shoes Training School. Here he rates a trainee on her ability to tie in hose and handbag to the sale of a pair of shoes. In-store training involves any number of techniques at National, where reliance is placed on actual learning by doing.

Drivers Urged To Check Date On Licenses

With some 350,000 operator licenses expiring at the end of this month, Ulster County Clerk Albert Spada suggested today that all drivers check the expiration date on their licenses in the event that they have not received a punch card renewal application from the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Spada pointed out that the applications were mailed from Albany during the last two weeks of August, but some may have gone astray in the mail because of incomplete or incorrect addresses, or because of a possible error on the renewal card, or a recent change of address.

In cases where no application has been received, the driver should immediately visit the county clerk's office and fill out a DP-120 form. With this, the expiration date of the present license will be extended until the application can be redirected to your home address.

Spada also reminds motorists that they must pass the vision test in order to renew their licenses. The examinations may be made either at his office at Kingston, or by their own oculist, optometrist, ophthalmologist or physician. Many industrial firms also have personnel in their first aid offices qualified to administer the test. To pass, drivers must have at least 20/40 vision in either or both eyes, with or without corrective lenses.

Bergendahl New Adv. Manager For Ferroxcube

SAUGERTIES—The appointment of Thomas A. Bergendahl as advertising manager of Ferroxcube Corporation was announced today by John Turnbull, director of Marketing Services. Turnbull, who formerly held the position of ad manager, noted that Bergendahl will have total responsibility for all advertising, public relations, sales promotion, exhibit and publication activities.

Bergendahl comes to Ferroxcube from the Bendix Semiconductor Division in Holmdel, N. J., where he served as advertising manager. While at Bendix, he served as president of the Management Club for one year.

Originally from Montevideo, Minn., Bergendahl was educated at Tarleton State College, Stephenville, Texas. Bergendahl, his wife and three children will move to West Hurley from Lincroft, N. J., where he was active in civic affairs, serving as president and captain of the Lincroft First Aid and Rescue Squad. He also served as president of the Monmouth County Association of First Aid Squads for two years.

Medicaid Formula Makes Higher Taxes Inevitable

PART III—The finances of medicaid.

By BOB SYKE S
Associated Press Writer

Current taxes pay for medicaid. As costs climb, so do taxes.

Upstate county and city officials — almost to a man — contend the liberal eligibility standards and fixed costs make higher taxes next to inevitable.

Among them is Howard M. Clark, Corning town supervisor, who recently forecast a 42 per cent tax increase on the local level. He blamed medicaid.

Auburn officials said a $7 tax increase in July was twice what the jump would have been without medicaid. They see an even larger boost next year.

Jefferson County Budget Director F. Clark Hamlin, a vigorous medicaid critic, told his board there was only one way to avoid an unreasonable tax increase — cut the fees of doctors and dentists.

"I am certain that all hell will break loose, but I frankly know of no other course of action..." he said.

Every county is preparing a 1968 medicaid budget this is substantially higher than the previous year. Almost every county has had to appropriate supplemental funds for the current year.

Some expect the state - wide medicaid increases to reach at least $150 million in 1968.

Each county and six cities budget for their entire medicaid needs. Under the supervision of the State Department of Social Services, each of these units administers the program. They process applications, and receive, audit and pay bills.

As a rule of thumb, the local unit is reimbursed up to 75 per cent of their costs. The remainder is raised through local real estate and sales taxes.

The rule is deceptive, however, as many local units report they are paying more than 25 per cent. St. Lawrence County figures it share in 1968 will be 28 per cent. Jefferson County calculates its present share at 38 per cent.

Eventual approval of a Constitutional Article on welfare costs may make direct county participation a thing of the past. In Albany last week, delegates to the Constitutional Convention adopted on second reading a proposal that would mandate state financing of welfare costs.

Some county costs are:

Oneida expects medicaid costs for the present year to be about $9.4 million. Anticipated cost for 1968 is $13.5 million.

Otsego estimates current expenditures will total $1.3 million. Next year's budget may be $2.4 million.

Steuben earmarked $1.1 million for medicaid in 1967 and in seven months expended $1.1 million. The county welfare director said about $750,000 would be needed to get through the remainder of this year.

Westchester's 1967 costs should approximate $20.5 million, $3.5 million more than expected.

Tioga, population 43,000, is running 35 per cent over its current budget. It reckons on a $1.5 million budget n 1968.

Chemung may get by on its $2.75 million budget this year but estimates $3.5 million as a minimum for 1968.

Dutchess, including the city of Poughkeepsie, plans on a $2.7 million outlay next year.

Herkimer has spent the bulk of its $1 million appropriation and plans a $2.5 million budget in 1968.

St. Lawrence proposes a $6.25 million budget for 1968, $2.6 million more than last year.

Montgomery County recently upped the current $1 million budget by $700,000 to meet costs.

Chenango appropriated $1.3 million for 1967. It will be in the red by December and must resort to supplementary financing. It projects $1.8 million for 1968.

Yates figured a low 1967 budget of $350,000 would be enough to handle its enrollment. It was not; and $250,000 was added in August. The 1968 estimate is $750,000.

George Baranec, chief deputy commissioner of the Suffolk County Department of Social Services pegs the need at $25 million in 1968, up $8 million from this year.

Saratoga County also resorted to a supplemental appropriation. The original allotment was increased from $450,000 to just under $1 million. It forecasts a $1.8 million budget in 1968.

Ontario appropriated $1 million to cover an estimated 8,000 families. It will need another $100,000 to keep in the black. Its 1968 budget estimate is $1.6 million.

Franklin budgeted $840,000, then added $500,000 as the enrollment climbed to about a quarter of the 45,000 population. Preliminary estimates indicated that 1968 payments may be close to $2 million.

The steadily increasing rolls of medicaid patients are only a part of the problem. Fixed costs are largely responsible for the budget increases, county officials say.

Hamlin says that hospital and nursing home costs account for half of Jefferson County's expenditures. And, since the advent of medicaid, institution rates have risen sharply. The premium fee for one hospital in the county jumped from $32.75 in 1966 to over $48 in 1967, he said.

Baranec blames the increasing cost of medicaid on these fixed charges. "Nursing home bills have gone up sharply, for instance, and may go up further," he says.

In Oneida, Hospital and nursing home bills were $1,733,700 during the five months, March through July. During the same period, doctor and dental bills were $1,489,400.

Pack 19 Meets

The first fall meeting of Cub Pack 19 will be held 7 p. m. Sept. 27 at the Joyce Schrick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The pack participated in an annual picnic at Hutton Park, Cub Day at Camp Tri-Mount and the Ulster County Community Chest kick-off during recent months.

A current project titled Edith reminds Cubs and their parents to have Exit Drills in the Home as a fire safety measure.

$3 Medicare Fee May Be Increased

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's elderly are supposed to find out by Oct. 1 whether the $3 a month they now pay for doctor-bill insurance under medicare will be increased for the coming two years, but the announcement may be delayed.

It was learned the administration is considering asking Congress to extend the date by which John W. Gardner, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, is required to announce the new rate.

Sources said department officials would like to see the date extended until Congress has completed action on medicare provisions in the Social Security bill—probably not until November.

Department officials say many pending medicare proposals could require a rate increase above whatever increase the department might now find necessary.

One proposal, now being hotly debated, would add the cost of prescription drugs to medicare benefits. Administration officials have said this would mean raising the rate by 50 cents to $1. The government contributes an equal amount.

Gardner said last week he is against adding drugs to medicare before he gets a final task force report on the issue next June 1.

The Social Security package, including medicare, has passed the House and now is in the Senate.

An "open enrollment" period of three months is supposed to begin Oct. 1 for elderly persons to join the voluntary doctor-bill insurance plan. But the period would have to be reopened if no extension were provided and the rate had to be changed because of congressional action.

So There, Too

OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — Raymond R. Scott is angry with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. So he has locked himself in the garage of his service station and has been there since Tuesday.

Scott, 51, acted shortly after the federal agency filed a lien against his property. The lien said Scott had failed to pay $797.73 in Social Security and withholding taxes during the fourth quarter of 1966. The agency also tacked a sign to his building warning against tampering or removing goods.

"This is a deliberate setup by me to get an investigation," Scott said, adding that he wants the Internal Revenue Service investigated.

"I'm going to stick in out until something is done," he said. There was no official comment from the government.

Medicaid Formula Makes Higher Taxes Inevitable

PART III—The finances of medicaid:

By BOB SYKES
Associated Press Writer

Current taxes pay for medicaid. As costs climb, so do taxes.

Upstate county and city officials — almost to a man — contend the liberal eligibility standards and fixed costs make higher taxes next to inevitable.

Among them is Howard M. Clark, Corning town supervisor, who recently forecast a 42 per cent tax increase on the local level. He blamed medicaid.

Auburn officials said a $7 tax increase in July was twice what the jump would have been without medicaid. They see an even larger boost next year.

Jefferson County Budget Director F. Clark Hamlin, a vigorous medicaid critic, told his board there was only one way to avoid an unreasonable tax increase — cut the fees of doctors and dentists.

"I am certain that all hell will break loose, but I frankly know of no other course of action..." he said.

Every county is preparing a 1968 medicaid budget this is substantially higher than the previous year. Almost every county has had to appropriate supplemental funds for the current year.

Some expect the state - wide medicaid increases to reach at least $150 million in 1968.

Each county and six cities budget for their entire medicaid needs. Under the supervision of the State Department of Social Services, each of these units administers the program. They process applications, and receive, audit and pay bills.

As a rule of thumb, the local unit is reimbursed up to 75 per cent of their costs. The remainder is raised through local real estate and sales taxes.

The rule is deceptive, however, as many local units report they are paying more than 25 per cent. St. Lawrence County figures it share in 1968 will be 28 per cent. Jefferson County calculates its present share at 38 per cent.

Eventual approval of a Constitutional Article on welfare costs may make direct county participation a thing of the past. In Albany last week, delegates to the Constitutional Convention adopted on second reading a proposal that would mandate state financing of welfare costs.

Some county costs are:

Oneida expects medicaid costs for the present year to be about $9.4 million. Anticipated cost for 1968 is $13.5 million.

Otsego estimates current expenditures will total $1.3 million. Next year's budget may be $2.4 million.

Steuben earmarked $1.1 million for medicaid in 1967 and in seven months expended $1.1 million. The county welfare director said about $750,000 would be needed to get through the remainder of this year.

Westchester's 1967 costs should approximate $20.5 million, $3.5 million more than expected.

Tioga, population 43,000, is running 35 per cent over its current budget. It reckons on a $1.5 million budget n 1968.

Chemung may get by on its $2.75 million budget this year but estimates $3.5 million as a minimum for 1968.

Dutchess, including the city of Poughkeepsie, plans on a $2.7 million outlay next year.

Herkimer has spent the bulk of its $1 million appropriation and plans a $2.5 million budget in 1968.

St. Lawrence proposes a $6.25 million budget for 1968, $2.6 million more than last year.

Montgomery County recently upped the current $1 million budget by $700,000 to meet costs.

Chenango appropriated $1.3 million for 1967. It will be in the red by December and must resort to supplementary financing. It projects $1.8 million for 1968.

Yates figured a low 1967 budget of $350,000 would be enough to handle its enrollment. It was not; and $250,000 was added in August. The 1968 estimate is $750,000.

George Baranec, chief deputy commissioner of the Suffolk County Department of Social Services pegs the need at $25 million in 1968, up $8 million from this year.

Saratoga County also resorted to a supplemental appropriation. The original allotment was increased from $450,000 to just under $1 million. It forecasts a $1.8 million budget in 1968.

Ontario appropriated $1 million to cover an estimated 8,000 families. It will need another $100,000 to keep in the black. Its 1968 budget estimate is $1.6 million.

Franklin budgeted $840,000, then added $500,000 as the enrollment climbed to about a quarter of the 45,000 population. Preliminary estimates indicated that 1968 payments may be close to $2 million.

Wallkill GI Gets Medal In Vietnam

Army Captain Richard W. Powell, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Powell III, and wife, Faye, live on Route 3, Plains Road, Wallkill, was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroism Aug. 16 near Dong Ha, Vietnam.

Capt. Powell earned the medal last March 21 while on a resupply convoy from Dong Ha to Gio Linh, Vietnam. The convoy was attacked by the enemy, who was using explosives and automatic weapons fire.

Because the ensuing fires and secondary explosions completely blocked the road, Capt. Powell gathered the men in his unit and moved them away from the fires, forming them into a defensive unit so they could return the enemy fire.

When word came that the rear elements would try to move back to Dong Ha, the captain took his personnel back towards the fire, turned around undamaged vehicles, and loaded his men on board.

Capt. Powell waited for the last vehicle to Dong Ha so he could continue to supervise and organize the men amidst the confusion of the fires and exploding ammunition.

The captain, commanding officer of Service Battery, 2nd Battalion of the 94th Artillery, entered on active duty in May 1962 and was last assigned in Germany.

Seek Stamps For Wounded

The U. S. Navy Recruiting Station at Albany has recently announced the needs of a newly organized non-profit organization designed to assist U. S. servicemen convalesing in government hospitals.

The organization is known as "Stamps for the Wounded" and encourages every American to do his part in helping the hospitalized serviceman by sending stamps so he can sort and mount them with minimum effort as he lies in a hospital bed.

The organization wants used or unused domestic and foreign stamps (except the common U. S. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5-cent issues); commemorative an revenue stamps; envelopes with special postmarks; first - day covers; first air-mail flights; etc. The servicemen cannot use torn, damaged or defective stamps, TV seals, Boys' Town labels, Easter seals, postage-metered or envelope-embossed stamps.

Any group or individual who would like further information on how he can help these hospitalized servicemen may write to: the National Chairman, Stamps for the Wounded, 230 West 41st Street, New York, N. Y. 10036.

Columnist Is Patient

A long time contributor to the newspaper, Sophie Miller's popular column, "Do You Remember," a collection of past happenings and historical facts of Old Kingston and Ulster County, has a widespread readership which spans the country.

Both present and former Kingstonians alike have shown an avid interest in her writings and consider her an authority on Ulster County history.

Subjects such as Kingston Point Park, the old Skilly Pot, Lyric Theatre, trolly cars, downtown department stores, and Hudson River Dayline have been some of her best loved and best "remembered" topics.

Changing Stripes

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Bill Rentschler decked himself out in one of the convict-striped T-shirts that are the rage among teen-agers in his hometown and went riding through nearby Milton.

Two police officers pegged him for an escaped convict. "But I bought this sairt," protested the 17-year-old from Pace, Fla. The police took him to jail.

Rentschler telephoned his grandmother, whose explanation was enough to free him.

Palestine Refugee Problem

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A problem of humanity that has gone on nearly 20 years—what to do about the Palestine refugees—is growing in the wake of the Middle East war.

It started when the old British-mandated territory of Palestine was partitioned to form a Jewish homeland, now Israel. It reached a climax in the Arab-Israeli war of 1948, when many Arabs were uprooted from their homes.

There were slightly fewer than a million refugees then. Some have found a life of their own, but others have multiplied—there are grandchildren of the original refugees who are refugees now. And their number grew in the war last June, so that today 1,317,000 are registered with the United Nations Relief and Works Agency, or UNRWA.

In June more than 100,000 Arabs crossed the Jordan River into the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. They were joined by perhaps 100,000 more unregistered refugees, Palestinians with settled homes and jobs on the west bank of the Jordan, now occupied by Israel. Some fled to the Gaza Strip, others to Syria.

They drifted into the desert, moved into towns and villages. They doubled up with relatives and imposed on friends to find sleeping room. For weeks and months, the trek continued and it is still going on.

Years of hate and fear, fostered by Arab rulers, are the propelling force for many.

UNRWA must gather the tribe in its separate refugees and carry on with its mission of feeding, educating and nursing.

Some 300,000 are living under Israeli occupation on the west bank of the Jordan. About 420,000 registered refugees and perhaps 100,000 so far unregistered are on the east bank, 400,000 in the Gaza Strip and 150,000 in Syria. Other refugees, in Lebanon, were untouched by the war.

Highland, Marlboro Schools To Share Grant With Others

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today announced that the Highland Central School and the Marlboro Central School are among 26 schools in the State of New York which will share a $500,000 grant from the Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Special Program

The funds, which are distributed under a special program of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, will provide greater educational opportunities for the workers of migratory farm workers.

The project, which will operate on a full schoolday basis, will run from Sept. 1, 1967, through Aug. 31, 1968. Five hundred kindergarten, 3,500 elementary, 700 secondary, and 100 ungraded children will be served by the program. The migrant children will have an opportunity to improve their basic skills in reading, arithmetic, writing and speaking through daily lessons in these areas. The children will receive physical examinations, immunizations and hot lunches.

Bechtold Decries Lack Of Agency Communication

Claiming that there is a "lack of communication" between the executive and legislative branches of Kingston government, C. John Bechtold, Republican - Liberal candidate for Mayor, said that the mayor "should be an effective executive who really listens to what the people are saying," and that "plain old common sense . . . is going to make Kingston an uncommon city."

It was both Bechtold and his alderman-at-large running mate Louis J. Smith who stated that although "Kingston needs executive ability . . . this ability must extend to working with aldermen who, after all, are elected representatives of the people."

Bechtold said, "I don't think you can run a city government efficiently when there is an antagonism and lack of communication between the executive and legislative branches."

Smith believed that, "We need better, faster, more responsive ways of getting information to and from the people," and that, because it will be the people who elect the mayor, "it's . . . his (the Mayor's) responsibility to tell them what he's doing."

'Essential . . . Communication'

Republican-Liberal Bechtold said that it was "essential . . . that the Mayor establish close communication between his office and the various city agencies and departments and, of course, he should encourage good working relationships between the departments themselves."

Asked if the communications problem weren't almost a full-time job in itself, Bechtold said, "Of course it's a difficult problem, as we've seen, but Mr. Smith, my running mate, is going to be a full-time alderman-at-large and I expect him to handle a lot of the legwork that will be involved."

Smith said that, "We're going to work at it full-time and if we work as hard as the majority of our citizens do, then I'm confident we can handle the job."

"You know," Bechtold added, "as a life-long resident of this city, I know that Kingston is capable of achieving much more than it has, but only if city government provides a climate of encouragement and active assistance to citizens who want to help.

"I think we have to gain the respect of the business community by showing them we can be businesslike in city government," added the mayoral candidate.

Not Just Plans

"That means not just making plans," said Smith, "but reviewing those plans, with the people, periodically, and reporting on our performance."

Believing that having the respect of the business community will attract new business, Bechtold said, "New business, and expansion of our present ones, are a must if we're going to broaden our tax base so that we can provide the services a growing city needs."

Bechtold concluded by saying, "There's no getting around it, if you're going to provide the services a modern city government should provide, and attract the high caliber people needed to perform those services, you have to broaden the tax base. The individual homeowner can't be expected to support the City single-handedly, and neither can the individual businessman."

Zip Coding, Chest Topics At Club Meet

The Kingston Lions Club heard two appeals from local civic leaders at its regular luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk offered better postal service to the 40,000 postal patrons served by the local post office if his plea for full cooperation in full use of zip-coding of mail is heeded. The postmaster outlined briefly the history of zip coding, pointing out that the U. S. Postal Department devised this system for more efficient handling of the "mail explosion" that is taking place in this country. Locally, he said, Kingston is adding to this explosion with 300,000 pieces of mail daily.

Charles Raible, vice-president of Rotron, Inc., and last year's chairman of Ulster County Community Chest, hailed the part The Kingston Lions Club has played in the past—including its vital part in organizing a community chest and its continuing contributions of both money and manpower. He challenged local Lions to get "totally on board" again this year as the 13-member Chest organization aims at its $320,000 goal.

The speakers were introduced by Program Chairman George Svirsky.

Applegrowers Continue Withholding New Crop

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Militant apple-growers plan to continue refusing delivery of apples to plants and to set up plant "gatewatchers" in two key moves in their demands for better prices from processors.

The delivery refusal to plants would continue until Monday night "at least" at which time other steps might be taken, the meeting at the Farm and Home Center decided Wednesday. "Gate-watchers" at processing plants to persuade trucks bringing in apples to turn back would be established also, they said.

The apple-growers seek a minimum of $4.50 per hundred weight for Class A variety 2½-inch-and-up apples. C. R. Nesbitt, of Albion, chairman of the New York Farm Bureau Marketing Cooperative, called the processors offers "token increases" earlier. He reiterated, when the situation appeared stalemated later, that the increase offer from two processors came "because they aren't getting any apples from us."

The offers made by Duffy-Mott Inc. in Monroe County and the Comstock Co. in Wayne County exceeded their previous offers by about 50 cents. Before, the firms were offering last year's price, about $1.25 less than asked, a spokesman said.

Deer Permits Case Resolved

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — The State Conservation Department has received court permission to resume processing permits to hunt anterless deer in the Moose River Plains area of Herkimer and Hamilton counties.

That authority was granted Wednesday in State Supreme Court by Justice Francis Moran, who reserved decision on whether the actual hunting of anterless deer would be permitted.

Permit issuing was stopped earlier this month under terms of a court order gained by the State White Tail Deer Association. That organization argued that the Moose River Plains area is lined with state-maintained roads and thus is not a wilderness area where such permits may be used.

Moran also ordered the department to support its contention that overbrowsing by deer dictated its decision to issue 7,000 permits this year, as compared to 1,600 last year.

Traveling Turtle

The turtle is proverbially one of the slowest of all animals and there is justification for this reputation, especially for some land forms. Yet a species of green turtle has been known to swim 300 miles in 10 days, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Anti-Coronary Club Will Meet Sept. 26

A meeting of the Kingston Anti-Coronary Club will be held Tuesday, Sept. 26, at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School at 8 p. m. Raymond Meyers, president, urges all members and prospective members to be present. The program for the current year will be formulated.

Dr. Harold L. Rakov, project director of the local Anti-Coronary Club, states that no one isolated agent but several interrelated factors are responsible for the increased risk of developing heart attacks. "Our project is designed to put into practical use knowledge relating to diet, smoking, physical and emotional fitness. It is a community level project conducted at minimum expense with medical supervision in an attempt to prevent or retard coronary heart disease," he added.

Applicants for the project must have the authority of their own physician based on a preliminary physical examination. Men between the ages of 30 and 60 are eligible. The project is preventive and not remedial. It is limited to those who are known not to have heart disease.

Clinic Scheduled

A Child Health Conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway, Kingston, on Tuesday, Sept. 26, from 9:30-10:30 a.m.

These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

In order to avoid overcrowded clinics, an appointment is required for admission to these clinics. The public health nurse may be contacted for an appointment at the Ulster County Health Department between 9 and 10 a.m., Monday through Friday.

Skunk Invaders

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — Armed with 12-gauge shotguns, patrolmen drive around the city in the dead of night, checking areas where invaders have been reported.

"The patrol got seven in one night," Lt. Willard Irwin said. "They've killed about 30 or 40 this fall."

The invaders are skunks.

The patrol has been under way for 10 years but Irwin said there are more skunks this year.

Irwin said he believes the skunks come in out of the dry woods to dig in lawns for food and will leave "as soon as the snow flies."

Highland, Marlboro Schools To Share Grant With Others

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today announced that the Highland Central School and the Marlboro Central School are among 26 schools in the State of New York which will share a $500,000 grant from the Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Special Program

The funds, which are distributed under a special program of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, will provide greater educational opportunities for the workers of migratory farm workers.

The project, which will operate on a full schoolday basis, will run from Sept. 1, 1967, through Aug. 31, 1968. Five hundred kindergarten, 3,500 elementary, 700 secondary, and 100 ungraded children will be served by the program. The migrant children will have an opportunity to improve their basic skills in reading, arithmetic, writing and speaking through daily lessons in these areas. The children will receive physical examinations, immunizations and hot lunches.

Bechtold Decries Lack Of Agency Communication

Claiming that there is a "lack of communication" between the executive and legislative branches of Kingston government, C. John Bechtold, Republican - Liberal candidate for Mayor, said that the mayor "should be an effective executive who really listens to what the people are saying," and that "plain old common sense . . . is going to make Kingston an uncommon city."

It was both Bechtold and his alderman-at-large running mate Louis J. Smith who stated that although "Kingston needs executive ability . . . this ability must extend to working with aldermen who, after all, are elected representatives of the people."

Bechtold said, "I don't think you can run a city government efficiently when there is an antagonism and lack of communication between the executive and legislative branches."

Smith believed that, "We need better, faster, more responsive ways of getting information to and from the people," and that, because it will be the people who elect the mayor, "it's . . . his (the Mayor's) responsibility to tell them what he's doing."

'Essential . . . Communication'

Republican-Liberal Bechtold said that it was "essential . . . that the Mayor establish close communication between his office and the various city agencies and departments and, of course, he should encourage good working relationships between the departments themselves."

Asked if the communications problem weren't almost a full-time job in itself, Bechtold said, "Of course it's a difficult problem, as we've seen, but Mr. Smith, my running mate, is going to be a full-time alderman-at-large and I expect him to handle a lot of the legwork that will be involved."

Smith said that, "We're going to work at it full-time and if we work as hard as the majority of our citizens do, then I'm confident we can handle the job."

"You know," Bechtold added, "as a life-long resident of this city, I know that Kingston is capable of achieving much more than it has, but only if city government provides a climate of encouragement and active assistance to citizens who want to help.

"I think we have to gain the respect of the business community by showing them we can be businesslike in city government," added the mayoral candidate.

Not Just Plans

"That means not just making plans," said Smith, "but reviewing those plans, with the people, periodically, and reporting on our performance."

Believing that having the respect of the business community will attract new business, Bechtold said, "New business, and expansion of our present ones, are a must if we're going to broaden our tax base so that we can provide the services a growing city needs."

Bechtold concluded by saying, "There's no getting around it, if you're going to provide the services a modern city government should provide, and attract the high caliber people needed to perform those services, you have to broaden the tax base. The individual homeowner can't be expected to support the City single-handedly, and neither can the individual businessman."

Zip Coding, Chest Topics At Club Meet

The Kingston Lions Club heard two appeals from local civic leaders at its regular luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk offered better postal service to the 40,000 postal patrons served by the local post office if his plea for full cooperation in full use of zip-coding of mail is heeded. The postmaster outlined briefly the history of zip coding, pointing out that the U. S. Postal Department devised this system for more efficient handling of the "mail explosion" that is taking place in this country. Locally, he said, Kingston is adding to this explosion with 300,000 pieces of mail daily.

Charles Raible, vice-president of Rotron, Inc., and last year's chairman of Ulster County Community Chest, hailed the part The Kingston Lions Club has played in the past—including its vital part in organizing a community chest and its continuing contributions of both money and manpower. He challenged local Lions to get "totally on board" again this year as the 13-member Chest organization aims at its $320,000 goal.

The speakers were introduced by Program Chairman George Svirsky.

Applegrowers Continue Withholding New Crop

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Militant apple-growers plan to continue refusing delivery of apples to plants and to set up plant "gatewatchers" in two key moves in their demands for better prices from processors.

The delivery refusal to plants would continue until Monday night "at least" at which time other steps might be taken, the meeting at the Farm and Home Center decided Wednesday. "Gate-watchers" at processing plants to persuade trucks bringing in apples to turn back would be established also, they said.

The apple-growers seek a minimum of $4.50 per hundred weight for Class A variety 2½-inch-and-up apples. C. R. Nesbitt, of Albion, chairman of the New York Farm Bureau Marketing Cooperative, called the processors offers "token increases" earlier. He reiterated, when the situation appeared stalemated later, that the increase offer from two processors came "because they aren't getting any apples from us."

The offers made by Duffy-Mott Inc. in Monroe County and the Comstock Co. in Wayne County exceeded their previous offers by about 50 cents. Before, the firms were offering last year's price, about $1.25 less than asked, a spokesman said.

Deer Permits Case Resolved

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — The State Conservation Department has received court permission to resume processing permits to hunt anterless deer in the Moose River Plains area of Herkimer and Hamilton counties.

That authority was granted Wednesday in State Supreme Court by Justice Francis Moran, who reserved decision on whether the actual hunting of anterless deer would be permitted.

Permit issuing was stopped earlier this month under terms of a court order gained by the State White Tail Deer Association. That organization argued that the Moose River Plains area is lined with state-maintained roads and thus is not a wilderness area where such permits may be used.

Moran also ordered the department to support its contention that overbrowsing by deer dictated its decision to issue 7,000 permits this year, as compared to 1,600 last year.

Traveling Turtle

The turtle is proverbially one of the slowest of all animals and there is justification for this reputation, especially for some land forms. Yet a species of green turtle has been known to swim 300 miles in 10 days, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Anti-Coronary Club Will Meet Sept. 26

A meeting of the Kingston Anti-Coronary Club will be held Tuesday, Sept. 26, at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School at 8 p. m. Raymond Meyers, president, urges all members and prospective members to be present. The program for the current year will be formulated.

Dr. Harold L. Rakov, project director of the local Anti-Coronary Club, states that no one isolated agent but several interrelated factors are responsible for the increased risk of developing heart attacks. "Our project is designed to put into practical use knowledge relating to diet, smoking, physical and emotional fitness. It is a community level project conducted at minimum expense with medical supervision in an attempt to prevent or retard coronary heart disease," he added.

Applicants for the project must have the authority of their own physician based on a preliminary physical examination. Men between the ages of 30 and 60 are eligible. The project is preventive and not remedial. It is limited to those who are known not to have heart disease.

Clinic Scheduled

A Child Health Conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway, Kingston, on Tuesday, Sept. 26, from 9:30-10:30 a.m.

These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

In order to avoid overcrowded clinics, an appointment is required for admission to these clinics. The public health nurse may be contacted for an appointment at the Ulster County Health Department between 9 and 10 a.m., Monday through Friday.

Skunk Invaders

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — Armed with 12-gauge shotguns, patrolmen drive around the city in the dead of night, checking areas where invaders have been reported.

"The patrol got seven in one night," Lt. Willard Irwin said. "They've killed about 30 or 40 this fall."

The invaders are skunks.

The patrol has been under way for 10 years but Irwin said there are more skunks this year.

Irwin said he believes the skunks come in out of the dry woods to dig in lawns for food and will leave "as soon as the snow flies."

MRS. THOMAS M. TIERNEY
(Lakeside Studio)

The Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen, was the setting Saturday, Sept. 16, for the wedding of Miss Linda Mae Klippel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Klippel, 180 Doris Street, Port Ewen, to A 2/c Thomas Michael Tierney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Tierney, 61 Smith Avenue, this city.

The Rev. John Murphy, CSsR, performed the double ring ceremony. The Rev. Daniel L. Ogden of Port Ewen Reformed Church gave the blessing and benediction. Miss Rita Horvers sang traditional wedding selections, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Diane Montifia. Basket arrangements of white gladioli and pompons decorated the Church. Satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white worsted and silk, styled with a beaded stand-away collar and cuffs. The redingote skirt was chapel length. A crown of waxed orange blossoms, which had been worn by the bride's mother, was secured to a silk illusion veil. The bride carried a formal cascade bouquet of white carnations and ivy centered with a white orchid.

Miss Robin Radel was flower girl. She wore a white organza frock with a headpiece of persimmon flowers and carried a fireside basket of yellow and burnt orange pompons.

Raymond Radel, St. George Court, Kingston, was best man. Ushers were George Sisco, cousin of the bridegroom, Elmendorf Drive, Kingston, and Herbert B. Klippel, brother of the bride, 180 Doris Street, Port Ewen.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School and Vassar Brothers Hospital School of Nursing, was employed on the staff of Massachusetts General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tierney will reside at Ellsworth Air Force Base, South Dakota.

MRS. THERON W. SNYDER

Miss Annie P. Jordan and Theron W. Snyder were united in marriage Saturday, Sept. 2, at Shiloh Baptist Church, Ellenville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Jordan, 182 Center Street, Ellenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jeanette Snyder, Kingston.

The Rev. Lucius Jenkins officiated at the wedding ceremony. After the service a reception was held at the Wayside Inn, Ellenville.

The bride wore a floor-length gown which featured a cardinal coat of Chantilly lace, styled with a scalloped front over bouquet taffeta, and had long pointed sleeves. She wore a fingertip veil and carried a cascade bouquet of miniature white carnations.

Miss Carolyn Jordan, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Attendants were Miss Eunice Jordan, Ellenville; Miss Betty Jackson, Ellenville; Mrs. Lucille Lane, Ellenville.

Donald Snyder, Kingston, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Charles Williams, Kingston; Albert McClinton, Kingston; John McClinton, Kingston.

Mrs. Snyder is a graduate of Ellenville Central School and is now employed at Channel Master Corp., Ellenville.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, served three years in the U. S. Army Airborne, and is now employed at Channel Master Corp., Ellenville.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will return to reside in Kingston.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES A. HOEHING
(Lakeside Studio)

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Acting Deputy Chief of Police and Mrs. Charles A. Hoehing, 303 East Chester Street, Kingston, were feted at a surprise silver anniversary party Sunday, Sept. 10, at the Capri "400" restaurant, Port Ewen. The party was given by their children, Jayne and Charles Jr., Kingston, and Kathryn Hoehing Schlichter and her husband, Keith, Eddyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoehing were married Sept. 13, 1942, in St. Mary's Church, Kingston, by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Benjamin C. Roth. Mrs. Hoehing is the former Ida Mazzuca, daughter of Mrs. John Mazzuca, 65 Hutton Street, Kingston, and the late John Mazzuca. Mr. Hoehing is the son of Mrs. Jane Hoehing Scafidi and the late William Hoehing.

Mr. Hoehing has been a member of the Kingston Police Department for 20 years. He served with the 156 Artillery Battalion, 44th Division, in World War II. He was First Sergeant for five years and was discharged in 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoehing are the grandparents of Kristine and Kathleen Schlichter, Eddyville.

Approximately 125 relatives and friends joined in wishing the couple many more years of happiness at the anniversary celebration dinner and dance.

Members of the original bridal party attended and were seated with the honored couple at the main table. They were Mrs. Connie Mitchell Natalie, honor attendant; Mrs. Angie Carrado Winter, attendant; Alfred Mazzuca, best man and brother of Mrs. Hoehing; Louis Charmello, usher. Michael Mazzuca, another brother of Mrs. Hoehing, was also in attendance.

Patricia Miles Exchanges Nuptial Vows With David Burns

St. Peter's Church, Kingston, was the setting Sunday, Sept. 10, for the marriage of Miss Patricia Ann Miles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Miles, 144 West O'Reilly Street, this city, to David William Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Burns Jr., 143 Main Street, Kingston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of eggshell crepe with rolled collar and wide three-quarter length sleeves with rolled cuffs. An A-line skirt fell from the empire waistline which was encircled with re-embroidered lace, featuring an attached floor length shirred chiffon cape. Her three tiered shoulder length illusion veil was attached to a circlet headpiece of lace, matching that of the gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Thomas Miles, sister-in-law of the bride, Dover, Del., was matron of honor. She wore a full length gown of metallic gold and lime green lace over taffeta. Her headpiece was a leaf cap with circlet veil of lime green matching the gown. She carried a cascade of yellow roses tied with lime green satin ribbon.

Mrs. Dennis Kline, Kingston, cousin of the bride, was attendant. Her gown, headpiece and cascade bouquet were identical to that of the matron of honor.

Arthur J. Burns III, Hurley, was best man for his brother. Richard Rausch, Rensselaer, and Dennis Kline, Kingston, were ushers.

After the wedding a reception for more than 100 guests was held at the Alpine Restaurant.

For her wedding trip to the southern states, the bride selected a two-piece gold and brown ensemble with matching accessories and a corstage of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns will reside at 9543-A 28th Bay Street, Norfolk, Va.

Doing the Right Thing

A COCKTAIL PARTY QUIZ

Whether you drink cocktails or not, the chances are that from time to time you attend cocktail parties, and should know the right thing to do. The following story contains 10 errors, some on the part of the hostess, and some on the part of the guests. See if you can spot them.

Molly and Jack Barnes received an invitation to a cocktail party from Franny and Bill Jones. There was an R.s.v.p. in the corner, but Molly didn't answer because as she said, "It's such a big party it won't matter whether we go or not." When they arrived, the Joneses were chatting with guests and failed to greet the Barnes. Seeing no one they knew, Molly and Jack stood alone and talked to each other, their host behind it, busily helping the bartender. With their drinks in hand, they wandered about looking for familiar faces.

Hors d'oeuvres were passed, and Molly speared a shrimp with a toothpick, which she then dropped back on the tray. She was dismayed to find that the little pastries passed on another tray stained her new white kid gloves. While she was attempting to cope with hors d'oeuvres, cigarette, and cocktail, Franny Jones came up with a gay greeting and extended her hand. Molly, in her effort to free her hand to take Franny's, dropped her cigarette on the linoleum floor and stepped on it quickly to avoid a scorch mark.

To insure his party's success, Mr. Jones instructed his bartender to make all drinks "doubles." His idea was successful; although the invitations read "from 5 to 7" the last guest didn't leave the house until midnight.

The 10 mistakes were:

1. One must answer all invitations which say R.s.v.p.
2. The hosts should watch for, and greet, all arrivals.
3. Molly and Jack should have introduced themselves and talked to anyone they wished.
4. The host should circulate—that's why he hires a bartender.
5. Used toothpicks are not put back on the tray. Find an ash tray or other receptacle.
6. Molly should have removed her gloves before eating hors d'oeuvres.
7. Don't try to shake hands with anyone whose hands are full.
8. One does not drop a cigarette on the floor, no matter what the surface.
9. It is not advisable to serve extra-strong drinks at a party.
10. Guests should leave within a half hour or so of the time stated on the invitation.

Josh White Jr. at HVCC Traditional Homecoming Fete

Josh White Jr. in concert will be the kickoff event for Hudson Valley Community College's traditional Homecoming Weekend honoring alumni Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. The appearance of the well-known folk music star, son of the immortal Josh White will be held on the campus in Hudson Hall beginning at 7:30 p.m. The concert will be open to the public with tickets available at the door.

Saturday's festivities will move to the Crooked Lake Hotel for a semi-formal dance. Two orchestras will provide continuous music for listening and dancing. Highlight of the evening will be the coronation of the Homecoming Weekend queen. The queen will be dually honored receiving her crown from College President James J. Fitzgibbons and outstanding alumnus Joseph Casey.

Sunday a picnic will be held.

Josh White Jr. began his career in show business 19 years ago when a single amber spotlight focused upon his articulate fingers as he played the introduction to "One Meat Ball." During his early years, Josh Jr. studied at New York's Professional Children's School. His weekends and summers were spent further developing his artistry and increasingly frequent appearances with his father. In 1961, Josh Jr.'s talent demanded that he be presented in his own right, first as a club performer and then as a concert artist. He has since appeared in clubs and concerts throughout the states and Europe and recently returned from an extensive tour of England and the Scandinavian countries.

An extremely versatile performer he has played dramatic roles in five Broadway shows. Television audiences will recall his dramatic and variety appearances on such network programs as Hootenanny, Ben Jarod, Armstrong Circle Theater, Mike Douglas Show, Today Show, Steve Allen Show and Mike Wallace. In addition to his ever increasing number of solo appearances, Josh White Jr. has been presented in concert with such outstanding attractions as the Henry Mancini Orchestra and the Glenn Miller Band. He recently recorded his first solo album, "I'm On My Own Way," for Mercury records.

Osterhoudt-Squier Nuptials Are Told

Miss Sharon Osterhoudt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jansen Osterhoudt, Accord, and Roger S. Squier, son of Carl Squier, Accord, and Mrs. Evelyn Squier, Kingston, were married Saturday, Sept. 16, at the Rochester Reformed Church, Accord.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Milford Ebert and Lucy Ebert, both of Accord, were best man and maid of honor.

After the wedding a reception was held at Hillside Restaurant, Accord.

When the couple return from their wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mass., they will reside on Shady Lane, Hurley.

St. Rose Will Hold College Program

The annual College Day Program at the College of Saint Rose, Albany, Sunday, Sept. 24, will offer area high school juniors and seniors a chance to study the college and its liberal arts program. Guidance counselors, teachers, and parents are invited. Registration will be held at 1 p. m. in St. Joseph Hall, 985 Madison Avenue.

Sister Therese, C.S.J., academic dean, will welcome the group. The program will include entertainment, tours of the campus, and group interviews with the faculty. In charge of arrangements is Sister Mary Thomas, director of admissions.

PLENTY OF POTATOES AND CABBAGE THIS FALL

Shoppers who count heavily on potatoes and cabbage in family meals will be happy to learn that both vegetables will be abundant this fall, says Louise M. Kakargo, Extension Home Economist. Prospects for the fall crop of potatoes and cabbage are above a year ago and both vegetables are expected to be economical choices in the months ahead. Potatoes and cabbage are both available year around, but it is the important fall crop of each vegetable that makes up a large part of the supplies during fall and winter.

Home storage can affect cooking quality—A few days exposure to light will cause the potato's surface to turn green. This discoloration may cause a slightly bitter flavor to potatoes. Long storage below 40° F. turns potato starch to sugars, causing a sweet taste when cooked. Use a cool, dark, dry place that is well ventilated for home storage, not the refrigerator.

Keys to cabbage quality—Look for solid, firm heads that are relatively heavy for their size. There should be a few outside wrapper leaves left on the head. Soft heads will be of poor quality. Leaves should be fresh, crisp, and of good color for the variety. Store fresh cabbage in a covered container in the refrigerator.

Some cabbage already shredded and packaged is marketed for cole slaw. The cost for this convenience is high. Budget-minded shoppers would do better to buy cabbage by the head and shred it at home.

Cornell research promises new storage possibilities.—Professor F. M. Isenberg of Cornell University reports that research is in progress on controlled atmosphere storage of cabbage. As with apples, the heads are placed in an atmosphere of carbon dioxide in gas tight storage especially made for this purpose. After a winter in this atmosphere, cabbage heads are just as green, crisp, and sweet as when they went in, and do not deteriorate any more rapidly after removal from storage than would fresh cabbage. This method of storage is not yet perfected sufficiently for commercial use but may be something to look forward to in the future.

The Rev. Willard D. Crunkilton, formerly pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Kingston for five years, was married to Mrs. William Snyder, Canton, Pa., Friday, Sept. 15, at 1:30 p. m.

While the pastor was serving here Mrs. Crunkilton had died of cancer.

Since December of 1966 the Rev. Mr. Crunkilton has been the Alliance pastor in Canton, Pa.

The Rev. Mr. Crunkilton entertained the wedding party, which included the host pastor and his wife, at a Harrisburg hotel, with a dinner party previous to the ceremony.

After spending a week in Washington, D. C., the couple plan to visit a few days in Ohio, then go to Niagara Falls where the Rev. Mr. Crunkilton had served a church for five years.

Returning, they plan to visit friends in Kingston, and he will get acquainted with his newest grandson, born to his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meyer, Hillsdale.

On Sept. 30 they will return to Canton, where they will live in the parsonage located at 230 Troy Street. Adjoining property has recently been purchased and it is expected that the couple will shortly move to this home.

An "Open House" will be held Sunday evening, Oct. 8 after the evening service, for friends and parishioners.

Club Notices

MRS. THOMAS M. TIERNEY
(Lakeside Studio)

The Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen, was the setting Saturday, Sept. 16, for the wedding of Miss Linda Mae Klippel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Klippel, 180 Doris Street, Port Ewen, to A 2/c Thomas Michael Tierney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Tierney, 61 Smith Avenue, this city.

The Rev. John Murphy, CSsR, performed the double ring ceremony. The Rev. Daniel L. Ogden of Port Ewen Reformed Church gave the blessing and benediction. Miss Rita Horvers sang traditional wedding selections, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Diane Montifia. Basket arrangements of white gladioli and pompons decorated the Church. Satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white worsted and silk, styled with a beaded stand-away collar and cuffs. The redingote skirt was chapel length. A crown of waxed orange blossoms, which had been worn by the bride's mother, was secured to a silk illusion veil. The bride carried a formal cascade bouquet of white carnations and ivy centered with a white orchid.

Miss Robin Radel was flower girl. She wore a white organza frock with a headpiece of persimmon flowers and carried a fireside basket of yellow and burnt orange pompons.

Raymond Radel, St. George Court, Kingston, was best man. Ushers were George Sisco, cousin of the bridegroom, Elmendorf Drive, Kingston, and Herbert B. Klippel, brother of the bride, 180 Doris Street, Port Ewen.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School and Vassar Brothers Hospital School of Nursing, was employed on the staff of Massachusetts General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tierney will reside at Ellsworth Air Force Base, South Dakota.

Son of Area Couple Appointed Assistant Professor at UNC

Dr. Allen M. Feinberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Feinberg, 17 Tinker Street, Woodstock, has been appointed an assistant professor of psychology in the University of North Carolina Department of Psychology and the UNC School of Medicine's Department of Psychiatry, Chapel Hill, N.C.

For the past year, he has been a post-doctoral fellow in clinical psychology.

He is a graduate of Brandeis University, earned a Master's degree at the New School for Social Research, New York City, and in 1966 completed work at Florida State University, Tallahassee, for his doctorate.

Dr. Feinberg's primary research interests are in conditioning procedures useful in psychotherapy and the effects of ionizing radiation on behavior.

He is married to the former Marilyn D. Frey, daughter of Mrs. Maurice Frey, Collins Avenue, Miami Beach, Fla.

Dr. and Mrs. Feinberg have one son, six-month-old Matthew Jon Feinberg.

Teen Fashions: Short, Snappy

Fashion's in motion on the teen scene for back-to-school wear this fall, reports the national Cotton Council. Short and snappy are the key words, but there's more of a fresh-scrubbed look than in season's past.

While the mini-length dress remains popular, it, too, has been modified by the addition of matching pantaloons showing a few inches below the shortened hemlines.

The "little girl" look comes on the scene in the form of a baby doll dress with abbreviated waist-length pinafore in contrasting white. Buttons and bows are added for brightening and accenting on many of the darker prints.

Fabric-wise, the washables and wearables are in the greatest number. Cottons, boasting new finishes to keep their crisp and fresh looks, are in the forefront of fashion. They're seen in a wide range of new-looking prints checks. Stripes, plaids and solids with colors running the gamut from subdued tones to brights.

In the accessories line, textured and patterned hose rise up to meet the shorter hemlines or stop just below the knee. Shoes are low with squared-off toes and scaled-down bags swinging from shoulder straps are favorites.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To save on our budget and when we don't have time to take our small boys to the barber, we trim their hair above their ears so they will look nice for a special occasion. This partial trim looks fine until we can get them to the barber for regular hair cuts.

Being afraid of poking them with the sharp points of the scissors, I found that wrapping each point with adhesive tape does away with the danger of sticking the child while trimming his hair.

Dear Heloise:

A few years ago, while brushing my teeth, I noticed that that last trace of lipstick, which is so hard to remove, had disappeared.

Now I use toothpaste all the time to remove lipstick from my lips. It also tastes good, too.

Recently when my two-year-old came in with lipstick all over her face, I had the answer. I put a dab of toothpaste on a wash cloth and the lipstick was gone in seconds with no painful scrubbing on my baby's tender skin.

Marti Hollis

Dear Marti:

I can't figure out why in the world this works but it does.

I put lipstick on the back of my hand and then rubbed it with some toothpaste and it came right off. After all, it it's tender enough for gums, it shouldn't hurt our skin.

Thank you from, not only me, but all our mothers who have little kiddies who get into our lipstick . . .

Dear Heloise:

When framing pictures I always glued paper to the back of the framed picture.

Dear Heloise:

We had an odor in our refrigerator all summer, and finally found out we had an accumulation in this little pan. A paper milk carton had leaked and we had scrubbed everywhere except this drip pan.

Mrs. M. B. L.

• • •

And you are, oh, so right. Many people do not even know that this pan must be cleaned from time to time.

Heloise..

Dear Heloise:

I found another good use for those plastic tubs that soft margarine comes in now.

After heating my toddler's food, which all mothers at some time or other get too hot, I just pour it in one of those plastic tubs. It cools quickly after stirring around.

After the child has finished eating, these plastic tubs can be discarded.

Also, if the baby does not finish his food immediately, all I do is put the lid on and place it in the refrigerator until he gets hungry again.

His Life May Depend on It

Stress Communication

DETROIT (AP) — Help your child be a good communicator. His life may depend on it.

The way he learns to communicate as a child determnes how he'll solve problems when he's grown up, says Dr. Randall P. Harrison, a specialist in communications at Michigan State University.

"Communication, the passing of information from one person to another, is the key to how your child gets information about the world, how he responds to the world and how people respond to him," he explains.

Communication is also an important key to mental health.

Communications breakdown in the family can lead to severe emotional problems—a schizophrenic child, perhaps.

Researchers estimate that at least two-thirds of our person-to-person communication is wordless: A tightening of the jaw, a stern look, the clothes you are wearing.

As many as a dozen different "code systems" have been isolated systems in which a stimulus, such as a sound, can be translated into different meanings.

The words we use make up the best known code: linguistics. Other codes use gestures, tastes and smells.

Different cultures have different patterns of communication. So do the different small groups within a broader culture.

Your child's earliest communication experience can "set" him for life. The most basic things he learns as a baby can identify him with your sub-culture and set him apart from another.

"Infants the world around babble alike—at first. But very soon, before they speak, they start making the distinctive sounds of their language," Dr. Harrison observes.

In fact, the infant "overlearns" such sounds. He learns so thoroughly that he has difficulty pronouncing and hearing basic sounds of other languages.

"What happens in the linguistic area happens across the board in other code areas." Harrison says. By marking a person for life, this learning can separate one religious group from another, the upper middle class from a low-income subgroup, the Bostonian from the Chicagoan.

Sometimes a child can overcome these overlearned basics by successfully learning to use the code system of another subgroup. He may move up in the world because he has crashed important communications barriers.

Parents help their children learn to communicate by being good communicators. One way to begin is by using communications to reward a child when you're sure he's got your message.

A smile, a pat on the shoulder or a hug can communicate to him that he understood you.

"My hunch is that a youngster does certain things and gets reinforced for them," he says. "If he tries something and it is successful he keeps it in his repertoire.,'

How can parents be better communicators? And how can you avoid a communications breakdown in your own family? Here are some suggestions:

Be sure symbols mean the same thing. You and your child are talking about a "cat." You've agreed on the symbol, but you still may be talking about something different. You've got a pure Siamese in mind. He's thinking of an alley cat. You're not communicating.

Remember that "meanings are in people." Fire will mean pain to the child who has been badly burned. But it will mean love and companionship to the child who remembers toasting marshmallows around the fireplace.

People interpret things according to their experience. You must be aware of how you interpret things and take care to understand how other people interpret them.

"Non-verbal cues are frequently more valid than a verbal statement," says Harrison. "They're harder to fake." They are also harder to control.

Verbal communication is easier. You can analyze it and go back and correct yourself. But you can't retract a blush or unslap a child slapped in anger.

Your child's earliest communication experiences are nonverbal, and they influence his personality and the way he uses words.

A baby's early tactile setting —his world of touch, heat, cold, pressure, caress, snuggle or slap—is extremely important. It provides him with his first cues about what his world is like. You can even transmit your tensions to your baby through touch.

Research shows that a lower-class child lives in a tactile environment quite different from that of the middle-class child.

"He's more free to be aggressive," Harrison explains. In the middle class, overt aggression is strongly suppressed. These parents tend to deal with their children verbally. A middle-class youngster may grow up with a knack for using words. He learns early that he can solve problems by reading or talking.

As adults, these two would have little going for them in the way of communication. . .unless they learned smething about each other's codes.

Dr. Harrison urges parents to develop a dialogue with people outside their own sub-culture.

When you make this effort, your actions will communicate something to your children; perhaps that you are brave enough to break down the barriers that separate people and set them one against the other.

Miss Annie P. Jordan and Theron W. Snyder were united in marriage Saturday, Sept. 2, at Shiloh Baptist Church, Ellenville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Jordan, 182 Center Street, Ellenville. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jeanette Snyder, Kingston.

The bride wore a floor-length gown which featured a cardinal coat of Chantilly lace, styled with a scalloped front over bouquet taffeta, and had long pointed sleeves. She wore a fingertip veil and carried a cascade bouquet of miniature white carnations.

Miss Carolyn Jordan, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Attendants were Miss Eunice Jordan, Ellenville; Miss Betty Jackson, Ellenville; Mrs. Lucille Lane, Ellenville.

Donald Snyder, Kingston, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Charles Williams, Kingston; Albert McClinton, Kingston; John McClinton, Kingston.

Mrs. Snyder is a graduate of Ellenville Central School and is now employed at Channel Master Corp., Ellenville.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, served three years in the U. S. Army Airborne, and is now employed at Channel Master Corp., Ellenville.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will return to reside in Kingston.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES A. HOEHING
(Lakeside Studio)

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Acting Deputy Chief of Police and Mrs. Charles A. Hoehing, 303 East Chester Street, Kingston, were feted at a surprise silver anniversary party Sunday, Sept. 10, at the Capri "400" restaurant, Port Ewen. The party was given by their children, Jayne and Charles Jr., Kingston, and Kathryn Hoehing Schlichter and her husband, Keith, Eddyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoehing were married Sept. 13, 1942, in St. Mary's Church, Kingston, by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Benjamin C. Roth. Mrs. Hoehing is the former Ida Mazzuca, daughter of Mrs. John Mazzuca, 65 Hutton Street, Kingston, and the late John Mazzuca. Mr. Hoehing is the son of Mrs. Jane Hoehing Scafidi and the late William Hoehing.

Mr. Hoehing has been a member of the Kingston Police Department for 20 years. He served with the 156 Artillery Battalion, 44th Division, in World War II. He was First Sergeant for five years and was discharged in 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoehing are the grandparents of Kristine and Kathleen Schlichter, Eddyville.

Approximately 125 relatives and friends joined in wishing the couple many more years of happiness at the anniversary celebration dinner and dance.

Members of the original bridal party attended and were seated with the honored couple at the main table. They were Mrs. Connie Mitchell Natalie, honor attendant; Mrs. Angie Carrado Winter, attendant; Alfred Mazzuca, best man and brother of Mrs. Hoehing; Louis Charmello, usher. Michael Mazzuca, another brother of Mrs. Hoehing, was also in attendance.

Patricia Miles Exchanges Nuptial Vows With David Burns

St. Peter's Church, Kingston, was the setting Sunday, Sept. 10, for the marriage of Miss Patricia Ann Miles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Miles, 144 West O'Reilly Street, this city, to David William Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Burns Jr., 143 Main Street, Kingston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of eggshell crepe with rolled collar and wide three-quarter length sleeves with rolled cuffs. An A-line skirt fell from the empire waistline which was encircled with re-embroidered lace, featuring an attached floor length shirred chiffon cape. Her three tiered shoulder length illusion veil was attached to a circlet headpiece of lace, matching that of the gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Thomas Miles, sister-in-law of the bride, Dover, Del., was matron of honor. She wore a full length gown of metallic gold and lime green lace over taffeta. Her headpiece was a leaf cap with circlet veil of lime green matching the gown. She carried a cascade of yellow roses tied with lime green satin ribbon.

Mrs. Dennis Kline, Kingston, cousin of the bride, was attendant. Her gown, headpiece and cascade bouquet were identical to that of the matron of honor.

Arthur J. Burns III, Hurley, was best man for his brother. Richard Rausch, Rensselaer, and Dennis Kline, Kingston, were ushers.

After the wedding a reception for more than 100 guests was held at the Alpine Restaurant.

For her wedding trip to the southern states, the bride selected a two-piece gold and brown ensemble with matching accessories and a corstage of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns will reside at 9543-A 28th Bay Street, Norfolk, Va.

A COCKTAIL PARTY QUIZ

Whether you drink cocktails or not, the chances are that from time to time you attend cocktail parties, and should know the right thing to do. The following story contains 10 errors, some on the part of the hostess, and some on the part of the guests. See if you can spot them.

Molly and Jack Barnes received an invitation to a cocktail party from Franny and Bill Jones. There was an R.s.v.p. in the corner, but Molly didn't answer because as she said, "It's such a big party it won't matter whether we go or not." When they arrived, the Joneses were chatting with guests and failed to greet the Barnes. Seeing no one they knew, Molly and Jack stood alone and talked to each other, their host behind it, busily helping the bartender. With their drinks in hand, they wandered about looking for familiar faces.

Hors d'oeuvres were passed, and Molly speared a shrimp with a toothpick, which she then dropped back on the tray. She was dismayed to find that the little pastries passed on another tray stained her new white kid gloves. While she was attempting to cope with hors d'oeuvres, cigarette, and cocktail, Franny Jones came up with a gay greeting and extended her hand. Molly, in her effort to free her hand to take Franny's, dropped her cigarette on the linoleum floor and stepped on it quickly to avoid a scorch mark.

To insure his party's success, Mr. Jones instructed his bartender to make all drinks "doubles." His idea was successful; although the invitations read "from 5 to 7" the last guest didn't leave the house until midnight.

The 10 mistakes were:

1. One must answer all invitations which say R.s.v.p.
2. The hosts should watch for, and greet, all arrivals.
3. Molly and Jack should have introduced themselves and talked to anyone they wished.
4. The host should circulate—that's why he hires a bartender.
5. Used toothpicks are not put back on the tray. Find an ash tray or other receptacle.
6. Molly should have removed her gloves before eating hors d'oeuvres.
7. Don't try to shake hands with anyone whose hands are full.
8. One does not drop a cigarette on the floor, no matter what the surface.
9. It is not advisable to serve extra-strong drinks at a party.
10. Guests should leave within a half hour or so of the time stated on the invitation.

Josh White Jr. at HVCC Traditional Homecoming Fete

Josh White Jr. in concert will be the kickoff event for Hudson Valley Community College's traditional Homecoming Weekend honoring alumni Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. The appearance of the well-known folk music star, son of the immortal Josh White will be held on the campus in Hudson Hall beginning at 7:30 p.m. The concert will be open to the public with tickets available at the door.

Saturday's festivities will move to the Crooked Lake Hotel for a semi-formal dance. Two orchestras will provide continuous music for listening and dancing. Highlight of the evening will be the coronation of the Homecoming Weekend queen. The queen will be dually honored receiving her crown from College President James J. Fitzgibbons and outstanding alumnus Joseph Casey.

Sunday a picnic will be held.

Josh White Jr. began his career in show business 19 years ago when a single amber spotlight focused upon his articulate fingers as he played the introduction to "One Meat Ball." During his early years, Josh Jr. studied at New York's Professional Children's School. His weekends and summers were spent further developing his artistry and increasingly frequent appearances with his father. In 1961, Josh Jr.'s talent demanded that he be presented in his own right, first as a club performer and then as a concert artist. He has since appeared in clubs and concerts throughout the states and Europe and recently returned from an extensive tour of England and the Scandinavian countries.

An extremely versatile performer he has played dramatic roles in five Broadway shows. Television audiences will recall his dramatic and variety appearances on such network programs as Hootenanny, Ben Jarod, Armstrong Circle Theater, Mike Douglas Show, Today Show, Steve Allen Show and Mike Wallace. In addition to his ever increasing number of solo appearances, Josh White Jr. has been presented in concert with such outstanding attractions as the Henry Mancini Orchestra and the Glenn Miller Band. He recently recorded his first solo album, "I'm On My Own Way," for Mercury records.

The Rev. Willard D. Crunkilton, formerly pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Kingston for five years, was married to Mrs. William Snyder, Canton, Pa., Friday, Sept. 15, at 1:30 p. m.

While the pastor was serving here Mrs. Crunkilton had died of cancer.

Since December of 1966 the Rev. Mr. Crunkilton has been the Alliance pastor in Canton, Pa.

The Rev. Mr. Crunkilton entertained the wedding party, which included the host pastor and his wife, at a Harrisburg hotel, with a dinner party previous to the ceremony.

After spending a week in Washington, D. C., the couple plan to visit a few days in Ohio, then go to Niagara Falls where the Rev. Mr. Crunkilton had served a church for five years.

Returning, they plan to visit friends in Kingston, and he will get acquainted with his newest grandson, born to his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meyer, Hillsdale.

On Sept. 30 they will return to Canton, where they will live in the parsonage located at 230 Troy Street. Adjoining property has recently been purchased and it is expected that the couple will shortly move to this home.

An "Open House" will be held Sunday evening, Oct. 8 after the evening service, for friends and parishioners.

Osterhoudt-Squier Nuptials Are Told

Miss Sharon Osterhoudt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jansen Osterhoudt, Accord, and Roger S. Squier, son of Carl Squier, Accord, and Mrs. Evelyn Squier, Kingston, were married Saturday, Sept. 16, at the Rochester Reformed Church, Accord.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Milford Ebert and Lucy Ebert, both of Accord, were best man and maid of honor.

After the wedding a reception was held at Hillside Restaurant, Accord.

St. Rose Will Hold College Program

The annual College Day Program at the College of Saint Rose, Albany, Sunday, Sept. 24, will offer area high school juniors and seniors a chance to study the college and its liberal arts program. Guidance counselors, teachers, and parents are invited. Registration will be held at 1 p. m. in St. Joseph Hall, 985 Madison Avenue.

Sister Therese, C.S.J., academic dean, will welcome the group. The program will include entertainment, tours of the campus, and group interviews with the faculty. In charge of arrangements is Sister Mary Thomas, director of admissions.

PLENTY OF POTATOES AND CABBAGE THIS FALL

Shoppers who count heavily on potatoes and cabbage in family meals will be happy to learn that both vegetables will be abundant this fall, says Louise M. Kakargo, Extension Home Economist. Prospects for the fall crop of potatoes and cabbage are above a year ago and both vegetables are expected to be economical choices in the months ahead. Potatoes and cabbage are both available year around, but it is the important fall crop of each vegetable that makes up a large part of the supplies during fall and winter.

Home storage can affect cooking quality—A few days exposure to light will cause the potato's surface to turn green. This discoloration may cause a slightly bitter flavor to potatoes. Long storage below 40° F. turns potato starch to sugars, causing a sweet taste when cooked. Use a cool, dark, dry place that is well ventilated for home storage, not the refrigerator.

Keys to cabbage quality—Look for solid, firm heads that are relatively heavy for their size. There should be a few outside wrapper leaves left on the head. Soft heads will be of poor quality. Leaves should be fresh, crisp, and of good color for the variety. Store fresh cabbage in a covered container in the refrigerator.

Some cabbage already shredded and packaged is marketed for cole slaw. The cost for this convenience is high. Budget-minded shoppers would do better to buy cabbage by the head and shred it at home.

Cornell research promises new storage possibilities.—Professor F. M. Isenberg of Cornell University reports that research is in progress on controlled atmosphere storage of cabbage. As with apples, the heads are placed in an atmosphere of carbon dioxide in gas tight storage especially made for this purpose. After a winter in this atmosphere, cabbage heads are just as green, crisp, and sweet as when they went in, and do not deteriorate any more rapidly after removal from storage than would fresh cabbage. This method of storage is not yet perfected sufficiently for commercial use but may be something to look forward to in the future.

St. Rose Schedules Evening Courses in Adult Education

The College of Saint Rose, Albany, will begin its fall schedule of evening adult education courses Oct. 2. The program, non-credit courses for men and women, will continue for ten weeks. Registration is being conducted in the Adult Education Office, Medaille Hall, 409 Western Avenue.

Courses are being offered in public speaking, modern languages: French, German, and Spanish; contemporary literature, modern painting, music, linguistics, correct grammar, and an area study of Africa. A special six-lecture course is scheduled on how to buy stocks. No special educational background is necessary to enroll in these courses. There are no examinations or prerequisites. These Saint Rose courses have been designed for those who wish to learn at the college level but do not want or need credits for a degree.

2 Trucks, Personnel, Voting Topics of Esopus Board

Esopus Town Board last week authorized purchase of two new trucks, prepared for the general election, and hired two men for Port Ewen Water District.

Paul Mercier, town highway superintendent, was given permission to acquire two new replacement dump trucks. The vehicles will be acquired under the purchase contract of the Ulster County Department of Highways.

Superintendent Mercier was also given permission to acquire a new sand spreader and a new plow for winter road use on the new equipment.

Supervisor Roger Mabie called attention to the eight registration days that will be held during October. The dates are Tuesday, Oct. 3, Saturday, Oct. 7, and the entire week of Monday, Oct. 9 through Saturday, Oct. 14. Hours will be 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. on the two Saturdays and 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. on the other six week days. Registration will take place at the Town's seven places of election.

Under permanent personal registration, effective this year on a County-wide basis, everyone must register in order to vote on Election Day, Nov. 7.

All voters, who have not already registered at the County Office Building or during the three registration days held in the Town of Esopus in August, must register in October.

The Town Board also announced the sites where the 1967 election will be held and where the October registration will take place. District 1 voters at the Town Hall, Port Ewen; District 2, Beichert's Garage, Port Ewen; District 6, Zale Liese automobile showroom, Port Ewen; District 3, Esopus Firehouse; District 7, the former school house, Union Center; District 4, Rifton Firehouse and District 5, Connelly Firehouse.

The Town of Esopus election districts were realigned during the past year due to growth in the township and increased from five to seven. Prior to the October registration, maps showing the boundaries of the new election districts will be posted at places of public assembly and descriptions of the new districts will be published in The Kingston Daily Freeman, the Town of Esopus official newspaper.

The Town Board approved a request of Port Ewen Board of Water Commissioners to hire two new men to assist in the operation of the system and the Hudson River water treatment plant. Water Superintendent Harry A. Newton is scheduled to retire in the near future and the new men are being hired for training and indoctrination and to assist Assistant Superintendent Harry B. VanOrmer. The new men are Alan Andrus, Rosendale, and Charles Beisel, Connelly. Increased water usage has necessitated a two-shift operation of the water plant for extended periods of time. During August, the Commissioners reported the average daily water consumption of the system to be 248,370 gallons.

A letter was received from Mrs. Alfred Jankowski Jr., Esopus Avenue, Ulster Park, urging the establishment of a warning signal at the Esopus Avenue railroad crossing and the setting of an automobile speed limit on Esopus Avenue due to the number of young children using the road daily to get to their school buses.

The board agreed to contact the Public Service Commission and urge the installation of a warning device at the railroad crossing, to contact the State Traffic Commission and recommend the setting of a speed limit and to provide a periodic patrol of the area by a town constable during school bus boarding hours. Three years ago the board unsuccessfully sought an order from the PSC on establishing a automatic warning device at the rail crossing.

A letter was received from the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, stating the amount of state aid to be be received by the Town of Esopus during the 1968 fiscal year for general town purposes would be $55,055.00, the same as in 1967.

An indication that 1968 budget time was approaching became evident when the board set a special meeting for September 25 with the Port Ewen Water Commissioners to draw up the 1968 Water Department budget, and a special meeting for October 4 to draw up the overall town budget for 1968.

DeVall H. Dunbar, building inspector, reported the issuance of 12 building permits during August with a total valuation of the work undertaken of $91,400. The permits covered five new houses, two garages and five alteration jobs.

A report from the Ross Park Commission summarized the results of the 1967 summer program at the park and recommended the rebuilding of the ball diamond. The Town Board stated a meeting would be held shortly with the Park Commissioners to discuss draining improvements at the park to provide more usable land areas and other improvements.

The Board of Assessors made its annual report, showing the total assessed valuation in the Town of Esopus to be $5,138,632. It was noted that $81,215 in assessed valuation was added during the year due to new construction and additions or improvements to existing structures, $32,800 of formerly exempt property was restored to taxation, that $11,670 of valuation was removed from the tax roll due to fires or demolitions, and that $41,645 was added to assessments on existing property during the past year. The total value of new exemptions from general town taxes was $34,000 for veterans and $75,947 for the aged due to the "over 65" legislation.

Permission was granted to Port Ewen Methodist Church to hold a rummage sale at the Town Hall on November 1 and 2.

A number of other routine town matters were transacted and the meeting adjourned at 11:25 p. m.

Dutchess Area Explorers Sail Hudson Waters

Fifteen explorers, representing five Explorer Posts of the Dutchess County Council Cabinet, were the guests of members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary for a trip up the Hudson River recently.

The teenagers embarked from Norrie Point in five different yachts and traveled up the Hudson River to the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and then returned. During their trip, the skippers of the boats gave instruction to the boys and permitted them to run the controls.

Teen Fashions: Short, Snappy

Fashion's in motion on the teen scene for back-to-school wear this fall, reports the national Cotton Council. Short and snappy are the key words, but there's more of a fresh-scrubbed look than in season's past.

While the mini-length dress remains popular, it, too, has been modified by the addition of matching pantaloons showing a few inches below the shortened hemlines.

The "little girl" look comes on the scene in the form of a baby doll dress with abbreviated waist-length pinafore in contrasting white. Buttons and bows are added for brightening and accenting on many of the darker prints.

Fabric-wise, the washables and wearables are in the greatest number. Cottons, boasting new finishes to keep their crisp and fresh looks, are in the forefront of fashion. They're seen in a wide range of new-looking prints checks. Stripes, plaids and solids with colors running the gamut from subdued tones to brights.

In the accessories line, textured and patterned hose rise up to meet the shorter hemlines or stop just below the knee. Shoes are low with squared-off toes and scaled-down bags swinging from shoulder straps are favorites.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To save on our budget and when we don't have time to take our small boys to the barber, we trim their hair above their ears so they will look nice for a special occasion. This partial trim looks fine until we can get them to the barber for regular hair cuts.

Being afraid of poking them with the sharp points of the scissors, I found that wrapping each point with adhesive tape does away with the danger of sticking the child while trimming his hair.

Mother of Two Boys

Dear Heloise:

A few years ago, while brushing my teeth, I noticed that that last trace of lipstick, which is so hard to remove, had disappeared.

Now I use toothpaste all the time to remove lipstick from my lips. It also tastes good, too.

Recently when my two-year-old came in with lipstick all over her face, I had the answer. I put a dab of toothpaste on a wash cloth and the lipstick was gone in seconds with no painful scrubbing on my baby's tender skin.

Marti Hollis

Dear Marti:

I can't figure out why in the world this works but it does.

I put lipstick on the back of my hand and then rubbed it with some toothpaste and it came right off. After all, it it's tender enough for gums, it shouldn't hurt our skin.

Thank you from, not only me, but all our mothers who have little kiddies who get into our lipstick . . .

Dear Heloise:

When framing pictures I always glued paper to the back of the framed picture.

Alma Borchert

Dear Heloise:

Another place to check for refrigerator odors is the drip at the bottom of your refrigerator This usually fits under the motor.

We had an odor in our refrigerator all summer, and finally found out we had an accumulation in this little pan. A paper milk carton had leaked and we had scrubbed everywhere except this drip pan.

Mrs. M. B. L.

• • •

And you are, oh, so right. Many people do not even know that this pan must be cleaned from time to time.

Heloise..

Dear Heloise:

I found another good use for those plastic tubs that soft margarine comes in now.

After heating my toddler's food, which all mothers at some time or other get too hot, I just pour it in one of those plastic tubs. It cools quickly after stirring around.

After the child has finished eating, these plastic tubs can be discarded.

Also, if the baby does not finish his food immediately, all I do is put the lid on and place it in the refrigerator until he gets hungry again.

His Life May Depend on It

Stress Communication

DETROIT (AP) — Help your child be a good communicator. His life may depend on it.

The way he learns to communicate as a child determnes how he'll solve problems when he's grown up, says Dr. Randall P. Harrison, a specialist in communications at Michigan State University.

"Communication, the passing of information from one person to another, is the key to how your child gets information about the world, how he responds to the world and how people respond to him," he explains.

Communication is also an important key to mental health.

Communications breakdown in the family can lead to severe emotional problems—a schizophrenic child, perhaps.

Researchers estimate that at least two-thirds of our person-to-person communication is wordless: A tightening of the jaw, a stern look, the clothes you are wearing.

As many as a dozen different "code systems" have been isolated systems in which a stimulus, such as a sound, can be translated into different meanings.

The words we use make up the best known code: linguistics. Other codes use gestures, tastes and smells.

Different cultures have different patterns of communication. So do the different small groups within a broader culture.

Your child's earliest communication experience can "set" him for life. The most basic things he learns as a baby can identify him with your sub-culture and set him apart from another.

"Infants the world around babble alike—at first. But very soon, before they speak, they start making the distinctive sounds of their language," Dr. Harrison observes.

In fact, the infant "overlearns" such sounds. He learns so thoroughly that he has difficulty pronouncing and hearing basic sounds of other languages.

"What happens in the linguistic area happens across the board in other code areas," Harrison says. By marking a person for life, this learning can separate one religious group from another, the upper middle class from a low-income subgroup, the Bostonian from the Chicagoan.

Sometimes a child can overcome these overlearned basics by successfully learning to use the code system of another subgroup. He may move up in the world because he has crashed important communications barriers.

Parents help their children learn to communicate by being good communicators. One way to begin is by using communications to reward a child when you're sure he's got your message.

A smile, a pat on the shoulder or a hug can communicate to him that he understood you.

"My hunch is that a youngster does certain things and gets reinforced for them," he says. "If he tries something and it is successful he keeps it in his repertoire.,'

How can parents be better communicators? And how can you avoid a communications breakdown in your own family? Here are some suggestions:

Be sure symbols mean the same thing. You and your child are talking about a "cat." You've agreed on the symbol, but you still may be talking about something different. You've got a pure Siamese in mind. He's thinking of an alley cat. You're not communicating.

Remember that "meanings are in people." Fire will mean pain to the child who has been badly burned. But it will mean love and companionship to the child who remembers toasting marshmallows around the fireplace.

People interpret things according to their experience. You must be aware of how you interpret things and take care to understand how other people interpret them.

"Non-verbal cues are frequently more valid than a verbal statement," says Harrison. "They're harder to fake." They are also harder to control.

Verbal communication is easier. You can analyze it and go back and correct yourself. But you can't retract a blush or unslap a child slapped in anger.

Your child's earliest communication experiences are nonverbal, and they influence his personality and the way he uses words.

A baby's early tactile setting —his world of touch, heat, cold, pressure, caress, snuggle or slap—is extremely important. It provides him with his first cues about what his world is like. You can even transmit your tensions to your baby through touch.

Research shows that a lower-class child lives in a tactile environment quite different from that of the middle-class child.

"He's more free to be aggressive," Harrison explains. In the middle class, overt aggression is strongly suppressed. These parents tend to deal with their children verbally. A middle-class youngster may grow up with a knack for using words. He learns early that he can solve problems by reading or talking.

As adults, these two would have little going for them in the way of communication. . .unless they learned smething about each other's codes.

Dr. Harrison urges parents to develop a dialogue with people outside their own sub-culture.

When you make this effort, your actions will communicate something to your children; perhaps that you are brave enough to break down the barriers that separate people and set them one against the other.

Fourteen Games on Tap in Weekend Grid Openers

Vincentian Is First On Maroon Schedule

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Kingston High and Saugerties will make their debuts and 14 area games are on tap as the schoolboy grid season swings into its first full week of activity.

Coach Bill Hurley's KHS eleven has a Friday night encounter at Bleecker Stadium in Albany against Vincentian Institute.

Also on the schedule are league games in the UCAL and DCSL.

Friday's Schedule

Kingston vs. Vincentian (Bleecker)
Nyack at Port Jervis

Saturday's Schedule

Marlboro at Liberty
Pine Bush at Highland
Onteora at New Paltz
Wallkill at Rondout
Saugerties vs. CBA (Bleecker, night)
Spring Valley at Middletown
Chatham at Red Hook
Ellenville at Jeffersonville
Cardinal Farley at Beacon
Lourdes at Roosevelt
Wappingers at Poughkeepsie
Newburgh at Arlington

Two Starters Back

Kingston will field a young and inexperienced squad against Vincentian. Only halfback Greg Rios and fullback Tim Bowens (an end last season) were starters on Thanksgiving Day against Newburgh.

Hurley has listed his probable starting lineup as Fred Kachura and Russ Wilber, ends; Randy Kelder and John Berardi, tackles; Mike Perry and Harry Lyons, guards and Mike Rosinski, center. Mike Hoffman will get the starting nod at quarterback. Rios will play tailback and either Dana Clearwater or Jeff Perry will be at slotback. Bowens is the fullback.

The home squad, coached by Ed Lynch, has a new offensive team but has seven defensive regulars returning. Top player for VI is Mike O'Shaugenessy, a 230-pound linebacker and an offensive tackle. He's a college prospect.

Vincentian, which bowed, 27-6, to Kingston last season, will have speedsters Kevin O'Connell and Jim Hughes as its chief running threats. The quarterback is Chris Rutnik, a second stringer in '66.

Lynch, beginning his third year as head coach of the Capital District school, uses the Slot T and feels he will have the speed to use a lot of running plays. Vicentian was 4-2-1 last year and the coach is hoping for improvement.

Adjustments Made

Though the KHS eleven was drubbed in a practice scrimmage by Arlington, Hurley said some adjustments have been made and he expects the club to be ready for its opener.

"Our recent practice sessions have been good and the boys have been working hard," he added.

Saugerties, which figures to have one of its best clubs in recent seasons, will be meeting a CBA squad that emphasizes a balanced offensive. The upstaters have seven lettermen.

In UCAL action, Liberty, Highland, Onteora and Rondout are favored over their opening foes. The Liberty Indians haven't played a non-league game but reports from Sullivan County indicate coach Charles P. (Woody) Witherwax has a powerhouse.

Highland will be seeking a third straight title and should have easy pickings against Pine Bush, which was toppled by Minisink Valley in its opener.

Indians Impressive

Onteora showed good offensive power and an adequate defense against Red Hook in its 27-7 decision. New Paltz toppled Millrook, 12-0, and should offer a good test for coach Paul Jordan's pennant hopeful eleven.

Rondout, which had Gordie Taylor score four touchdowns and John Meehan throw passes like a pro from his quarterback slot, should prove much too strong for Wallkill, a 44-0 loser to Pawling. The Ganders walloped Tri-Valley, 51-7.

Teams in the DCSL will be playing for the first time. Early indications are that Poughkeepsie and Arlington loom as co-favorites with Wappingers, Lourdes and Roosevelt battling to unseat Arlington as champion.

Middletown, which faces the toughest schedule in the area, has a Rockland County power, Spring Valley, for its opener. Port Jervis opens tonight against Nyack, another Rockland County club.

Arlington, a strong favorite in the DCSL, entertains Newburgh, the pre-season choice to win DUSO laurels.

Red Hook hopes to rebound from its loss to Onteora with a contest against Chatham, which will be making its debut.

Angels Assure Rigney Repeat

ANAHEIM (AP) — There'll be some changes made on the California Angels' roster this winter, but Bill Rigney is to return as manager.

That much was indicated Wednesday when Rigney huddled with General Manager Fred Haney before Chicago spoiled the Angels' final home game of the season, 6-4.

"Rig has done a fine job," said Haney, "and as far as I know, he'll be back next year. I talked to him today about it and he said, 'fine and dandy.' But he hasn't signed a contract yet."

Haney said the fifth-place Angels hope to strengthen themselves in the trade marts this winter.

The win Wednesday night was an important one for the White Sox, who remain a half-game behind co-leaders Boston and Minnesota.

It would appear that Chicago has an edge over the three other title contenders, inasmuch as the White Sox will play their eight remaining games against second-division teams. They'll play Cleveland, Kansas City, and Washington.

Foot Injury Decks McLain

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers suffered a severe blow to their American League pennant chances Wednesday when they learned 17-game winner Denny McLain dislocated two toes in his left foot and would be lost for at least until Monday and possibly for the remaining nine games of the season.

McLain, knocked out in his last four starts, said he dozed off while watching television at his home Monday and injured his foot when he arose from a chair.

"The foot fell asleep on me and when I got up it just collapsed outwards," said McLain. "I don't know if anyone will believe it, but that's what happened."

Manager Mayo Smith, who indicated he had planned to use only three starters the remainder of the season anyway, said McLain would remain in Detroit to take treatments during the weekend series in Washington and report to the team in New York on Monday.

Boz and Chance, Two Gifted Kids

MINNEAPOLIS - St. Paul (AP) — The Dean Chance-Dave Boswell mutual admiration society met in front of Chance's locker Wednesday after the big right-hander had pitched Minnesota to a four-hit, 13-strikeout 6-2 victory over Kansas City.

The Twins remained tied for first place in the American League race with Boston, which edged Cleveland 5-4 Wednesday night.

Chance then rather laboriously wrote a long inspirational message on a baseball and gave it to Boswell.

"This is the ball on which I got my 200th strikeout today," Chance explained. "Boz gave me the ball when he got his 200th Tuesday night at Kansas City. We're the only two Twins' pitchers to strike out 200 men in a season."

Chance, who ran his season total to 207 before he was finished Wednesday for a career high, said Boswell "tells me to go for strikeouts against these big hitters. Sometimes I let up on them."

Throng Greets Cardinals on Arrival Home

ST. LOUIS (AP) — About 1,000 fans jammed Lambert Municipal Airport early today to greet the homecoming St. Louis Cardinals despite a driving rainstorm and a three-day wait since the Cardinals clinched the National League pennant.

The crowd overflowed the west concourse of the terminal chanting, "We want Cha Cha," until slugging first baseman Orlando Cepeda appeared. A group of six policemen had to convoy Cepeda through the crowd while fans grabbed at him, hugged him and slapped him on the back.

Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst was the first man off the plane and he held an impromptu news conference with reporters in the rain.

The "Red Head" shrugged off all questions about the American League race. He said he didn't care who won as long as somebody wins without a playoff.

Cepeda was unconcerned about a playoff. As he pushed his way through the crowd he said, "I don't think any team can beat us. The rest wouldn't hurt us."

One-Run Defeats Even Up for Sox

CLEVELAND (AP) — "The players are trying to even up the one-run defeats of last year all in one month," said Boston Manager Dick Williams Wednesday night after his Red Sox had edged the Cleveland Indians 5-4 to maintain a share of the American League lead with the Minnesota Twins.

"These games are more of a strain on you," said Carl Yastrzemski, who had four hits in five trips, including his 41st homer, and also scored the winning run. "It would be less of a strain if we'd win 9-1."

Sam McDowell, who started and left for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning with the score tied 4-4, gave up three of Yastrzemski's hits, including the homer.

"I was exceptionally quick with my hands and I hit his mistakes," Yastrzemski explained. "I have a day like that about every three weeks."

Boston-Twins Tie

Yaz Stayed to the End; Early Quit For Kaline

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

CARL YASTRZEMSKI

Al Kaline, who struck early and often, got an early good night. Carl Yastrzemski, who saved his best shots for the late innings, had to stay around to the bitter end.

Kaline hit his 25th homer in the first inning of Detroit's 10-1 rout of the New York Yankees Wednesday night. After he doubled in the Tigers' run-scoring third and fifth innings, Al was sent home to put his feet up.

But the Red Sox, who have made comeback victories a way of life lately needed Yastrzemski every inch of the way against Cleveland.

He hit his 41st homer in the sixth inning then got his fourth hit in the ninth, a single, and rode home on Reggie Smith's single with the run that won the game 5-4.

The Red Sox stayed tied for the American League lead with Minnesota, which beat Kansas City 6-2 earlier in the day, while the Tigers remained in fourth place, one game out and a half-game behind third-place Chicago, which beat California 6-4.

Baltimore took a doubleheader from Washington 4-3 and 6-3 in 10 innings.

"These one-run games are more of a strain on you," said Yastrzemski. "It'd be less of a strain if we'd win 9-1 and lose by the same score."

Tiger Manager Mayo Smith said Kaline's first-inning shot unglued Yankee starter Al Downing, who usually gives the Tigers a tough time. Don Wert, who seems completely recovered from his hamstring pull, added a homer in the eighth.

Joe Sparma, who gave up only seven hits, lost his shutout when Charlie Smith homered in the ninth. Sparma's record now is 15-9.

The Twins got all the hitting they needed from Tony Oliva and Bob Allison, who each hit two-run homers, but Harmon "He" rew drove in a couple o runs with singles just to make sure. Dean Chance won his 16th game, giving up just four hits and striking out 13.

The White Sox got a homer and three runs batted in from Tommie Agee and clutch relief pitching from Bob Locker, who pitched three innings of hitless ball before giving up a final run in the ninth. Rick Reichardt homered for the Angels.

16 Carlton Whiffs Fail to Check Phils

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carlton, who has contributed 14 victories to St. Louis' pennant push this season, set a season's strikeout high Wednesday night, fanning 16 Philadelphia batters. But he came away a 3-1 loser, mainly because of Cookie Rojas.

Rojas drove in the Phillies' tie-breaking run with a fourth-inning single and then scored an insurance run after doubling in the seventh as Philadelphia survived Carlton's strikeout pitch for the victory.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco topped Chicago 5-1, Los Angeles edged New York 4-3, Cincinnati pounded Atlanta 9-4 and Houston nipped Pittsburgh 5-4.

Chris Short bested Carlton on a four-hitter and struck out nine. The two-team total of 25 strikeouts fell one short of the major league record set by Philadelphia and Pittsburgh in 1965. And except for an enthusiastic fan, the record might have been broken.

He Knew It

"I knew I was striking out a lot of batters," said Carlton, "but I didn't know how many. Then someone at the end of the seventh yelled from the stands that I had struck out 15. From that point I kind of lost my concentration. I began throwing bad pitches."

Carlton, 14-9, struck out only one man in the final two innings after the fan shouted at him. Ed Spiezio homered for the Cardinals.

Gaylord Perry won his fifth straight game on a seven-hitter and evened his record at 15-15 as San Francisco won its 13th game in 17 September starts.

Jim Davenport had four hits including a home run for the Giants, who jolted Cubs' rookie Rich Nye early.

Al Ferrara tagged a two-run double that snapped a scoreless tie in the sixth inning and helped Don Drysdale pitch Los Angeles past the Mets.

Vada Pinson and John Bench walloped three-run homers for the Reds, who whacked the Braves. Pinson connected in the first inning and Bench's first major league shot came in the sixth. Hank Aaron hit his 38th for the Braves.

Houston rallied for three ninth-inning runs—the last two on pinch hitter Ron Davis' two-out pinch single—and nipped the Pirates. Doubles by Jim Wynn and Doug Rader started the winning rally and Davis' bases-loaded single climaxed it.

It's been replaced.

To those of you who were expecting something fancier, sorry. (The '68 looks just like the '67 crossed out above.)

To those of you who now own a Volkswagen, congratulations. (Once again your model has not gone out of style.)

To those of you who've been thinking about buying a new one, nice thinking.

The front seats are more comfortable. (They have built-in headrests.)

Even the shifting is easier. (We put a decal on the window to show you how.)

All in all, we feel that the 36 nice little changes on this year's Volkswagen make it the best ever.

Of course, every year we build the "perfect" Volkswagen.

And then we do a masterful job of proving ourselves wrong.

Come in and see it tomorrow

2 Trucks, Personnel, Voting Topics of Esopus Board

Esopus Town Board last week authorized purchase of two new trucks, prepared for the general election, and hired two men for Port Ewen Water District.

Paul Mercier, town highway superintendent, was given permission to acquire two new replacement dump trucks the vehicles will be acquired under the purchase contract of the Ulster County Department of Highways.

Superintendent Mercier was also given permission to acquire a new sand spreader and a new plow for winter road use on the new equipment.

Supervisor Roger Mabie called attention to the eight registration days that will be held during October. The dates are Tuesday, Oct. 3, Saturday, Oct. 7, and the entire week of Monday, Oct. 9 through Saturday, Oct. 14. Hours will be 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. on the two Saturdays and 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. on the other six week days. Registration will take place at the Town's seven places of election.

Under permanent personal registration, effective this year on a County-wide basis, everyone must register in order to vote on Election Day, Nov. 7.

All voters, who have not already registered at the County Office Building or during the three registration days held in the Town of Esopus in August, must register in October.

The Town Board also announced the sites where the 1967 election will be held and where the October registration will take place. District 1 voters at the Town Hall, Port Ewen; District 2, Beichert's Garage, Port Ewen; District 6, Zale Liese automobile showroom, Port Ewen; District 3, Esopus Firehouse; District 7, the former school house, Union Center; District 4, Rifton Firehouse and District 5, Connelly Firehouse.

The Town of Esopus election districts were realigned during the past year due to growth in the township and increased from five to seven. Prior to the October registration, maps showing the boundaries of the new election districts will be posted at places of public assembly and descriptions of the new districts will be published in The Kingston Daily Freeman, the Town of Esopus official newspaper.

The Town Board approved a request of Port Ewen Board of Water Commissioners to hire two new men to assist in the operation of the system and the Hudson River water treatment plant. Water Superintendent Harry A. Newton is scheduled to retire in the near future and the new men are being hired for training and indoctrination and to assist Assistant Superintendent Harry B. VanOrmer. The new men are Alan Andrus, Rosendale, and Charles Beisel, Connelly. Increased water usage has necessitated a two-shift operation of the water plant for extended periods of time. During August, the Commissioners reported the average daily water consumption of the system to be 248,370 gallons.

A letter was received from Mrs. Alfred Jankowski Jr., Esopus Avenue, Ulster Park, urging the establishment of a warning signal at the Esopus Avenue railroad crossing and the setting of an automobile speed limit on Esopus Avenue due to the number of young children using the road daily to get to their school buses.

The board agreed to contact the Public Service Commission and urge the installation of a warning device at the railroad crossing, to contact the State Traffic Commission and recommend the setting of a speed limit and to provide a periodic patrol of the area by a town constable during school bus boarding hours. Three years ago the board unsuccessfully sought an order from the PSC on establishing a automatic warning device at the rail crossing.

A letter was received from the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, stating the amount of state aid to be be received by the Town of Esopus during the 1968 fiscal year for general town purposes would be $55,055.00, the same as in 1967.

An indication that 1968 budget time was approaching became evident when the board set a special meeting for September 25 with the Port Ewen Water Commissioners to draw up the 1968 Water Department budget, and a special meeting for October 4 to draw up the overall town budget for 1968.

DeVall H. Dunbar, building inspector, reported the issuance of 12 building permits during August with a total valuation of the work undertaken of $91,400. The permits covered five new houses, two garages and five alteration jobs.

A report from the Ross Park Commission summarized the results of the 1967 summer program at the park and recommended the rebuilding of the ball diamond. The Town Board stated a meeting would be held shortly with the Park Commissioners to discuss draining improvements at the park to provide more usable land areas and other improvements.

The Board of Assessors made its annual report, showing the total assessed valuation in the Town of Esopus to be $5,138,632. It was noted that $81,215 in assessed valuation was added during the year due to new construction and additions or improvements to existing structures, $32,800 of formerly exempt property was restored to taxation, that $11,670 of valuation was removed from the tax roll due to fires or demolitions, and that $41,645 was added to assessments on existing property during the past year. The total value of new exemptions from general town taxes was $34,000 for veterans and $75,947 for the aged due to the "over 65" legislation.

Permission was granted to Port Ewen Methodist Church to hold a rummage sale at the Town Hall on November 1 and 2.

A number of other routine town matters were transacted and the meeting adjourned at 11:25 p. m.

Dutchess Area Explorers Sail Hudson Waters

Fifteen explorers, representing five Explorer Posts of the Dutchess County Council Cabinet, were the guests of members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary for a trip up the Hudson River recently.

The teenagers embarked from Norrie Point in five different yachts and traveled up the Hudson River to the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and then returned. During their trip, the skippers of the boats gave instruction to the boys and permitted them to run the controls.

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

Tom Cahill doesn't sound off much, but when he does, you can be sure the Army football coach knows what he's talking about.

As he gets his Cadet gridders ready for their opener Saturday against Virginia at Michie Stadium, Cahill is keeping in mind the new punt rule, passed by the Rules Committee of the Football Coaches Assn.

THE NEW PUNT RULE

The rule, which will be in effect in all college football this season, prevents the five interior linemen of the punting team from going downfield until the ball is punted. The ends and backs, however, may advance beyond the neutral zone before the punt.

What will this rule do to the college game? Well, Cahill feels it will do away with the long runbacks. "The punters will now aim for the corners instead of trying to kick to a scatback who can run 100 yards in 9.5," he said.

The Army coach feels this rule will lead to more injuries. He also added his gridders will benefit by the change because he has a punter who can kick the ball to any part of the field and he has a couple of speedsters who can go all the way with the punt, in case the ball is kicked to them.

A RUGGED SCHEDULE

Of course, the 1966 Coach of the Year isn't only worried about the new punt rule. His Army gridders are looking forward to a challenging schedule, one of the toughest in recent years at the Point.

The home slate includes, in addition to Virginia, the likes of Duke, Rutgers, Stanford and Utah. Road engagements are scheduled at Boston, Southern Methodist, Air Force and Pittsburgh. And, of course, there is always the Navy game.

STRENGTH ON OFFENSE

For the first time since 1959 Army will have more strength on its offensive unit than on defense. Traditionally a defensive type of team, the 1967 edition has nine returning starters on offense from a club which won eight of its 10 games last fall.

Cahill used spring practice to devote the time to rebuild the defensive unit. He lost six starters from last season's outstanding defensive unit, including the great Townsend Clarke, one of the best linebackers in the school's history.

JOHNSON SHOULD HELP

On defense, Ken Johnson, the former Newburgh Free Academy star, is tabbed by Cahill as the likely successor to Clarke. He labels Johnson a tough football player and expects big things from the junior.

Of course, all eyes will be on the Plains this season. Last year, Cahill was elevated to the head coaching job just three days before the end of spring practice. The 8-2 record compiled by West Point was the best since the fabled Earl Blaik guided the team to an 8-0-1 season in 1958.

MANY APPPEARANCES

With the laurels of national acclaim came the many public appearances and from December well into the summer months of 1967, Cahill could be found talking to groups in almost every state of the country.

During the span of one week, he attended 10 clinics, bringing the Army story to over 12,000 college and high school football coaches.

Now the speaking engagements are past history and the coach and his staff are set for two big seasons. The first comprises the initial nine games. The second, of course, is the annual tiff with Navy, won last year, 20-7, by the Cadets.

He isn't saying, but you can be sure if Cahill can produce another 8-2 record at West Point, he won't be surprised. This year's team has the ingredients to make it a big winner.

Costello's .442 Top Average in Softball

Billy Costello, the No. 1 pitcher in the City Softball League, also emerges as the No. 1 hitter on the basis of final, official averages announced today by Jules Albertini, league statistician.

Costello led in batting average with .442, shared the home run lead (3) with Vince Smedes and the doubles lead (5) with Rich Sickler. He was second in RBIs with 14 to the leader Rich Sickler who had 18. Rich Kelderhouse led in triples with two.

Costello collected 23 hits and three walks in 52 trips to the plate for his .442. Sickler (44-16) was second with .364 and George Fisher hit .364 on 16 hits in 44 trips. Rounding out the top five were Ron Scheffel with .350 and Mel Williams .340.

The statistics:

Rudolph Finds New Putter for Bird Defense

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Armed with a new putter and an aching back, Mason Rudolph sets out today in defense of his Thunderbird Classic Golf Championship, his only tour triumph in the last three years.

The 33-year-old Tennessean headed for a doctor and a hot tub, immediately after completing Wednesday's pro-amateur event. He was several strokes above par and said he picked up his ball on a couple of holes.

Rudolph tied for third at Philadelphia and picked up $6,160.

He won $4,937.50 in the Westchester Classic with his old "blue goose" mallet putter then switched to the Palmer model and won a pro-am event in Dalton, Ga., shooting a 32 over the final nine holes. Then came Philadelphia, which brought his 1967 winnings to $33,395.74.

First prize in the $150,000 Thunderbird is $30,000.

Young Clings To Points Lead

The battle for the Northeastern New York PGA point system honors is now a three-way battle, with veteran Claude Young of Winding Brook leading with 89 points.

Other leaders:

Steelers, Colts Top Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh has the best defense in the National Football League and Baltimore has the best offense according to the first week's official statistics released Wednesday.

The Steelers, of course, clamped down on the Chicago Bears. They held Gale Sayers and Co. to 95 yards, including only 16 on the ground.

Pittsburgh showed a solid offense, too, when it ran up 41 points against the Bears and gained 393 yards, good enough for fourth place.

John Unitas passed for 401 yards of Baltimore's league-leading total of 508 yards against the Atlanta Falcons. Next best is Los Angeles with 462 against the expansion team in New Orleans.

A statistic that does not show up in the weekly averages in the blocked field goal. Philadelphia blocked two against Pete Gogolak of Washington last Sunday, big plays in a 35-24 victory for the Eagles.

Block Two Punts

Mike Morgan, Don Hultz and Harold Wells blocked a Gogolak attempt from the 25 early in the third period with the Eagles leading 21-17. Floyd Peters blocked another from the 19 on the last play of the third period.

Detroit's defense smeared Bart Starr of Green Bay seven times and intercepted four of his passes in a superior effort. Baltimore, Minnesota, Detroit and New York were able to keep their quarterback from being thrown for a loss.

San Diego State To Meet No. 6 Team Saturday

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Aztecs, No. 1 in the first Associated Press poll of the 1967 season, opened their campaign last Friday night by defeating Tennessee State 16-8. San Diego State was the top team and Tennessee State the runnerup in last year's final poll.

This Saturday, San Diego State, winner of 17 games in succession, takes on another formidable opponent in sixth-ranked Weber State. Weber gave the Aztecs their toughest battle last season before losing, 38-34. The Wildcats opened their '67 schedule last Saturday by edging Northern Arizona, 29-28.

In the initial AP poll this year, San Diego garnered eight first-place votes and 113 points. North Dakota State was second with 75 points followed by Waynesburg, 73 points. Twelve sports writers and broadcasters on a national panel participated in the balloting.

Tennessee State, which had its 10-game winning streak ended by San Diego State, was fourth with 70 points.

Cancel San Jose Football Game With Texas Team

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — President Robert D. Clark Wednesday night canceled San Jose State College's football game Saturday night here with the University of Texas, El Paso.

After a meeting with other school administrators, President Clark announced that "in view of disturbing threats from outside our college community to the peaceful conduct of Saturday night's game, I have after consultation with the director of athletics ordered cancellation of the game.

"I consider the action necessary to protect our students, their parents and friends from the possibility of violence in Spartan Stadium."

Charges of racial discrimination in virtually all aspects of campus life have been made by Harry Edwards, a Negro faculty member and former Spartan basketball and track star.

Clark did not name any off-campus person or group who might be planning to invade the stadium Saturday night.

During Wednesday's public hearing on the discrimination charges, Athletic Director Robert Bronzan said his department had not discriminated against Negroes.

Football Coach Harry Anderson said the 11 Negro members of the Spartan squad had told him voluntarily they were "completely satisfied" with conditions.

Fun Tournament To Mrs. Gruberg

Mrs. Gerald Gruberg carded low gross 42 to lead the final fun (tournament) of the season for Wiltwyck Country Club women. A surprise shotgun start was used.

Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli's 50-17-33 led the low nets. Mrs. John Hall had fewest putts (12) and Mrs. Thomas Plunket the most. Mrs. Arthur Motzkin was closest to the pin on No. 11 and Mrs. Richard Davenport and Mrs. Howard DeWitt had the longest drives on No. 12.

Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky was credited with a blind birdie. A prize went to Mrs. Maurice Davenport for holing out off the green, while Mrs. William Davenport, was cited as the most honest golfer on any hole.

Other citations went to: Mrs. Douglas Kennedy and Mrs. George C. Rifenbary for hitting most traps in nine holes; Mrs. Clifford Spiesman for the best poker hand and Mrs. Samuel Levine for the most pars. Mrs. Robert Yallum was acclaimed the most honest golfer.

Nebraska Guard Lineman of Week

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Wayne Meylan, Nebraska's All-America middle guard of last year and this week's Lineman of the Week in college football, doesn't mind the pressure of the big game, but when it comes to a coaching career — nothing doing.

Mayland, a 6-foot, 239-pound senior from Bay City, Mich., made life miserable for Washington backs as Nebraska beat the Huskies at Seattle last week 17-7 as he stopped third-down plays for losses and had a total of 13 unassisted tackles.

Meylan says he has plotted his future this way:

"No coaching. There's too much pressure. I want to play five years of pro football, then become a jet fighter pilot."

CRUSADER STARS—Two of the top stars with the Hudson Valley Crusaders are Roger Myrick (10) quarterback and Chuck Dentley, former West Texas State defensive tackle, who joined the team last week. Lamonica Paces AFL in Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — Daryle Lamonica, who used to play second fiddle to Jackie Kemp in Buffalo, has come into his own as the leading passer in the American Football League with the Oakland Raiders in the latest statistics released Wednesday.

The former Notre Dame quarterback came to Oakland in the off season with receiver Glenn Bass in a deal that sent quarterback Tom Flores and receiver Art Powell to Buffalo.

In two games with Oakland, Lamonica has engineered an attack that has scored 86 points and has taken over the passing lead from Lenny Dawson of Kansas City, who had a bye last week. Lamonica has hit with 59 per cent of his passes for 369 yards and four touchdowns. He has been intercepted only once.

The only regular quarterback who hasn't had an interception is Joe Namath of the New York Jets, who has played only one game. Babe Parilli of the Boston Patriots has had 11 picked off in three losing games.

Jim Nance of Boston still leads the rushers with 182 yards on 50 carries in three games. Clem Daniels of Oakland has run for 164 yards on 34 carries in two games.

Art Graham, also of the all-losing Pats, is the top receiver with 17 catches for 290 yards and three touchdowns. The three touchdowns left Graham tied with Hewritt Dixon of Oakland and Hoyle Granger of Houston for the scoring lead with 18 points.

Lime Rock Race Set to Oct. 14

The Area Championship Race previously scheduled on September 23rd at Lime Rock Park in Lime Rock, Connecticut by the Northern New Jersey Region of the Sports Car Club of America has been rescheduled at Lime Rock for October 14th.

The open September 23rd date at Lime Rock will be filled by a private club race sponsored by the International Conference of Sports Car Clubs.

The New York Region of the Sports Car Club of America which had held the sanction for the October Lime Rock event has moved its Area Championship Race to the Bridgehampton circuit on Long Island on October 7th.

Youngest player in recent U.S. Open golf championship was Jimmy Simons of Butler, Pa. He is 17. He shot 86-79. Oldest competitor was E. J. (Dutch) Harrison at 57. He shot 70-76 to qualify for the final two rounds in which he shot 72-70.

Foyt Enters 500 Charlotte Race

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — A. J. Foyt, top money-winner in auto racing this year, entered the National 500-mile race at Charlotte Motor Speedway Wednesday. The race will be held Oct. 15.

Foyt, winner of the Indianapolis 500-miler and the 24-hour endurance race at Le Mans with Dan Gurney, will drive a 1967 Ford Fairlane built and entered by veteran Asheville mechanic Banjo Matthews.

Richard Howard, CMS general manager, said Foyt's entry poses a new challenge for Plymouth which has broken almost every major record in NASCAR this season.

"I'm looking forward to racing in Charlotte again," Foyt said, "maybe I can do something for Ford in an effort to stop Petty, who is having a sensational year."

Foyt has won well over $200,000 so far this season, topping his previous high of two years ago. Twice a winner of the Indianapolis 500-miler, he won $171,000 in that annual classic last May.

Fourteen Games on Tap in Weekend Grid Openers

Vincentian Is First On Maroon Schedule

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Kingston High and Saugerties will make their debuts and 14 area games are on tap as the schoolboy grid season swings into its first full week of activity.

Coach Bill Hurley's KHS eleven has a Friday night encounter at Bleecker Stadium in Albany against Vincentian Institute.

Also on the schedule are league games in the UCAL and DCSL.

Friday's Schedule

Nyack at Port Jervis

Saturday's Schedule

Marlboro at Liberty
Pine Bush at Highland
Onteora at New Paltz
Wallkill at Rondout
Saugerties vs. CBA (Bleecker, night)
Spring Valley at Middletown
Chatham at Red Hook
Ellenville at Jeffersonville
Cardinal Farley at Beacon
Lourdes at Roosevelt
Wappingers at Poughkeepsie
Newburgh at Arlington

Two Starters Back

Kingston will field a young and inexperienced squad against Vincentian. Only halfback Greg Rios and fullback Tim Bowens (an end last season) were starters on Thanksgiving Day against Newburgh.

Hurley has listed his probable starting lineup as Fred Kachura and Russ Wilber, ends; Randy Kelder and John Berardi, tackles; Mike Perry and Harry Lyons, guards and Mike Rosinski, center. Mike Hoffman will get the starting nod at quarterback. Rios will play tailback and either Dana Clearwater or Jeff Perry will be at slotback. Bowens is the fullback.

The home squad, coached by Ed Lynch, has a new offensive team but has seven defensive regulars returning. Top player for VI is Mike O'Shaugenessy, a 230-pound linebacker and an offensive tackle. He's a college prospect.

Vincentian, which bowed, 27-6, to Kingston last season, will have speedsters Kevin O'Connell and Jim Hughes as its chief running threats. The quarterback is Chris Rutnik, a second stringer in '66.

Lynch, beginning his third year as head coach of the Capital District school, uses the Slot T and feels he will have the speed to use a lot of running plays. Vicentian was 4-2-1 last year and the coach is hoping for improvement.

Adjustments Made

Though the KHS eleven was drubbed in a practice scrimmage by Arlington, Hurley said some adjustments have been made and he expects the club to be ready for its opener.

"Our recent practice sessions have been good and the boys have been working hard," he added.

Saugerties, which figures to have one of its best clubs in recent seasons, will be meeting a CBA squad that emphasizes a balanced offensive. The upstaters have seven lettermen.

In UCAL action, Liberty, Highland, Onteora and Rondout are favored over their opening foes. The Liberty Indians haven't played a non-league game but reports from Sullivan County indicate coach Charles P. (Woody) Witherwax has a powerhouse.

Highland will be seeking a third straight title and should have easy pickings against Pine Bush, which was toppled by Minisink Valley in its opener.

Indians Impressive

Onteora showed good offensive power and an adequate defense against Red Hook in its 27-7 decision. New Paltz toppled Millrook, 12-0, and should offer a good test for coach Paul Jordan's pennant hopeful eleven.

Rondout, which had Gordie Taylor score four touchdowns and John Meehan throw passes like a pro from his quarterback slot, should prove much too strong for Wallkill, a 44-0 loser to Pawling. The Ganders walloped Tri-Valley, 51-7.

Teams in the DCSL will be playing for the first time. Early indications are that Poughkeepsie and Arlington loom as co-favorites with Wappingers, Lourdes and Roosevelt battling to unseat Arlington as champion.

Middletown, which faces the toughest schedule in the area, has a Rockland County power, Spring Valley, for its opener. Port Jervis opens tonight against Nyack, another Rockland County club.

Arlington, a strong favorite in the DCSL, entertains Newburgh, the pre-season choice to win DUSO laurels.

Red Hook hopes to rebound from its loss to Onteora with a contest against Chatham, which will be making its debut.

Angels Assure Rigney Repeat

ANAHEIM (AP) — There'll be some changes made on the California Angels' roster this winter, but Bill Rigney is to return as manager.

That much was indicated Wednesday when Rigney huddled with General Manager Fred Haney before Chicago spoiled the Angels' final home game of the season, 6-4.

"Rig has done a fine job," said Haney, "and as far as I know, he'll be back next year. I talked to him today about it and he said, 'fine and dandy.' But he hasn't signed a contract yet."

Haney said the fifth-place Angels hope to strengthen themselves in the trade marts this winter.

The win Wednesday night was an important one for the White Sox, who remain a half-game behind co-leaders Boston and Minnesota.

It would appear that Chicago has an edge over the three other title contenders, inasmuch as the White Sox will play their eight remaining games against second-division teams. They'll play Cleveland, Kansas City, and Washington.

Foot Injury Decks McLain

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers suffered a severe blow to their American League pennant chances Wednesday when they learned 17-game winner Denny McLain dislocated two toes in his left foot and would be lost for at least until Monday and possibly for the remaining nine games of the season.

McLain, knocked out in his last four starts, said he dozed off while watching television at his home Monday and injured his foot when he arose from a chair.

"The foot fell asleep on me and when I got up it just collapsed outwards," said McLain. "I don't know if anyone will believe it, but that's what happened."

Manager Mayo Smith, who indicated he had planned to use only three starters the remainder of the season anyway, said McLain would remain in Detroit to take treatments during the weekend series in Washington and report to the team in New York on Monday.

Boz and Chance, Two Gifted Kids

MINNEAPOLIS - St. Paul (AP) — The Dean Chance-Dave Boswell mutual admiration society met in front of Chance's locker Wednesday after the big right-hander had pitched Minnesota to a four-hit, 13-strikeout 6-2 victory over Kansas City.

The Twins remained tied for first place in the American League race with Boston, which edged Cleveland 5-4 Wednesday night.

Chance then rather laboriously wrote a long inspirational message on a baseball and gave it to Boswell.

"This is the ball on which I got my 200th strikeout today," Chance explained. "Boz gave me the ball when he got his 200th Tuesday night at Kansas City. We're the only two Twins' pitchers to strike out 200 men in a season."

Chance, who ran his season total to 207 before he was finished Wednesday for a career high, said Boswell "tells me to go for strikeouts against these big hitters. Sometimes I let up on them."

Throng Greets Cardinals on Arrival Home

ST. LOUIS (AP) — About 1,000 fans jammed Lambert Municipal Airport early today to greet the homecoming St. Louis Cardinals despite a driving rainstorm and a three-day wait since the Cardinals clinched the National League pennant.

The crowd overflowed the west concourse of the terminal chanting, "We want Cha Cha," until slugging first baseman Orlando Cepeda appeared. A group of six policemen had to convoy Cepeda through the crowd while fans grabbed at him, hugged him and slapped him on the back.

Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst was the first man off the plane and he held an impromptu news conference with reporters in the rain.

The "Red Head" shrugged off all questions about the American League race. He said he didn't care who won as long as somebody wins without a playoff.

Cepeda was unconcerned about a playoff. As he pushed his way through the crowd he said, "I don't think any team can beat us. The rest wouldn't hurt us."

One-Run Defeats Even Up for Sox

CLEVELAND (AP) — "The players are trying to even up the one-run defeats of last year all in one month," said Boston Manager Dick Williams Wednesday night after his Red Sox had edged the Cleveland Indians 5-4 to maintain a share of the American League lead with the Minnesota Twins.

"These games are more of a strain on you," said Carl Yastrzemski, who had four hits in five trips, including his 41st homer, and also scored the winning run. "It would be less of a strain if we'd win 9-1."

Sam McDowell, who started and left for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning with the score tied 4-4, gave up three of Yastrzemski's hits, including the homer.

"I was exceptionally quick with my hands and I hit his mistakes," Yastrzemski explained. "I have a day like that about every three weeks."

Yaz Stayed to the End; Early Quit For Kaline

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Kaline, who struck early and often, got an early good night. Carl Yastrzemski, who saved his best shots for the late innings, had to stay around to the bitter end.

Kaline hit his 25th homer in the first inning of Detroit's 10-1 rout of the New York Yankees Wednesday night. After he doubled in the Tigers' run-scoring third and fifth innings, Al was sent home to put his feet up.

But the Red Sox, who have made comeback victories a way of life lately needed Yastrzemski every inch of the way against Cleveland.

He hit his 41st homer in the sixth inning then got his fourth hit in the ninth, a single, and rode home on Reggie Smith's single with the run that won the game 5-4.

CARL YASTRZEMSKI

The Red Sox stayed tied for the American League lead with Minnesota, which beat Kansas City 6-2 earlier in the day, while the Tigers remained in fourth place, one game out and a half-game behind third-place Chicago, which beat California 6-4.

Baltimore took a doubleheader from Washington 4-3 and 6-3 in 10 innings.

"These one-run games are more of a strain on you," said Yastrzemski. "It'd be less of a strain if we'd win 9-1 and lose by the same score."

Tiger Manager Mayo Smith said Kaline's first-inning shot unglued Yankee starter Al Downing, who usually gives the Tigers a tough time. Don Wert, who seems completely recovered from his hamstring pull, added a homer in the eighth.

Joe Sparma, who gave up only seven hits, lost his shutout when Charlie Smith homered in the ninth. Sparma's record now is 15-9.

The Twins got all the hitting they needed from Tony Oliva and Bob Allison, who each hit two-run homers, but Harmon Killebrew drove in a couple of runs with singles just to make sure. Dean Chance won his 16th game, giving up just four hits and striking out 13.

The White Sox got a homer and three runs batted in from Tommie Agee and clutch relief pitching from Bob Locker, who pitched three innings of hitless ball before giving up a final run in the ninth. Rick Reichardt homered for the Angels.

16 Carlton Whiffs Fail to Check Phils

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Carlton, who has contributed 14 victories to St. Louis' pennant push this season, set a season's strikeout high Wednesday night, fanning 16 Philadelphia batters. But he came away a 3-1 loser, mainly because of Cookie Rojas.

Rojas drove in the Phillies' tie-breaking run with a fourth-inning single and then scored an insurance run after doubling in the seventh as Philadelphia survived Carlton's strikeout pitch for the victory.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco topped Chicago 5-1, Los Angeles edged New York 4-3, Cincinnati pounded Atlanta 9-4 and Houston nipped Pittsburgh 5-4.

Chris Short bested Carlton on a four-hitter and struck out nine. The two-team total of 25 strikeouts fell one short of the major league record set by Philadelphia and Pittsburgh in 1965. And except for an enthusiastic fan, the record might have been broken.

He Knew It

"I knew I was striking out a lot of batters," said Carlton, "but I didn't know how many. Then someone at the end of the seventh yelled from the stands that I had struck out 15. From that point I kind of lost my concentration. I began throwing bad pitches."

Carlton, 14-9, struck out only one man in the final two innings after the fan shouted at him. Ed Spiezio homered for the Cardinals.

Gaylord Perry won his fifth straight game on a seven-hitter and evened his record at 15-15 as San Francisco won its 13th game in 17 September starts.

Jim Davenport had four hits including a home run for the Giants, who jolted Cubs' rookie Rich Nye early.

Al Ferrara tagged a two-run double that snapped a scoreless tie in the sixth inning and helped Don Drysdale pitch Los Angeles past the Mets.

Vada Pinson and John Bench walloped three-run homers for the Reds, who whacked the Braves. Pinson connected in the first inning and Bench's first major league shot came in the sixth. Hank Aaron hit his 38th for the Braves.

Houston rallied for three ninth-inning runs—the last two on pinch hitter Ron Davis' two-out pinch single—and nipped the Pirates. Doubles by Jim Wynn and Doug Rader started the winning rally and Davis' bases-loaded single climaxed it.

It's been replaced.

To those of you who were expecting something fancier, sorry. (The '68 looks just like the '67 crossed out above.)

To those of you who now own a Volkswagen, congratulations. (Once again your model has not gone out of style.)

To those of you who've been thinking about buying a new one, nice thinking.

The front seats are more comfortable. (They have built-in headrests.)

Even the shifting is easier. (We put a decal on the window to show you how.)

All in all, we feel that the 36 nice little changes on this year's Volkswagen make it the best ever.

Of course, every year we build the "perfect" Volkswagen.

And then we do a masterful job of proving ourselves wrong.

Come in and see it tomorrow

Rebuilding Job for State Soccer Coach

With coach Al Miller gone from the scene and with All-American Gene Ventriglia and All-Conference Bill Doon and Solomon Iyasere having been graduated, Bob Durkin has a tough hurdle in his first season as head soccer coach at State University (New Paltz).

Miller guided the Hawks to their greatest heights before leaving during the summer to accept the coaching job at Hartwick College. Durkin, who served as the school's frosh coach for two years, has inherited a squad stripped of its three outstanding performers.

Ventriglia was one of the best soccer players in the country. His four-year records at New Paltz will probably go unchallenged. Doon and Iyasere were solid performers for the Hawks during their varsity careers.

Durkin, whose frosh club produced a nifty 5-2-1 mark last year, has Bob Spadoni, Angelo Targia, Paul Kahl, Dan Greaves, T. K. Kuhat, Tony DeLuca, Bill Roche and Bob Mountz as his returnees. The latter played two seasons ago but was ineligible last year.

Three Transfer Students

From his freshman squad, Durkin has promoted Abdi Yunis, a native of Somali, Africa and Clement Mbadinuja, a Nigerian star. Others from the frosh club seeking varsity berths are Bruce Garrett, Glenn Morehouse, Mal Hopper, Ken Neslund and Al Gardner. Neslund played football at Kingston High and Gardner is a Saugerties resident.

"I have big shoes to fill. Al Miller was a dedicated and successful coach and he did a lot for soccer at New Paltz," Durkin said.

He added the Hawks have had to learn his system of coaching in a short time since Miller left during the summer. He is looking towards a .500 season and will be thankful if the Hawks can better that mark.

"With Ventriglia gone, the boys can now look for each other instead of just looking for a great player like Gene. The scoring should be divided more this year," Durkin said.

Won Upstate Tourney

The coach was satisfied over the team's showing in the recent tournament at Oneonta. New Paltz finished first ahead of Ithaca, RPI and the host school. Though the Hawks didn't do much scoring, their defense was superb.

Candidates have been at the school's soccer camp near the Ashokan Reservoir for several weeks and Durkin said progress has been good and the boys have worked hard.

Lee Roberts, former Ellenville High and Sullivan Community College coach, will be assistant varsity coach and will handle the frosh club. John Demenkoff will again serve as trainer.

The Hawks make their debut under Durkin on Saturday, Sept. 30 at Buffalo, pre-season choice to win SUNYAC honors.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jockey Braulio Baeza rode the winner of the first race, Irish Chief, at Aqueduct Wednesday, then flew to Atlantic City where he brought in Assagai second to Flit-To in the $100,000 United Nations Handicap.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions reactivated end Gail Cogdill, leading pass receiver in Lions' history, and said Wednesday he would be available for Sunday's National Football League game with the Cleveland Browns.

CHICAGO (AP) — Craig Perret, a 16-year-old apprentice jockey from New Orleans, rode five winners at the Hawthorne race track Wednesday.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Bobby Fisher, the American chess champion from New York, said today he will play in the interzonal tournament for the world championship which begins Oct. 16 in Tunis.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) —A. J. Foyt, top money-winner in auto racing this year, Wednesday entered the National 500-mile race at Charlotte Motor Speedway which will be held Oct. 15.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yacht Club received Wednesday a French challenge for a series of races in 1970 for the America's Cup.

The Big Game

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Sports Editor

BALTIMORE vs. PHILADELPHIA

Key meeting of teams with spotless records on the second Sunday of the season. There's only one other the same day — New York-Dallas. And that doesn't cross conference lines like the Colts and Eagles.

Baltimore has Johnny Unitas in renaissance form throwing to the most varied pack of receivers in the game. If the old boy can stay healthy, it's no matter that Colts lack breakaway running threat to complement his passing. Unfortunately, there's also a symptom of vulnerability to passing by the Colt secondary.

Eagles are tougher to figure. They're up and down like a yo-yo. Norm Snead blows hot and cold as quarterback, depending on how quickly he can get the ball away. Eagles can throw running backs at the enemy in waves. Their defense is best described as scrambling.

Therefore, this should be a high-scoring, spotty contest in which the essential stability of the Colts should prevail. The pick:

Baltimore 34, Philadelphia 24.

Hayes-Carr Matchup Is Sunday Sidelight

The prospect of a foot race between Hayes, the "World's Fastest Human" in his days at Florida A&M and the Olympics, and Carr, the 1964 Olympic 200-meter champ, is an alluring sidelight to Sunday's game.

Farr, signed out of UCLA by the Lions, ran for 95 yards against the tough Green Bay defense. Griese, called upon unexpectedly when John Stofa was injured, led Miami to victory over Denver with 12 of 19 pass completions for 193 yards and two touchdowns, a fine debut for the Purdue flash.

Bubba Smith, the giant defensive lineman from Michigan State, missed Baltimore's opener because of an injury. Bubba was the No. 1 pick in the draft on the rights the Colts got from New Orleans for Gary Cuzzo.

Linda Every Top Woodstock Rider

Linda Every, seated amidst a field of 55 riders, scored 81 points riding My Lady Lou to win the Grand Championship in the final Junior Western division horse show sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club.

The Junior English prizes were won by Liz Edmunds riding Danzig. Her Grand Championship was captured with 33 points. Connie Darling on Kickapoo was Reserve Grand Champion.

Boxing Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets for Saturday night's amateur boxing show at the municipal auditorium will be on sale at the auditorium ticket booth Friday and Saturday, between 1 p. m. and 5 p. m.

The AAU-sanctioned card features 1967 Golden Gloves champions and other topflight amateurs. Eight or 10 bouts will be presented in addition to entertainment.

Optimism and Confidence Running High at Cornell

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — If optimism and confidence are keys to a successful football team, Cornell University's squad should have a good season in the Ivy League.

Head coach Jack Musick said Wednesday "our players are convinced that they can beat the traditionally strong teams of the Ivy League — Princeton, Dartmouth and Harvard."

Musick begins his second season at Cornell, however, without the services of several of last year's best players, including quarterback Bill Abel, tackle Harry Garman and Pete Larson, the fleet tailback. Graduaion also saw the departure of split end Ron Gervase, tackle Reeve Vanneman and guard George McWeeney.

The coach remains confident, however.

"We won't be as big in the line this year, but we'll certainly be more active."

Musick also said his team's offensive attack this year "would be more versatile" than the 1966 team, which won six games and lost three.

Junior Quarterback

Four players are expected to share the running duties at the halfback posts. They are Juniors Ed Zak, Jim Heeps and Khris Ritter and senior Bill Huling.

Bill Murphy, a senior who played safety on defense last year, has been switched to the vital split-end post vacated by Gervase.

On defense, the forward wall will be anchored by 245-pound John Sponheimer and team Captain Ron Kopicki. The linebackers, both lettermen, are Doug Kleiber and Rick Newton.

Improve Defense

Musick hopes he has improved the team's secondary defense, which was picked apart neatly last season by opposing quarterbacks. John Kincaid, a junior, has been tabbed for the safety man slot. Other secondary defenders will be Lloyd Ruth, a junior and Keith Cummins, who weighs 160 pounds and is the lightest man on the team. Cummins also is the only sophomore to win a starting position.

Cornell's offensive attack also should be aided by place-kicker Pete Zogby, who connected on five field goals and 14 extra points last year to rank second among Cornell scorers.

Musick said his team would have to be ready early this year, however, because "the heart of the schedule comes in the first five weeks."

The schedule:

Sept. 30, Bucknell; Oct. 7, at Colgate; Oct. 14, Princeton; Oct. 21, Harvard; Oct. 28, at Hale; Nov. 4, Columbia; Nov. 11, Brown; Nov. 18, at Dartmouth, and Nov. 25, at Pennsylvania.

Wallkill Kennel Show on Sunday

The Wallkill Kennel Club will stage its annual fall A.K.C.-sanctioned match show and obedience trial Sunday, Sept. 24, at Wilson Field in Middletown. Judging starts at 12:30 p. m. and admission is free.

Trophies will be offered for best of breed, both puppy and adult, in every breed having an entry of five or more. Breeder's trophies will be awarded for winners in all puppy groups.

Junior handling and obedience judging will begin at 12:30 p. m. Breed judging starts at 1 p. m. Entries will be taken starting at 11:30 a. m. and will remain open for each breed until the time of judging of that breed.

Wilson Field is located on Route 17 M, near Bradley's Corners.

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

Tom Cahill doesn't sound off much, but when he does, you can be sure the Army football coach knows what he's talking about.

As he gets his Cadet gridders ready for their opener Saturday against Virginia at Michie Stadium, Cahill is keeping in mind the new punt rule, passed by the Rules Committee of the Football Coaches Assn.

THE NEW PUNT RULE

The rule, which will be in effect in all college football this season, prevents the five interior linemen of the punting team from going downfield until the ball is punted. The ends and backs, however, may advance beyond the neutral zone before the punt.

What will this rule do to the college game? Well, Cahill feels it will do away with the long runbacks. "The punters will now aim for the corners instead of trying to kick to a scatback who can run 100 yards in 9.5," he said.

The Army coach feels this rule will lead to more injuries. He also added his gridders will benefit by the change because he has a punter who can kick the ball to any part of the field and he has a couple of speedsters who can go all the way with the punt, in case the ball is kicked to them.

A RUGGED SCHEDULE

Of course, the 1966 Coach of the Year isn't only worried about the new punt rule. His Army gridders are looking forward to a challenging schedule, one of the toughest in recent years at the Point.

The home slate includes, in addition to Virginia, the likes of Duke, Rutgers, Stanford and Utah. Road engagements are scheduled at Boston, Southern Methodist, Air Force and Pittsburgh. And, of course, there is always the Navy game.

STRENGTH ON OFFENSE

For the first time since 1959 Army will have more strength on its offensive unit than on defense. Traditionally a defensive type of team, the 1967 edition has nine returning starters on offense from a club which won eight of its 10 games last fall.

Cahill used spring practice to devote the time to rebuild the defensive unit. He lost six starters from last season's outstanding defensive unit, including the great Townsend Clarke, one of the best linebackers in the school's history.

Junior quarterback Steve Lindell is the key to the offensive team. As a sophomore, Lindell threw 137 passes and carried 124 times for a total of 281 plays. This broke the Academy record set by Rollie Stichweh in 1964.

JOHNSON SHOULD HELP

On defense, Ken Johnson, the former Newburgh Free Academy star, is tabbed by Cahill as the likely successor to Clarke. He labels Johnson a tough football player and expects big things from the junior.

Of course, all eyes will be on the Plains this season. Last year, Cahill was elevated to the head coaching job just three days before the end of spring practice. The 8-2 record compiled by West Point was the best since the fabled Earl Blaik guided the team to an 8-0-1 season in 1958.

MANY APPPEARANCES

With the laurels of national acclaim came the many public appearances and from December well into the summer months of 1967, Cahill could be found talking to groups in almost every state of the country.

During the span of one week, he attended 10 clinics, bringing the Army story to over 12,000 college and high school football coaches.

Now the speaking engagements are past history and the coach and his staff are set for two big seasons. The first comprises the initial nine games. The second, of course, is the annual tiff with Navy, won last year, 20-7, by the Cadets.

He isn't saying, but you can be sure if Cahill can produce another 8-2 record at West Point, he won't be surprised. This year's team has the ingredients to make it a big winner.

Steelers, Colts Top Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — Pittsburgh has the best defense in the National Football League and Baltimore has the best offense according to the first week's official statistics released Wednesday.

The Steelers, of course, clamped down on the Chicago Bears. They held Gale Sayers and Co. to 95 yards, including only 16 on the ground.

Pittsburgh showed a solid offense, too, when it ran up 41 points against the Bears and gained 393 yards, good enough for fourth place.

John Unitas passed for 401 yards of Baltimore's league-leading total of 508 yards against the Atlanta Falcons. Next best is Los Angeles with 462 against the expansion team in New Orleans.

A statistic that does not show up in the weekly averages in the blocked field goal. Philadelphia blocked two against Pete Gogolak of Washington last Sunday, big plays in a 35-24 victory for the Eagles.

Block Two Punts

Mike Morgan, Don Hultz and Harold Wells blocked a Gogolak attempt from the 25 early in the third period with the Eagles leading 21-17. Floyd Peters blocked another from the 19 on the last play of the third period.

Detroit's defense smeared Bart Starr of Green Bay seven times and intercepted four of his passes in a superior effort. Baltimore, Minnesota, Detroit and New York were able to keep their quarterback from being thrown for a loss.

San Diego State To Meet No. 6 Team Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Aztecs, No. 1 in the first Associated Press poll of the 1967 season, opened their campaign last Friday night by defeating Tennessee State 16-8. San Diego State was the top team and Tennessee State the runnerup in last year's final poll.

This Saturday, San Diego State, winner of 17 games in succession, takes on another formidable opponent in sixth-ranked Weber State. Weber gave the Aztecs their toughest battle last season before losing, 38-34. The Wildcats opened their '67 schedule last Saturday by edging Northern Arizona, 29-28.

In the initial AP poll this year, San Diego garnered eight first-place votes and 113 points. North Dakota State was second with 75 points followed by Waynesburg, 73 points. Twelve sports writers and broadcasters on a national panel participated in the balloting.

Tennessee State, which had its 10-game winning streak ended by San Diego State, was fourth with 70 points.

Cancel San Jose Football Game With Texas Team

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — President Robert D. Clark Wednesday night canceled San Jose State College's football game Saturday night here with the University of Texas, El Paso.

After a meeting with other school administrators, President Clark announced that "in view of disturbing threats from outside our college community to the peaceful conduct of Saturday night's game, I have after consultation with the director of athletics ordered cancellation of the game.

"I consider the action necessary to protect our students, their parents and friends from the possibility of violence in Spartan Stadium."

Charges of racial discrimination in virtually all aspects of campus life have been made by Harry Edwards, a Negro faculty member and former Spartan basketball and track star.

Clark did not name any off-campus person or group who might be planning to invade the stadium Saturday night.

During Wednesday's public hearing on the discrimination charges, Athletic Director Robert Bronzan said his department had not discriminated against Negroes.

Football Coach Harry Anderson said the 11 Negro members of the Spartan squad had told him voluntarily they were "completely satisfied" with conditions.

Nebraska Guard Lineman of Week

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Wayne Meylan, Nebraska's All-America middle guard of last year and this week's Lineman of the Week in college football, doesn't mind the pressure of the big game, but when it comes to a coaching career — nothing doing.

Mayland, a 6-foot, 239-pound senior from Bay City, Mich., made life miserable for Washington backs as Nebraska beat the Huskies at Seattle last week 17-7 as he stopped third-down plays for losses and had a total of 13 unassisted tackles.

Meylan says he has plotted his future this way:

"No coaching. There's too much pressure. I want to play five years of pro football, then become a jet fighter pilot."

CRUSADER STARS—Two of the top stars with the Hudson Valley Crusaders are Roger Myrick (10) quarterback and Chuck Dentley, former West Texas State defensive tackle, who joined the team last week. Lamonica Paces AFL in Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — Daryle Lamonica, who used to play second fiddle to Jackie Kemp in Buffalo, has come into his own as the leading passer in the American Football League with the Oakland Raiders in the latest statistics released Wednesday.

The former Notre Dame quarterback came to Oakland in the off season with receiver Glenn Bass in a deal that sent quarterback Tom Flores and receiver Art Powell to Buffalo.

In two games with Oakland, Lamonica has engineered an attack that has scored 86 points and has taken over the passing lead from Lenny Dawson of Kansas City, who had a bye last week. Lamonica has hit with 59 per cent of his passes for 369 yards and four touchdowns. He has been intercepted only once.

The only regular quarterback who hasn't had an interception is Joe Namath of the New York Jets, who has played only one game. Babe Parilli of the Boston Patriots has had 11 picked off in three losing games.

Jim Nance of Boston still leads the rushers with 182 yards on 50 carries in three games. Clem Daniels of Oakland has run for 164 yards on 34 carries in two games.

Art Graham, also of the all-losing Pats, is the top receiver with 17 catches for 290 yards and three touchdowns. The three touchdowns left Graham tied with Hewritt Dixon of Oakland and Hoyle Granger of Houston for the scoring lead with 18 points.

Lime Rock Race Set to Oct. 14

The Area Championship Race previously scheduled on September 23rd at Lime Rock Park in Lime Rock, Connecticut by the Northern New Jersey Region of the Sports Car Club of America has been rescheduled at Lime Rock for October 14th.

The open September 23rd date at Lime Rock will be filled by a private club race sponsored by the International Conference of Sports Car Clubs.

The New York Region of the Sports Car Club of America which had held the sanction for the October Lime Rock event has moved its Area Championship Race to the Bridgehampton circuit on Long Island on October 7th.

Youngest player in recent U.S. Open golf championship was Jimmy Simons of Butler, Pa. He is 17. He shot 86-79. Oldest competitor was E. J. (Dutch) Harrison at 57. He shot 70-76 to qualify for the final two rounds in which he shot 72-70.

Costello's .442 Top Average in Softball

Billy Costello, the No. 1 pitcher in the City Softball League, also emerges as the No. 1 hitter on the basis of final, official averages announced today by Jules Albertini, league statistician.

Costello led in batting average with .442, shared the home run lead (3) with Vince Smedes and the doubles lead (5) with Rich Sickler. He was second in RBIs with 14 to the leader Rich Sickler who had 18. Rich Kelderhouse led in triples with two.

Costello collected 23 hits and three walks in 52 trips to the plate for his .442. Sickler (44-16) was second with .364 and George Fisher hit .364 on 16 hits in 44 trips. Rounding out the top five were Ron Scheffel with .350 and Mel Williams .340.

The statistics:

Rudolph Finds New Putter for Bird Defense

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Armed with a new putter and an aching back, Mason Rudolph sets out today in defense of his Thunderbird Classic Golf Championship, his only tour triumph in the last three years.

The 33-year-old Tennessean headed for a doctor and a hot tub, immediately after completing Wednesday's pro-amateur event. He was several strokes above par and said he picked up his ball on a couple of holes.

Rudolph tied for third at Philadelphia and picked up $6,160.

He won $4,937.50 in the Westchester Classic with his old "blue goose" mallet putter then switched to the Palmer model and won a pro-am event in Dalton, Ga., shooting a 32 over the final nine holes. Then came Philadelphia, which brought his 1967 winnings to $33,395.74.

First prize in the $150,000 Thunderbird is $30,000.

Young Clings To Points Lead

The battle for the Northeastern New York PGA point system honors is now a three-way battle, with veteran Claude Young of Winding Brook leading with 89 points.

Other leaders:

Fun Tournament To Mrs. Gruberg

Mrs. Gerald Gruberg carded low gross 42 to lead the final fun (tournament) of the season for Wiltwyck Country Club women. A surprise shotgun start was used.

Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli's 50-17-33 led the low nets. Mrs. John Hall had fewest putts (12) and Mrs. Thomas Plunket the most. Mrs. Arthur Motzkin was closest to the pin on No. 11 and Mrs. Richard Davenport and Mrs. Howard DeWitt had the longest drives on No. 12.

Mrs. Seymour Werbalowsky was credited with a blind birdie. A prize went to Mrs. Maurice Davenport for holing out off the green, while Mrs. William Davenport, was cited as the most honest golfer on any hole.

Other citations went to: Mrs. Douglas Kennedy and Mrs. George C. Rifenbary for hitting most traps in nine holes; Mrs. Clifford Spiesman for the best poker hand and Mrs. Samuel Levine for the most pars. Mrs. Robert Yallum was acclaimed the most honest golfer.

Foyt Enters 500 Charlotte Race

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — A. J. Foyt, top money-winner in auto racing this year, entered the National 500-mile race at Charlotte Motor Speedway Wednesday. The race will be held Oct. 15.

Foyt, winner of the Indianapolis 500-miler and the 24-hour endurance race at Le Mans with Dan Gurney, will drive a 1967 Ford Fairlane built and entered by veteran Asheville mechanic Banjo Matthews.

Richard Howard, CMS general manager, said Foyt's entry poses a new challenge for Plymouth which has broken almost every major record in NASCAR this season.

"I'm looking forward to racing in Charlotte again," Foyt said, "maybe I can do something for Ford in an effort to stop Petty, who is having a sensational year."

Foyt has won well over $200,000 so far this season, topping his previous high of two years ago. Twice a winner of the Indianapolis 500-miler, he won $171,000 in that annual classic last May.

Press Investigation Of Esopus Burglaries

Investigation of two Port Ewen burglaries, during which two stolen trucks were used, today was pressed by the Ulster County sheriff's department and State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers.

The trucks were recovered by deputy sheriffs. One truck had a cargo of copper valued at $4,000, which also was recovered.

Sheriff William B. Martin and County Investigator Harold T. Bowers of the sheriff's office, and State Police BCI Investigator Fred Grunewald are directing the investigation with uniform personnel from both departments.

The recovery of two stolen pickup trucks by deputy sheriffs started the investigation of burglaries at the J. C. Metal Spinning & Stamping Co., and the Dana Manufacturing Co., Broadway, Port Ewen, yesterday morning.

According to Investigator Bowers the perpetrators of the burglaries are believed to have stolen a truck owned by Posner's Window Cleaning. The truck was found by Deputy Sheriff Robert Jordan stuck in mud at the rear of the building occupied by the metal company and Dana's.

Earlier yesterday, Deputy Michael Giordano found a truck owned by the J. C. Metal Company, abandoned on Route 209 between Hurley and Stone Ridge. The gasoline tank was empty. This truck, Bowers said, had a cargo of copper worth $4,000, which had been ready for delivery by the metal company.

Articles stolen from the metal company plant that are still sought by authorities are a .38 caliber revolver, a color console television, a white table radio, a Channel Master walkie talkie, a self-winding wrist watch and $370 in cash. Bowers said a soda vending machine in the plant was opened and $40 taken.

The county investigator also reported that office machines taken from the office of the Dana Company were still missing. The loot consisted of an IBM dictating machine, an Underwood electric calculator, an IBM Seletic typewriter, a Smith Corona typewriter, an Underwood adding machine and $123 in cash.

UR Agency Elects Yallum As Treasurer

The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency has a new treasurer — Elmore Yallum, the newest member of the agency.

Yallum, who was elected to the post last night, will replace Orrie R. Riehl who had resigned after only three days on the job.

Riehl's resignation was noted with regret.

Approved by the Board was the establishment of an Agency newsletter to be sent to public officials, service and fraternal organizations, motels, news media and key citizens, to keep them advised of urban renewal activities and progress.

The Board reviewed the suggested Uptown Project changes, which were presented at the informal meeting Tuesday night, and moved to consult with those who may be effected by the possible plan changes before taking any formal action.

The Board authorized the chairman to arrange a meeting between William M. Young & Co., Inc., demolition contractor; the Agency's engineers, Brinnier & Larios; and Agency staff to work out an adequate schedule and format for the resumption of demolition in the Broadway East Project.

To Launch Sub

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (APP) — Dan S. Taylor Jr. of Memphis, who began building a submarine after his discharge from service in 1964, said he will test the 2,800 pound craft in mid—October.

Taylor, who spent 2,000 hours and $8,000 on the sub launching project, selected Lake Lanier in north Georgia for the launching "because it's clear."

City Demo Offices Will Open Saturday

The Democratic headquarters will have its grand opening this Saturday, Sept. 23, at 2 p. m.

The headquarters, which will serve as the heartbeat for city and county candidates, is located on the corner of Broadway and Cedar Streets.

Included in the festivities will be Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, along with his staff and varied candidates running for public office in Kingston and the county.

Refreshments will be served.

Downtown Fire In UR Sector Is Under Probe

A fire Wednesday night at 24 Catherine Street, a three-story brick building presently owned by Urban Renewal Agency, was termed incendiary today by Kingston's Fire Dept.

Firemen said the fire originated when an unknown person lit an old mattress, and threw it from a second floor door to rubble below.

The building was once the home of ERA Electric, firemen noted. It is currently deserted.

Morse Cancels Dutchess Talk

Senator Wayne Morse, (D-Oregon), scheduled to appear for a speech at Dutchess County Community College today, had to cancel his visit.

A spokesman for the college told The Freeman today that Senator Morse telegrammed that he had to be present at a number of important votes to be made at today's Senate session.

The Morse speech was to be on the Vietnam War.

Moral TV Standards May Alter Film Fare

BY BOB THOMAS
A P Movie-Television Writer

That is the question. Is it better to risk the slings and arrows of outraged moralists and make films that can never show on the home screen? Or to play it safe and produce movies that would face no unsurmountable problems with the vigilant network censors?

One company has met the issue by making a complete turnabout in programming. American-International soared to prosperity with cheaply made, innocuous movies that somehow appealed to the teen-age market: "I Was a Teen-Age Frankenstein," "Beach Blanket Bingo," "How to Stuff a Wild Bikini," "The Raven," etc.

The head of American-International once explained that Frankie Avalon und Annette Funicello never even talked about sex in the company's movies. "We've got a great family audience for our pictures," he said, "and we don't want to jeopardize that."

But a couple of years ago, the A-I researchers discovered that the youngsters were bored by the antiseptic romances of Frankie and Annette. The kids wanted to be turned on.

Since then, A-I has come on strong with films about drag racing and motorcycle gangs. The product has grown more sexy and violent until A-I achieved its first condemnation from the Catholic film reviewing agency. Roger Corman's "The Trip," which depicted the LSD experiences of Peter Fonda, was assailed as pornographic.

Unless moral standards alter radically in the next few years, "The Trip" will not be allowed on network television. But A-I is willing to gamble that the box-office take from such sensational films will offset the loss of sales to television.

Nearly all of the films are made on limited budgets. The economic factors are plain. The average movie can earn at least $800,000 from network runs after it has played in theaters. This makes any family type film an almost surefire investment, provided it doesn't go too far over budget.

But a movie that can never play television lacks that $800,000 cushion and hence must be made economically.

Thus all major film deals are made with an eye to the television market, and this alarms some film makers. Producer-director Robert Aldrich is planning to film "The Killing of Sister George," based on the stage play that was a hit in London and so-so in New York. It concerns a pair of lesbians.

"Because of the subject matter, most film companies wouldn't touch it," says Aldrich. "They aren't interested in something that obviously could never play television.

"That worries me. I'm afraid that films will become more bland and less venturesome, because the companies are interested only in entertainment suitable for family consumption."

Those who share Aldrich's alarm are not encouraged by the entrance into feature filming of the networks themselves. CBS is embarking on a large-scale program of theatrical films, later to be shown on television, and has signed Doris Day as its first star. ABC is starting its own productions with a movie to star Sidney Poitier.

NBC recently financed a Bob Hope movie and has presented several two-hour "world premiere" movies. The lack of daring and originality in the latter causes some critics to despair of the influence of television money on film making.

Body Identified

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Police have identified the body of a man found floating in a Lake Erie basin slip Wednesday as that of Dennis Leahy, 79, of Buffalo, authorities said.

Medical examiner Edmond Gicewicz reported the death was caused by drowning.

Police said they are continuing the investigation.

Leahy's address was 575 Delaware Ave.

GOP Panel Discussion at Hotel Tonight

A panel discussion including the top Republican candidates for county offices will kick off the 1967 campaign tonight at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Sponsored by the Ulster County Women's Republican Club, the important program will begin at 8 p. m., with Harry Thayer, president and manager of WGHQ, serving as moderator.

The six candidates scheduled to appear will be County Judge Raymond J. Mino, seeking re-election to the post; District Attorney Joseph Torraca, also looking for a second term, and incumbent Coroner Arthur C. Chipp. C. John Bechtold Republican-Liberal candidate for mayor of Kingston, also will have a spot on the panel, along with his Republican nominated running mate for alderman-at-large, Louis J. Smith.

The program is open to the public.

Sufficient Reason

OTEGO, N.Y. (AP) — Robert Lent remarked to a fellow dairyman several weeks ago that one of his best Ayrshire milk cows had "dried up" for no apparent reason.

Lent now knows the reason.

The cow gave birth this week to three calves who, along with their mother, are reported doing well.

Rebuilding Job for State Soccer Coach

With coach Al Miller gone from the scene and with All-American Gene Ventriglia and All-Conference Bill Doon and Solomon Iyasere having been graduated, Bob Durkin has a tough hurdle in his first season as head soccer coach at State University (New Paltz).

Miller guided the Hawks to their greatest heights before leaving during the summer to accept the coaching job at Hartwick College. Durkin, who served as the school's frosh coach for two years, has inherited a squad stripped of its three outstanding performers.

Ventriglia was one of the best soccer players in the country. His four-year records at New Paltz will probably go unchallenged. Doon and Iyasere were solid performers for the Hawks during their varsity careers.

Durkin, whose frosh club produced a nifty 5-2-1 mark last year, has Bob Spadoni, Angelo Targia, Paul Kahl, Dan Greaves, T. K. Kuhat, Tony DeLuca, Bill Roche and Bob Mountz as his returnees. The latter played two seasons ago but was ineligible last year.

Three Transfer Students

From his freshman squad, Durkin has promoted Abdi Yunis, a native of Somali, Africa and Clement Mbadinuja, a Nigerian star. Others from the frosh club seeking varsity berths are Bruce Garrett, Glenn Morehouse, Mal Hopper, Ken Neslund and Al Gardner. Neslund played football at Kingston High and Gardner is a Saugerties resident.

"I have big shoes to fill. Al Miller was a dedicated and successful coach and he did a lot for soccer at New Paltz," Durkin said.

He added the Hawks have had to learn his system of coaching in a short time since Miller left during the summer. He is looking towards a .500 season and will be thankful if the Hawks can better that mark.

"With Ventriglia gone, the boys can now look for each other instead of just looking for a great player like Gene. The scoring should be divided more this year," Durkin said.

Won Upstate Tourney

The coach was satisfied over the team's showing in the recent tournament at Oneonta. New Paltz finished first ahead of Ithaca, RPI and the host school. Though the Hawks didn't do much scoring, their defense was superb.

Candidates have been at the school's soccer camp near the Ashokan Reservoir for several weeks and Durkin said progress has been good and the boys have worked hard.

Lee Roberts, former Ellenville High and Sullivan Community College coach, will be assistant varsity coach and will handle the frosh club. John Demenkoff will again serve as trainer.

The Hawks make their debut under Durkin on Saturday, Sept. 30 at Buffalo, pre-season choice to win SUNYAC honors.

— Sports Briefs —

NEW YORK (AP) — Jockey Braulio Baeza rode the winner of the first race, Irish Chief, at Aqueduct Wednesday, then flew to Atlantic City where he brought in Assagai second to Flit-To in the $100,000 United Nations Handicap.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions reactivated end Gail Cogdill, leading pass receiver in Lions' history, and said Wednesday he would be available for Sunday's National Football League game with the Cleveland Browns.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Bobby Fisher, the American chess champion from New York, said today he will play in the interzonal tournament for the world championship which begins Oct. 16 in Tunis.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) —A. J. Foyt, top money-winner in auto racing this year, Wednesday entered the National 500-mile race at Charlotte Motor Speedway which will be held Oct. 15.

The Big Game

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Sports Editor

BALTIMORE vs. PHILADELPHIA

Key meeting of teams with spotless records on the second Sunday of the season. There's only one other the same day — New York-Dallas. And that doesn't cross conference lines like the Colts and Eagles.

Baltimore has Johnny Unitas in renaissance form throwing to the most varied pack of receivers in the game. If the old boy can stay healthy, it's no matter that Colts lack breakaway running threat to complement his passing. Unfortunately, there's also a symptom of vulnerability to passing by the Colt secondary.

Eagles are tougher to figure. They're up and down like a yo-yo. Norm Snead blows hot and cold as quarterback, depending on how quickly he can get the ball away. Eagles can throw running backs at the enemy in waves. Their defense is best described as scrambling.

Therefore, this should be a high-scoring, spotty contest in which the essential stability of the Colts should prevail. The pick:

Hayes-Carr Matchup Is Sunday Sidelight

The prospect of a foot race between Hayes, the "World's Fastest Human" in his days at Florida A&M and the Olympics, and Carr, the 1964 Olympic 200-meter champ, is an alluring sidelight to Sunday's game.

Farr, signed out of UCLA by the Lions, ran for 95 yards against the tough Green Bay defense. Griese, called upon unexpectedly when John Stofa was injured, led Miami to victory over Denver with 12 of 19 pass completions for 193 yards and two touchdowns, a fine debut for the Purdue flash.

Bubba Smith, the giant defensive lineman from Michigan State, missed Baltimore's opener because of an injury. Bubba was the No. 1 pick in the draft on the rights the Colts got from New Orleans for Gary Cuzzo.

Linda Every Top Woodstock Rider

Linda Every, seated amidst a field of 55 riders, scored 81 points riding My Lady Lou to win the Grand Championship in the final Junior Western division horse show sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club.

The Junior English prizes were won by Liz Edmunds riding Danzig. Her Grand Championship was captured with 33 points. Connie Darling on Kickapoo was Reserve Grand Champion.

Boxing Tickets Now on Sale

Tickets for Saturday night's amateur boxing show at the municipal auditorium will be on sale at the auditorium ticket booth Friday and Saturday, between 1 p. m. and 5 p. m.

The AAU-sanctioned card features 1967 Golden Gloves champions and other topflight amateurs. Eight or 10 bouts will be presented in addition to entertainment.

Optimism and Confidence Running High at Cornell

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — If optimism and confidence are keys to a successful football team, Cornell University's squad should have a good season in the Ivy League.

Head coach Jack Musick said Wednesday "our players are convinced that they can beat the traditionally strong teams of the Ivy League — Princeton, Dartmouth and Harvard."

Musick begins his second season at Cornell, however, without the services of several of last year's best players, including quarterback Bill Abel, tackle Harry Garman and Pete Larson, the fleet tailback. Graduaion also saw the departure of split end Ron Gervase, tackle Reeve Vanneman and guard George McWeeney.

The coach remains confident, however.

"We won't be as big in the line this year, but we'll certainly be more active."

Musick also said his team's offensive attack this year "would be more versatile" than the 1966 team, which won six games and lost three.

Junior Quarterback

Four players are expected to share the running duties at the halfback posts. They are Juniors Ed Zak, Jim Heeps and Khris Ritter and senior Bill Huling.

Bill Murphy, a senior who played safety on defense last year, has been switched to the vital split-end post vacated by Gervase.

On defense, the forward wall will be anchored by 245-pound John Sponheimer and team Captain Ron Kopicki. The linebackers, both lettermen, are Doug Kleiber and Rick Newton.

Improve Defense

Musick hopes he has improved the team's secondary defense, which was picked apart neatly last season by opposing quarterbacks. John Kincaid, a junior, has been tabbed for the safety man slot. Other secondary defenders will be Lloyd Ruth, a junior and Keith Cummins, who weighs 160 pounds and is the lightest man on the team. Cummins also is the only sophomore to win a starting position.

Cornell's offensive attack also should be aided by place-kicker Pete Zogby, who connected on five field goals and 14 extra points last year to rank second among Cornell scorers.

Musick said his team would have to be ready early this year, however, because "the heart of the schedule comes in the first five weeks."

The schedule:

Sept. 30, Bucknell; Oct. 7, at Colgate; Oct. 14, Princeton; Oct. 21, Harvard; Oct. 28, at Hale; Nov. 4, Columbia; Nov. 11, Brown; Nov. 18, at Dartmouth, and Nov. 25, at Pennsylvania.

Wallkill Kennel Show on Sunday

The Wallkill Kennel Club will stage its annual fall A.K.C.-sanctioned match show and obedience trial Sunday, Sept. 24, at Wilson Field in Middletown. Judging starts at 12:30 p. m. and admission is free.

Trophies will be offered for best of breed, both puppy and adult, in every breed having an entry of five or more. Breeder's trophies will be awarded for winners in all puppy groups.

Junior handling and obedience judging will begin at 12:30 p. m. Breed judging starts at 1 p. m. Entries will be taken starting at 11:30 a. m. and will remain open for each breed until the time of judging of that breed.

Lists Nassau Snipes

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — The world series of snipe racing has been set in Nassau from Nov. 5 through the 11. Sponsoring club will be the Royal Nassau Sailing Club. An estimated 25 nations will compete.

No Sonic Booms

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The City Council has passed an ordinance prohibiting sonic booms over Santa Barbara.

Specifically, the ordinance prohibits aircraft from flying over the city in such a way as to cause sonic booms.

In introducing the measure Wednesday, Councilman Klaus Kemp said noon-hour booms have rattled the city almost daily during recent weeks.

This means, he said, if the Air Force were found guilty of causing a sonic boom over Santa Barbara, it might have to pay a $500 fine or spend six months in

Press Investigation Of Esopus Burglaries

Investigation of two Port Ewen burglaries, during which two stolen trucks were used, today was pressed by the Ulster County sheriff's department and State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers.

The trucks were recovered by deputy sheriffs. One truck had a cargo of copper valued at $4,000, which also was recovered.

Sheriff William B. Martin and County Investigator Harold T. Bowers of the sheriff's office, and State Police BCI Investigator Fred Grunewald are directing the investigation with uniform personnel from both departments.

The recovery of two stolen pickup trucks by deputy sheriffs started the investigation of burglaries at the J. C. Metal Spinning & Stamping Co., and the Dana Manufacturing Co., Broadway, Port Ewen, yesterday morning.

According to Investigator Bowers the perpetrators of the burglaries are believed to have stolen a truck owned by Posner's Window Cleaning. The truck was found by Deputy Sheriff Robert Jordan stuck in mud at the rear of the building occupied by the metal company and Dana's.

Earlier yesterday, Deputy Michael Giordano found a truck owned by the J. C. Metal Company, abandoned on Route 209 between Hurley and Stone Ridge. The gasoline tank was empty. This truck, Bowers said, had a cargo of copper worth $4,000, which had been ready for delivery by the metal company.

Articles stolen from the metal company plant that are still sought by authorities are a .38 caliber revolver, a color console television, a white table radio, a Channel Master walkie talkie, a self-winding wrist watch and $370 in cash. Bowers said a soda vending machine in the plant was opened and $40 taken.

The county investigator also reported that office machines taken from the office of the Dana Company were still missing. The loot consisted of an IBM dictating machine, an Underwood electric calculator, an IBM Seletic typewriter, a Smith Corona typewriter, an Underwood adding machine and $123 in cash.

UR Agency Elects Yallum As Treasurer

The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency has a new treasurer — Elmore Yallum, the newest member of the agency.

Yallum, who was elected to the post last night, will replace Orrie R. Riehl who had resigned after only three days on the job.

Riehl's resignation was noted with regret.

Approved by the Board was the establishment of an Agency newsletter to be sent to public officials, service and fraternal organizations, motels, news media and key citizens, to keep them advised of urban renewal activities and progress.

The Board reviewed the suggested Uptown Project changes, which were presented at the informal meeting Tuesday night, and moved to consult with those who may be effected by the possible plan changes before taking any formal action.

The Board authorized the chairman to arrange a meeting between William M. Young & Co., Inc., demolition contractor; the Agency's engineers, Brinnier & Larios; and Agency staff to work out an adequate schedule and format for the resumption of demolition in the Broadway East Project.

To Launch Sub

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (APP) — Dan S. Taylor Jr. of Memphis, who began building a submarine after his discharge from service in 1964, said he will test the 2,800 pound craft in mid—October.

Taylor, who spent 2,000 hours and $8,000 on the sub launching project, selected Lake Lanier in north Georgia for the launching "because it's clear."

Downtown Fire In UR Sector Is Under Probe

A fire Wednesday night at 24 Catherine Street, a three-story brick building presently owned by Urban Renewal Agency, was termed incendiary today by Kingston's Fire Dept.

Firemen said the fire originated when an unknown person lit an old mattress, and threw it from a second floor door to rubble below.

The building was once the home of ERA Electric, firemen noted. It is currently deserted.

Morse Cancels Dutchess Talk

Senator Wayne Morse, (D-Oregon), scheduled to appear for a speech at Dutchess County Community College today, had to cancel his visit.

A spokesman for the college told The Freeman today that Senator Morse telegrammed that he had to be present at a number of important votes to be made at today's Senate session.

The Morse speech was to be on the Vietnam War.

Moral TV Standards May Alter Film Fare

By BOB THOMAS
A P Movie-Television Writer

That is the question. Is it better to risk the slings and arrows of outraged moralists and make films that can never show on the home screen? Or to play it safe and produce movies that would face no unsurmountable problems with the vigilant network censors?

One company has met the issue by making a complete turnabout in programming. American-International soared to prosperity with cheaply made, innocuous movies that somehow appealed to the teen-age market: "I Was a Teen-Age Frankenstein," "Beach Blanket Bingo," "How to Stuff a Wild Bikini," "The Raven," etc.

The head of American-International once explained that Frankie Avalon und Annette Funicello never even talked about sex in the company's movies. "We've got a great family audience for our pictures," he said, "and we don't want to jeopardize that."

But a couple of years ago, the A-I researchers discovered that the youngsters were bored by the antiseptic romances of Frankie and Annette. The kids wanted to be turned on.

Since then, A-I has come on strong with films about drag racing and motorcycle gangs. The product has grown more sexy and violent until A-I achieved its first condemnation from the Catholic film reviewing agency, Roger Corman's "The Trip," which depicted the LSD experiences of Peter Fonda, was assailed as pornographic.

Unless moral standards alter radically in the next few years, "The Trip" will not be allowed on network television. But A-I is willing to gamble that the box-office take from such sensational films will offset the loss of sales to television.

Nearly all of the films are made on limited budgets. The economic factors are plain. The average movie can earn at least $800,000 from network runs after it has played in theaters. This makes any family type film an almost surefire investment, provided it doesn't go too far over budget.

But a movie that can never play television lacks that $800,000 cushion and hence must be made economically.

Thus all major film deals are made with an eye to the television market, and this alarms some film makers. Producer-director Robert Aldrich is planning to film "The Killing of Sister George," based on the stage play that was a hit in London and so-so in New York. It concerns a pair of lesbians.

"Because of the subject matter, most film companies wouldn't touch it," says Aldrich. "They aren't interested in something that obviously could never play television.

"That worries me. I'm afraid that films will become more bland and less venturesome, because the companies are interested only in entertainment suitable for family consumption."

Those who share Aldrich's alarm are not encouraged by the entrance into feature filming of the networks themselves. CBS is embarking on a large-scale program of theatrical films, later to be shown on television, and has signed Doris Day as its first star. ABC is starting its own productions with a movie to star Sidney Poitier.

NBC recently financed a Bob Hope movie and has presented several two-hour "world premiere" movies. The lack of daring and originality in the latter causes some critics to despair of the influence of television money on film making.

Body Identified

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Police have identified the body of a man found floating in a Lake Erie basin slip Wednesday as that of Dennis Leahy, 79, of Buffalo, authorities said.

Medical examiner Edmond Gicewicz reported the death was caused by drowning.

Police said they are continuing the investigation.

Leahy's address was 575 Delaware Ave.

GOP Panel Discussion at Hotel Tonight

A panel discussion including the top Republican candidates for county offices will kick off the 1967 campaign tonight at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Sponsored by the Ulster County Women's Republican Club, the important program will begin at 8 p. m., with Harry Thayer, president and manager of WGHQ, serving as moderator.

The six candidates scheduled to appear will be County Judge Raymond J. Mino, seeking re-election to the post; District Attorney Joseph Torraca, also looking for a second term, and incumbent Coroner Arthur C. Chipp. C. John Bechtold, Republican-Liberal candidate for mayor of Kingston, also will have a spot on the panel, along with his Republican nominated running mate for alderman-at-large, Louis J. Smith.

The program is open to the public.

Sufficient Reason

OTEGO, N.Y. (AP) — Robert Lent remarked to a fellow dairyman several weeks ago that one of his best Ayrshire milk cows had "dried up" for no apparent reason.

Lent now knows the reason.

The cow gave birth this week to three calves who, along with their mother, are reported doing well.

There are more than 150 species of hibiscus growing in the world's temperate and tropical countries.

No Sonic Booms

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The City Council has passed an ordinance prohibiting sonic booms over Santa Barbara.

Specifically, the ordinance prohibits aircraft from flying over the city in such a way as to cause sonic booms.

In introducing the measure Wednesday, Councilman Klaus Kemp said noon-hour booms have rattled the city almost daily during recent weeks.

A spokesman for the city attorney said violation of any ordinance is a misdemeanor.

This means, he said, if the Air Force were found guilty of causing a sonic boom over Santa Barbara, it might have to pay a $500 fine or spend six months in

Business Opportunities

America's #1 Donut Shop Business Opportunity In Gloversville New York

Dunkin' Donuts is the leader in its field and is growing. The opportunities for you are growing too! Why? FIRST IN SALES . . . Dunkin' Donuts has the largest average sales volume per store than any coffee and donut shop chain in the world. FIRST IN NUMBER . . . The largest donut and coffee shop chain of its kind in the world. FIRST IN PROMOTION . . . The most advertised donut and coffee shop chain in the world. FIRST IN GROWTH . . . The fastest growing donut and coffee shop chain of its kind in the world. FIRST IN MULTI-UNIT OWNERS . . . More of our franchises owners own more than one Dunkin' Donuts shop than any other chain of its kind.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU?

Our No. 1 position means proven sales success. We can continue to expand our chain because our individual shops enjoy greater profits. Our national advertising programs have proven themselves since our average individual store sales are continually increasing year after year.

Our continuing expansion program opens up additional opportunities in this and other areas. If you're interested in going into business for yourself, and you want to do it with a proven leader, contact us—there's no obligation. Your initial cash investment is $18,000-20,000. This investment brings high yearly income. No experience is necessary since we'll train you in all facets of our operation.

Sorcery

The owners must be under a spell. To think of parting with this excellent colonial that is located just outside Kingston with its park like grounds and an entry foyer as big as most peoples living room, a spacious living room with fireplace, formal dining room with another fireplace, kitchen with breakfast nook, 2 large bedrooms and one huge master bedroom and 2 car garage for $25,000 is bewildering.

Dear Abby

He's Not Marrying Kind

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a guy who can't seem to make up his mind whether he wants to get married.

We have had FOUR blood tests (you can't get married in this state without one) and every time we go to get married he changes his mind and we put it off. I am 22 and he is 21, but I don't think he's ready to settle down yet.

We both work, so money isn't the problem.

We have gone together off and on since high school, so we know each other pretty well. He says he loves me and I know I love him. Have you any advice for me?

NEEDING ADVICE

DEAR NEEDING: Yes, Give your blood to the Red Cross and find another guy. He's not ready.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago I wrote you a letter, telling about my miserable homelife. I said my mother was a tramp and my father would get drunk and beat me for no reason at all. Then I told you that I turned to my boy friend for the love I needed and he got me pregnant, and I was considering suicide. I gave you my name and address begging you to hurry your answer.

Well, I just received the most wonderful letter from you, Abby. You gave me some good advice, with hope and encouragement for the future. And you sent me the name of a home for unwed mothers nearby where I could go for help. Then you closed with "Good luck, Dear, and God bless you."

Well, Abby, my letter was a bunch of made up lies. I have a good homelife and I don't even have a steady boy friend and I surely am not pregnant.

I feel so sorry for what I did. Please forgive me. I promise never to do a thing like that again. ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: I can usually spot a phony letter, but when a girl is "in trouble" I take no chances and answer accordingly. (Some of the wildest situations are "real."). You're forgiven, but if you have the urge to do any more "creative writing," pl[illegible]re me.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Everywhere you turn you hear about sex, which is the most overrated thing in the world, if you ask me.

I have been married for 24 years with practically no sex. He doesn't bother me and I don't bother him.

I was considered quite a doll in my day, and I haven't changed much. Blonde, 5 ft. 5, weight 115. Yes, we have children. Three of them. (And I had a job talking my husband into it). I have a full length mink coat, a leopard jacket and a mink stole. My husband is a professional man, well liked and handsome. Looks sexy, but looks can fool you.

I play a good game of bridge and consistently break 90 in golf. I keep busy, and enjoy life and if I'm neurotic, frustrated or heading for a nervous breakdown I haven't seen any signs of it yet. Nobody knows what I'm missing but me.

SATISFIED

Horoscope — By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars—

Forecast for Friday, September, 22, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Draw line when it comes to reckless spending. Means obtain what you need—not everything you might desire. Check with individual you respect. Genuine bargain is available. Look for it.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Personal charm is emphasized. You get almost anything you want—if you take initiative. Make contacts. Be independent in thought, action. Take first step—others will follow.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Being alone is not same as being lonely. Seclusion for a time today should bring relief from tension. Later you have fine time at theater, being with group, dining out.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Element of timing works in your favor. Applies especially where finances are concerned. Check details. You could make discovery which others overlook. Be alert, receptive.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Recognition for efforts due. Prestige rises. Exchange thoughts, ideas. Personal magnetism rating is high. Opposite sex is attracted. Your charm, showmanship come to fore. Your kind of day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Distant interests draw closer—you become aware. Utilize qualities of perception. Analyze—find reasons why. Don't be satisfied with superficial information. Obtain direct answers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Aid comes from unexpected source. Don't be afraid to spend on home decoration. Beautify surroundings. Get advice from one who is interesting, charming. Socialize.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Co-operate with associates, mate, partner. Mutual efforts could result in profit. Heed sound legal advice. Don't skip essentials. Get finger on pulse of public. Keep up with times.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be patient with those who appear slow, plodding. Know that you can build reservoir of good will. Take long-range view. Finish projects. Help others to aid themselves.

CAPRICORN (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Pursue recreational interests. Give special attention to loved one. Be ready for some rather abrupt changes. Children may be involved in complicated activity. Remain calm.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cement family ties. Stress today on home, property. Get house in order. Be specific. Set example. Be determined without being stubborn. Stand up for rights, but be considerate.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Talks, journeys, communications are in spotlight. You get chance to gain support from associates. Be versatile. Utilize alternative methods. Let others know you are bright.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are independent, unorthodox—were on your own in an emotional sense at early age. You are completing one phase of your life. Soon you begin a new, exciting era which brings greater recognition.

Opening lead—♥K

Today finds the Hideous Hog struggling with an impossible three no-trump contract after typical hoggish bidding. He has only eight tricks after West's opening heart lead. See if you can find the trick play that produced his ninth.

He ducked one heart, took the second heart and led the suit right back. West proceeded to cash all his hearts. A really smart West might not have cashed the last one but Hog's opponents aren't supposed to be smart.

The Hog discarded two diamonds from dummy and one from his hand. With four tricks in West shifted to a spade. The hog won in dummy and led a second spade to his queen. Then he cashed his ace of spades. West had to discard and the last thing he would do would be to throw a club, with that long club suit in dummy. He chucked his jack of diamonds.

The hog threw away dummy's last diamond and it was East's turn to discard. East also felt that he had to hang on to four clubs and let the ten of diamonds go, whereupon the whole diamond suit was good.

You have already noticed that with diamonds breaking evenly there was no defense against a diamond slam.

He replied, "Of course the diamond slam was on. I didn't know it when I jumped to three no-trump. Ordinary players would have bid two or maybe three diamonds with my hand but I am a hog and proud of it. Anyone could make six diamonds. Only I could make three no-trump!"

Why We Say--

SMALL BOY: Our most popular name for a boy is John... and this is also true in Scotland. The early horse riders there were little boys rather than men. Since the diminutive form of John was Jock, the popular call to riders was "Come on Jockey, boy" . . . Thus riders became known as jockeys as they are today.

BARBS

Once again, as we neared home on return from vacation, we had that old, familiar feeling . . . broke.

chagrin (sha-GRIN)
a feeling of humiliation or disappointment

Business Opportunities

America's
#1 Donut Shop
Business
Opportunity
In Gloversville
New York

Dunkin' Donuts is the leader in its field and is growing. The opportunities for you are growing too! Why? FIRST IN SALES . . . Dunkin' Donuts has the largest average sales volume per store than any coffee and donut shop chain in the world. FIRST IN NUMBER . . . The largest donut and coffee shop chain of its kind in the world. FIRST IN PROMOTION . . . The most advertised donut and coffee shop chain in the world. FIRST IN GROWTH . . . The fastest growing donut and coffee shop chain of its kind in the world. FIRST IN MULTI-UNIT OWNERS . . . More of our franchises owners own more than one Dunkin' Donuts shop than any other chain of its kind.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO YOU ?

Our No. 1 position means proven sales success. We can continue to expand our chain because our individual shops enjoy greater profits. Our national advertising programs have proven themselves since our average individual store sales are continually increasing year after year.

Our continuing expansion program opens up additional opportunities in this and other areas. If you're interested in going into business for yourself, and you want to do it with a proven leader, contact us—there's no obligation. Your initial cash investment is $18,000-20,000. This investment brings high yearly income. No experience is necessary since we'll train you in all facets of our operation.

Bob Hope Does It Again

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope, who seems to have discovered the fountain of enthusiasm along with the fountain of youth, returned to NBC Wednesday night to start his 30th year of broadcasting with one of those ragtag yet thoroughly enjoyable comedy shows in which he specializes.

This season he will be around about once a month since he has been freed of the task of playing host on his weekly anthology series.

Hamilton to Shirley

As could be anticipated, he went to work in his opening monologue on politics, scurrying around neatly from comment on George Hamilton's retirement from the White House scene to, of course, Shirley Temple's bid for public office—"with George Murphy as senator, Ronald Reagan as governor and Shirley Temple in Congress, do you realize that California is the only state whose politicans can make their own movies."

The comedy special, in a mild change of pace, was hung on a single theme—old time vaudeville. This gave Hope a chance to show some old film of the by-gone days, including some amusing shots of himself as a rising young comedian. More importantly, it gave him a chance to run through some old and pretty terrible comedy routines.

Phyllis Diller, in a costume and fright wig more bizarre than any she has worn to date, had an amusing routine about her shortcomings as a housewife; "I'm one of the few people who ever had a grease fire—in her sink."

Jack Jones sang in his pleasant voice and then he and Hope played the parts of Jimmy Durante's partners in a nostalgic sketch. Durante was very effective in his rendition of "The September song."

There is a new national Neilsen report—a survey of night audiences made on a quick weekly basis from viewing choices of a 580-home sample. It will supplement but not replace the important bi-weekly National Neilsen ratings report and is called "The Fasty" in the trade.

The report for the period between Sept. 4 and Sept. 10—when CBS and ABC were presenting most of their new shows for the season and NBC had only one night of premieres—showed that "The Miss America Pageant" was watched by viewers in more than 20 million homes, about 37 per cent of the national total. It topped the list in popularity.

"High Chaparral," also on NBC was a special two-hour how broadcast as a preseason special, and was second in popularity.

Not to Significant

Generally, the public was busily looking over the new CBS and ABC product since CBS's "He and She," NBC's "The Mothers- in-law" and ABC's "Second Hundred Years" and "The Flying Nun"—all, significantly, comedies, made the top 10 list.

The survey, however, is not considered too significant in terms of a show's success or failure since it was made at a time when viewers are on their annual dial-twisting binge.

Quick Quiz

A—On a mountainside near Emmitsburg, Md., a replica of the Grotto of Lourdes, said to be the first National Catholic Shrine in America.

* * *

A—New Jersey.

* * *

Q—To what continent is the camel native?

A—North America, not Asia as we might suppose. The camel family spread to South America and to Asia as well by an intercontinental land bridge that existed in prehistoric times.

* * *

Q—What is the Soviet Unhighest military decoration?

A—The Order of Victory, awarded to high officers of the army for successful campaigns. In 1945, the Russian government awarded this military decoration to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Dear Abby

He's Not Marrying Kind

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a guy who can't seem to make up his mind whether he wants to get married.

We have had FOUR blood tests (you can't get married in this state without one) and every time we go to get married he changes his mind and we put it off. I am 22 and he is 21, but I don't think he's ready to settle down yet.

We both work, so money isn't the problem.

We have gone together off and on since high school, so we know each other pretty well. He says he loves me and I know I love him. Have you any advice for me?

NEEDING ADVICE

DEAR NEEDING: Yes, Give your blood to the Red Cross and find another guy. He's not ready.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Not long ago I wrote you a letter, telling about my miserable homelife. I said my mother was a tramp and my father would get drunk and beat me for no reason at all. Then I told you that I turned to my boy friend for the love I needed and he got me pregnant, and I was considering suicide. I gave you my name and address begging you to hurry your answer.

Well, I just received the most wonderful letter from you, Abby. You gave me some good advice, with hope and encouragement for the future. And you sent me the name of a home for unwed mothers nearby where I could go for help. Then you closed with "Good luck, Dear, and God bless you."

Well, Abby, my letter was a bunch of made up lies. I have a good homelife and I don't even have a steady boy friend and I surely am not pregnant.

I feel so sorry for what I did. Please forgive me. I promise never to do a thing like that again. ASHAMED

DEAR ASHAMED: I can usually spot a phony letter, but when a girl is "in trouble" I take no chances and answer accordingly. (Some of the wildest situations are "real."). You're forgiven, but if you have the urge to do any more "creative writing," pl[illegible] me.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Everywhere you turn you hear about sex, which is the most overrated thing in the world, if you ask me.

I have been married for 24 years with practically no sex. He doesn't bother me and I don't bother him.

I was considered quite a doll in my day, and I haven't changed much. Blonde, 5 ft. 5, weight 115. Yes, we have children. Three of them. (And I had a job talking my husband into it). I have a full length mink coat, a leopard jacket and a mink stole. My husband is a professional man, well liked and handsome. Looks sexy, but looks can fool you.

I play a good game of bridge and consistently break 90 in golf. I keep busy, and enjoy life and if I'm neurotic, frustrated or heading for a nervous breakdown I haven't seen any signs of it yet. Nobody knows what I'm missing but me.

Horoscope — By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars—

Forecast for Friday, September, 22, 1967

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Draw line when it comes to reckless spending. Means obtain what you need—not everything you might desire. Check with individual you respect. Genuine bargain is available. Look for it.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Personal charm is emphasized. You get almost anything you want—if you take initiative. Make contacts. Be independent in thought, action. Take first step—others will follow.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Being alone is not same as being lonely. Seclusion for a time today should bring relief from tension. Later you have fine time at theater, being with group, dining out.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Element of timing works in your favor. Applies especially where finances are concerned. Check details. You could make discovery which others overlook. Be alert, receptive.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Recognition for efforts due. Prestige rises. Exchange thoughts, ideas. Personal magnetism rating is high. Opposite sex is attracted. Your charm, showmanship come to fore. Your kind of day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Distant interests draw closer—you become aware. Utilize qualities of perception. Analyze—find reasons why. Don't be satisfied with superficial information. Obtain direct answers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Aid comes from unexpected source. Don't be afraid to spend on home decoration. Beautify surroundings. Get advice from one who is interesting, charming. Socialize.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Co-operate with associates, mate, partner. Mutual efforts could result in profit. Heed sound legal advice. Don't skip essentials. Get finger on pulse of public. Keep up with times.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Be patient with those who appear slow, plodding. Know that you can build reservoir of good will. Take long-range view. Finish projects. Help others to aid themselves.

CAPRICORN (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Pursue recreational interests. Give special attention to loved one. Be ready for some rather abrupt changes. Children may be involved in complicated activity. Remain calm.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Cement family ties. Stress today on home, property. Get house in order. Be specific. Set example. Be determined without being stubborn. Stand up for rights, but be considerate.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Talks, journeys, communications are in spotlight. You get chance to gain support from associates. Be versatile. Utilize alternative methods. Let others know you are bright.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are independent, unorthodox—were on your own in an emotional sense at early age. You are completing one phase of your life. Soon you begin a new, exciting era which brings greater recognition.

Today finds the Hideous Hog struggling with an impossible three no-trump contract after typical hoggish bidding. He has only eight tricks after West's opening heart lead. See if you can find the trick play that produced his ninth.

He ducked one heart, took the second heart and led the suit right back. West proceeded to cash all his hearts. A really smart West might not have cashed the last one but Hog's opponents aren't supposed to be smart.

The Hog discarded two diamonds from dummy and one from his hand. With four tricks in West shifted to a spade. The hog won in dummy and led a second spade to his queen. Then he cashed his ace of spades. West had to discard and the last thing he would do would be to throw a club, with that long club suit in dummy. He chucked his jack of diamonds.

The hog threw away dummy's last diamond and it was East's turn to discard. East also felt that he had to hang on to four clubs and let the ten of diamonds go, whereupon the whole diamond suit was good.

You have already noticed that with diamonds breaking evenly there was no defense against a diamond slam.

The kibitzers asked the Hog about this.

He replied, "Of course the diamond slam was on. I didn't know it when I jumped to three no-trump. Ordinary players would have bid two or maybe three diamonds with my hand but I am a hog and proud of it. Anyone could make six diamonds. Only I could make three no-trump!"

Why We Say--

SMALL BOY: Our most popular name for a boy is John . . . and this is also true in Scotland. The early horse riders there were little boys rather than men. Since the diminutive form of John was Jock, the popular call to riders was "Come on Jockey, boy" . . . Thus riders became known as jockeys as they are today.

chagrin (sha-GRIN)
a feeling of humiliation or disappointment

GAMES AHEAD — The whole family heads for the YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County where a variety of activities are offered in the new expanded program. In addition to togetherness programs, separate classes and events for tiny tots to ma and pa are offered this year.

Family Fun at YMCA

This week the YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County opened its gates to an enlarged program of classes, activities and new equipment. The main theme this season will be service to the family as a group and individually.

In order to provide activities the family can enjoy together, the "Y" has set aside the three nights of Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. On these evenings there will be family swims, lobby games such as pool, ping pong, chess, open gym periods and many other features. Periodically, group trips to places of interest will be undertaken. In addition banquets, parties, movies, and demonstrations are also on the future agenda. Parents will be interested in the new family rate for the payment of membership that is now in effect.

The head man of the home will find a schedule for himself that encourages participation every day and evening. Noon hours Monday through Friday, he can exercise on the new rowing machine, bicycle, trampoline, and gymnastic equipment in the upper gym. In the lower area he can play basketball, volleyball, run in the distance-run, and punch the heavy training bag. The next order of the day is a refreshing dip in the swimming pool. Following this, to soothe the muscles, he enjoys a leisurly steam bath. The nightly program is the same except he might want to lift in the weightlifting room, play paddleball, or attend one of the YMCA special classes.

Mothers will find that they have a comparable schedule. The womens' health club meets on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and Tuesday and Friday evenings. During these time periods, they will be directed in exercises by the new club director, Mrs. Susan Beatty. Gymnastics, apparatus, badminton and tennis instruction will be some of the other curviculum. After leaving the woman's gym, they'll go to the newly constructed health club. There they can get a professional message, pedal the new bicycle or use the vibrator machine. Before going into the pool, the ladies usually head for the sauna or the steam baths. For those females who want to exercise alone and swim daily, there is a new senior women's membership that they'll find to their liking. Their program will be all activities except those of the Women's Health Club.

The grade one to ninth girls and boys, aside from the family nights, have two days of gym, recreation swims, clubs and lobby games. Their swim lessons are part of the National YMCA Aquatic program and are taught by qualified instructors. There also will be special holiday events, sports leagues, and tournaments.

The teenagers have evenings of coed swimming, swim lessons, and dancing. To add to this, there will be Hi-Y club, lobby games, and the special instructional classes.

Joining with the classes in lifesaving and scuba skin diving there will be many innovations. With the purchase of a new 26 foot mat, Judo, women's self defense, and wrestling will debut this fall. A competitive swim team is forming now for girls and boys of ages 8 to 17. This squad will swim against AAU and YMCA teams. Women and men may join the healthful distance running and swimming. In this activity participants either run in the gym or swim laps and their progress is recorded in miles to gauge the distance covered. For children who are pre-school a tiny-tot swim lessons will be run afternoons. In this, a parent brings the child and guides the tot as the teacher instructs.

Adult lessons in swimming and diving can be received on a coed basis two mornings and one evening a week. This year the traditional YMCA basketball leagues will be run again. Over 40 teams will compete at all age levels. New teams may join by contacting physical director, Thomas Breese.

As part of its public service the pool is open for outside group use. Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings the Ulster County Community College utilizes it for their recreation courses. The high school swim team are practicing afternoons to compete in their aquatic league. The Children's Home, Girl and Boy Scouts, and many other organizations are welcomed.

Valley Day Sunday at Home

Vols List Fire Prevention Week

Hudson Valley Day will be observed at the Firemen's Home, Hudson, on Sunday at which time local firemen as well as the public will have an opportunity to inspect the new $1½ million buildings recently completed. Al Belle Isle, director of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, reporting at the September meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Tuesday night at Highland, said the public is invited to visit the Home Sunday.

Meeting Tuesday night at Highland firehouse, members of the Ulster County Association were welcomed by Dominick Costantino, president of Highland Hose Co. The Rev. Albert C. Mays, chaplain of the fire company, opened the meeting wth prayer. There were 31 fire companies represented. The October meeting will be held at West Hurley Oct. 17.

Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder reported 760 calls received at Fire Control Headquarters during August. There were 55 fire calls, 7 Mutual Aid calls, 33 Emergency calls, 2 false alarms, and three Inter-county calls.

Kenneth Dimser, president of the Fire Police Association, reported approval for holding a six-day fire school at West Hurley had been granted by the West Hurley Fire Commissioners. The fire school will be conducted at the West Hurley firehouse on the last three Thursdays of October and the first three Thursdays of November. The session will be from 8 to 10 p.m.

Guests present were Financial Secretary of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association Joseph Briody, Walter Laser and George Lare, members of the Inter-county Relations Committee from Orange County and Belle Isle, director of the H.V.V.F.A.

Fire Prevention Week will be held during Oct. 8 to 14, and plans are now under way to observe the week.

Centerville Fire Company will hold open house Saturday, Sept. 23, beginning at 2 p.m. at which time two new American La France pieces of fire equipment will be on display.

The Association voted to send each Ulster County resident of the Firemen's Home at Hudson a Christmas gift as well as a remembrance on their birthday.

Sixtus M. Leidel of Binnewater was voted into membership.

Schenectady Fire Claims Life of Man

A nephew had alerted him to the danger, firemen said, but Denning was unable to reach safety.

The apartment's address was 7 Moyston St.

Bob Hope Does It Again

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope, who seems to have discovered the fountain of enthusiasm along with the fountain of youth, returned to NBC Wednesday night to start his 30th year of broadcasting with one of those ragtag yet thoroughly enjoyable comedy shows in which he specializes.

This season he will be around about once a month since he has been freed of the task of playing host on his weekly anthology series.

Hamilton to Shirley

As could be anticipated, he went to work in his opening monologue on politics, scurrying around neatly from comment on George Hamilton's retirement from the White House scene to, of course, Shirley Temple's bid for public office—"with George Murphy as senator, Ronald Reagan as governor and Shirley Temple in Congress, do you realize that California is the only state whose politicans can make their own movies."

The comedy special, in a mild change of pace, was hung on a single theme—old time vaudeville. This gave Hope a chance to show some old film of the by-gone days, including some amusing shots of himself as a rising young comedian. More importantly, it gave him a chance to run through some old and pretty terrible comedy routines.

Phyllis Diller, in a costume and fright wig more bizarre than any she has worn to date, had an amusing routine about her shortcomings as a housewife; "I'm one of the few people who ever had a grease fire—in her sink."

Jack Jones sang in his pleasant voice and then he and Hope played the parts of Jimmy Durante's partners in a nostalgic sketch. Durante was very effective in his rendition of "The September song."

There is a new national Neilsen report—a survey of night audiences made on a quick weekly basis from viewing choices of a 580-home sample. It will supplement but not replace the important bi-weekly National Neilsen ratings report and is called "The Fasty" in the trade.

The report for the period between Sept. 4 and Sept. 10—when CBS and ABC were presenting most of their new shows for the season and NBC had only one night of premieres—showed that "The Miss America Pageant" was watched by viewers in more than 20 million homes, about 37 per cent of the national total. It topped the list in popularity.

"High Chaparral," also on NBC was a special two-hour how broadcast as a preseason special, and was second in popularity.

Not to Significant

Generally, the public was busily looking over the new CBS and ABC product since CBS's "He and She," NBC's "The Mothers- in-law" and ABC's "Second Hundred Years" and "The Flying Nun"—all, significantly, comedies, made the top 10 list.

The survey, however, is not considered too significant in terms of a show's success or failure since it was made at a time when viewers are on their annual dial-twisting binge.

GAMES AHEAD — The whole family heads for the YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County where a variety of activities are offered in the new expanded program. In addition to togetherness programs, separate classes and events for tiny tots to ma and pa are offered this year.

Family Fun at YMCA

This week the YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County opened its gates to an enlarged program of classes, activities and new equipment. The main theme this season will be service to the family as a group and individually.

In order to provide activities the family can enjoy together, the "Y" has set aside the three nights of Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. On these evenings there will be family swims, lobby games such as pool, ping pong, chess, open gym periods and many other features. Periodically, group trips to places of interest will be undertaken. In addition banquets, parties, movies, and demonstrations are also on the future agenda. Parents will be interested in the new family rate for the payment of membership that is now in effect.

The head man of the home will find a schedule for himself that encourages participation every day and evening. Noon hours Monday through Friday, he can exercise on the new rowing machine, bicycle, trampoline, and gymnastic equipment in the upper gym. In the lower area he can play basketball, volleyball, run in the distance-run, and punch the heavy training bag. The next order of the day is a refreshing dip in the swimming pool. Following this, to soothe the muscles, he enjoys a leisurly steam bath. The nightly program is the same except he might want to lift in the weightlifting room, play paddleball, or attend one of the YMCA special classes.

Mothers will find that they have a comparable schedule. The womens' health club meets on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and Tuesday and Friday evenings. During these time periods, they will be directed in exercises by the new club director, Mrs. Susan Beatty. Gymnastics, apparatus, badminton and tennis instruction will be some of the other curviculum. After leaving the woman's gym, they'll go to the newly constructed health club. There they can get a professional message, pedal the new bicycle or use the vibrator machine. Before going into the pool, the ladies usually head for the sauna or the steam baths. For those females who want to exercise alone and swim daily, there is a new senior women's membership that they'll find to their liking. Their program will be all activities except those of the Women's Health Club.

The grade one to ninth girls and boys, aside from the family nights, have two days of gym, recreation swims, clubs and lobby games. Their swim lessons are part of the National YMCA Aquatic program and are taught by qualified instructors. There also will be special holiday events, sports leagues, and tournaments.

The teenagers have evenings of coed swimming, swim lessons, and dancing. To add to this, there will be Hi-Y club, lobby games, and the special instructional classes.

Joining with the classes in lifesaving and scuba skin diving there will be many innovations. With the purchase of a new 26 foot mat, Judo, women's self defense, and wrestling will debut this fall. A competitive swim team is forming now for girls and boys of ages 8 to 17. This squad will swim against AAU and YMCA teams. Women and men may join the healthful distance running and swimming. In this activity participants either run in the gym or swim laps and their progress is recorded in miles to gauge the distance covered. For children who are pre-school a tiny-tot swim lessons will be run afternoons. In this, a parent brings the child and guides the tot as the teacher instructs.

Adult lessons in swimming and diving can be received on a coed basis two mornings and one evening a week. This year the traditional YMCA basketball leagues will be run again. Over 40 teams will compete at all age levels. New teams may join by contacting physical director, Thomas Breese.

As part of its public service the pool is open for outside group use. Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings the Ulster County Community College utilizes it for their recreation courses. The high school swim team are practicing afternoons to compete in their aquatic league. The Children's Home, Girl and Boy Scouts, and many other organizations are welcomed.

Vols List Fire Prevention Week

Hudson Valley Day will be observed at the Firemen's Home, Hudson, on Sunday at which time local firemen as well as the public will have an opportunity to inspect the new $1½ million buildings recently completed. Al Belle Isle, director of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, reporting at the September meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association Tuesday night at Highland, said the public is invited to visit the Home Sunday.

Meeting Tuesday night at Highland firehouse, members of the Ulster County Association were welcomed by Dominick Costantino, president of Highland Hose Co. The Rev. Albert C. Mays, chaplain of the fire company, opened the meeting wth prayer. There were 31 fire companies represented. The October meeting will be held at West Hurley Oct. 17.

Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder reported 760 calls received at Fire Control Headquarters during August. There were 55 fire calls, 7 Mutual Aid calls, 33 Emergency calls, 2 false alarms, and three Inter-county calls.

Kenneth Dimser, president of the Fire Police Association, reported approval for holding a six-day fire school at West Hurley had been granted by the West Hurley Fire Commissioners. The fire school will be conducted at the West Hurley firehouse on the last three Thursdays of October and the first three Thursdays of November. The session will be from 8 to 10 p.m.

Guests present were Financial Secretary of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association Joseph Briody, Walter Laser and George Lare, members of the Inter-county Relations Committee from Orange County and Belle Isle, director of the H.V.V.F.A.

Fire Prevention Week will be held during Oct. 8 to 14, and plans are now under way to observe the week.

Centerville Fire Company will hold open house Saturday, Sept. 23, beginning at 2 p.m. at which time two new American La France pieces of fire equipment will be on display.

The Association voted to send each Ulster County resident of the Firemen's Home at Hudson a Christmas gift as well as a remembrance on their birthday.

Sixtus M. Leidel of Binnewater was voted into membership.

Schenectady Fire Claims Life of Man

A nephew had alerted him to the danger, firemen said, but Denning was unable to reach safety.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

The flames were confined to the apartment.

The apartment's address was 7 Moyston St.
